WOMEN PLEAD CHURCH'S CAUSE TO CALLES' WIFE

Beg Her to Soften Mexico's Chief.

Mexico City, July 28.—(AP)—Catholic women of Mexico have addressed a letter to Señora Natalia Chacon Calles, wife of the president of the republic, who herself is a loyal Catholic, appointing her to defend their cause before her husband in an endeavor to have the government's religious policy ameliorated.

"Your husband will do whatever you desire because man is noble and easy to lead," says the letter, which adds:

"We appoint you defender of our cause and appeal to you to intervene before the president, your husband, to have the religious policy modified. We have analyzed the consequences of religious intolerance and we are worried. We find that the first wars in history were fought in the name of religion. So we have decided to raise our voices and appeal to you.

"We demand equity, tolerance, and justice. We desire peace, union, and welfare. You are a woman, a wife, and mother, and we hope that you will hear our appeal."

RADICALS SUPPORT CALLES

Mexico City, July 28. — The Labor and Socialist parties, which control a majority in the Mexican congress, today voted to stand by the religious laws and the decrees of President Calles relating to their enforcement.

Their action follows the announcement by the Mexican Federation of Labor that it will stage a huge parade on Sunday as a protest against the refusal of the Catholics to abide by the religious laws and as a demonstration of labor's solidarity behind the policy of President Calles.

Meanwhile, both the government and the Catholics are marshaling their forces for the still bigger battle which looms on Sunday, when the Catholic clergy will be withdrawn from the churches as a protest against the government's order restraining the Catholics, which becomes effective Aug. 1.

May Oust Dissenters.

The attorney general has sent a circular to his agents throughout the country asking them for statements as to whether they support the government wholeheartedly in its determination to enforce the religious laws. It is reported that all those who do not sympathize with the government will be removed from office at once.

The secretary of interior announced today that President Calles considers taking action against the Catholic clergy on the ground that it is inciting the people to rebellion. It is contended that the withdrawal of the priests from the churches tends to cause discontent and so fosters revolt.

Will Keep Churches.

While the letter issued by the Mexican episcopate on Sunday entrusted the churches to committees of Catholic laymen as soon as the priests abandoned them, the secretary of interior today notified mayors throughout the country to appoint citizens' committees, without regard to their creeds, to take over the churches abandoned by the priests and use them for public worship. The secretary said that, once the government took over the churches they would not be turned back to the clergy. The church properties thus liable to seizure are said to be worth $300,000,000.

It is reported the Mexican National church, a schismatic sect, is being revived and will make a strong bid for some of the buildings.

Catholics to Keep Fighting.

Rene Capistran Garza, president of the Catholic Young Men's association, until arrested a week ago on a charge of sedition and first vice president of the League for Religious Defense, said today that the Catholics would continue their fight for reform of the religious laws. The league has appointed a new board of directors but kept their names secret to prevent their arrest, as in the case of the previous boards.

No confirmation has been received here of the report of the killing of the mayor of Nochistan, Zacateras, after he had fired on a priest.

Large crowds continued to pack the churches of Mexico City and the suburbs to overflowing today as worshipers from all parts of the land flocked to the sacred shrines to worship in them before religious services are stopped. The shrine of Guadalupe, in a suburb, which is the favorite of the Mexican Indians, drew especially large throngs.

Priests and bishops continued baptisms, confirmations, and marriage ceremonies on a large scale.

Bares 54 Year Mystery of Crewless Ship

LONDON, July 28.— [U. N.]—Solution of a great ocean mystery is offered at last in a simple explanation, declared to be the true story of the Atlantic sailing ship Marie Celeste.

Fifty-four years ago a passing ship signaled the Marie Celeste, which was flying full sails. There was no response. On investigation it was found there was no living thing aboard the vessel but a cat, sleeping peacefully. The ship's log had not been written in for thirteen days. But it was evident that the vessel had not been deserted that long, for the crew of the investigating ship found food still warm in the galley, and a fire in the stove was just dying.

Story of the Mystery.

An article in Chamber's Journal declares that this is what happened:

The Marie Celeste sailed from New York for Genoa. She had been unable to handle all her cargo, and a second ship, the Dei Gratia, was chartered to help her. The captain of the Marie Celeste also borrowed two seamen and a cook from the crew of the Dei Gratia.

The captain's wife was killed by a piano that broke from its lashings in a gale as the Marie Celeste neared the Azores, where she was to meet the Dei Gratia. The skipper, maddened with distress, blamed a mate and ordered a seaman thrown overboard because while at the wheel he had permitted the ship to roll.

Throws One Overboard.

The crew refused to obey. During the night the captain disappeared and the mate was accused of his murder. The mate put up a fight and threw one of his accusers overboard. As the ship touched the Azores the crew deserted with the exception of the men borrowed from the Dei Gratia and the second mate. They put off again to intercept the Dei Gratia.

It is declared that the Dei Gratia took off the seamen so they could claim the Marie Celeste to be a derelict ship and get a large reward for taking her into port.

Lee Kaye, author of the story, declares he obtained the details from John Pemberton, 77, the cook lent to the Marie Celeste, who he says is still alive.

Three Young People Drown in Bathing in Ohio River

LITTLE GIRL LOST, HER LOYAL DOG FIGHTS RESCUERS

When two year old Jane Kringer wandered from her home at 6238 Indiana avenue to Michigan avenue and 63d street yesterday a kindly driver hopped off his sprinkling wagon to see if she were lost.

And at once the little girl's nondescript dog, Fritzie, leaped upon the driver, intent on tearing off his arm.

Others gathered, and soon there was a crowd trying to find out who little Jane was and how to get her home, but Fritzie, small but furious, would let no one get near.

Police were called, and it took Sergts. Maloney and Curtin half an hour and cost them some bites to get Jane and her dog into the wagon.

At the Woodlawn station Jane and Fritzie took possession of the captain's office and Fritzie would allow no one else inside. Finally Jane's mother arrived and took possession of all three—Jane and Fritzie and the captain's office, too.

Bomb Found on Pennsy Track; Police Investigate

Deering street police last night were investigating the source of a black powder bomb found on a track of the Pennsylvania railroad over which many fast passenger trains leave and enter the city. The bomb was found by C. G. Sigafoose, a conductor, while he was coupling cars. Its fuse had been lighted and had burned almost to the powder but had been extinguished before he found it.

Charities to Get Last of Ward Estate

More than forty charitable organizations are given bequests in the will of the late Mrs. A. Montgomery Ward, widow of the founder of the mail order firm bearing that name, which will be filed in the Probate court this morning by Attorney Clinton Merrick.

To continue her philanthropy after death, Mrs. Ward directed that most of what is left of the fortune, valued at $15,000,000, left her by her husband, shall be distributed among charities in the middle west, in California, and in other parts of the United States. The bequests average $20,000. Some are as high as $50,000.

N. U. Gets Only Small Sum.

Northwestern university, which has received $8,000,000 in the last two years from Mrs. Ward for the construction of a medical and dental school to be known as a memorial to her husband, is given only a comparatively small additional bequest, it was revealed. Only two months ago Mrs. Ward directed that $4,000,000 in securities be handed over to the university to assist in the construction of the Ward building on McKlintock campus. That was the second half of the eight millions.

Mrs. Ward's gifts to charity before her death had reduced her estate to about $1,000,000, according to Attorney Merrick. An inventory may disclose that the estate was slightly larger, he said. Details of the will were made public last night by Charles H. Thorne, nephew of Mrs. Ward.

Relatives Given Bequests.

A score or so of distant relatives will receive bequests ranging from $2,000 to $10,000. Mr. Thorne is remembered with a small amount and Mrs. Ward's only daughter, Marjorie, is also given a comparatively small sum. The daughter received approximately $1,500,000 of her father's estate.

Clerks yesterday were busy ascertaining the addresses of the many charities given bequests and locating the relatives mentioned in the will.

Mrs. Ward died Monday of heart disease at the age of 70 years. Funeral services were held yesterday at the home, 2344 Lincoln Park West. The body was placed in the family mausoleum at Rosehill cemetery.

Red Grange Fails to Face Speed Charge; $25 Forfeit

Police Magistrate Michael Gapa of Justice Park yesterday forfeited the $25 bond put up last Sunday by Harold "Red" Grange when the football star was caught speeding 45 miles an hour through the suburb. The bond was forfeited when Grange failed to appear in answer to the charge.

Widow Seized in Hall-Mills Murder Mystery

CHARGED WITH KILLING PASTOR, CHOIR SINGER

Case Is Revived by Divorce Suit.

New Brunswick, N. J., July 29, 2 a. m.—[Special.]—Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, widow of the Rev. Edward W. Hall, pastor of the Protestant Episcopal church of St. John the Evangelist, who was shot and killed with Mrs. Eleanor Mills on Sept. 14, 1922, was arrested last night in her home in New Brunswick, charged with the murder. She was seized by Capt. John J. Lamb of the New Jersey state police and locked up in the Somerset county jail in Somerville.

The warrant had been sworn to by Prosecutor Francis Bergen of Somerset county, on the border line of which the bodies of the clergyman and the choir singer, the wife of the sexton of his church, were found under a crabapple tree, two days after they disappeared.

Arrest Follows Divorce Suit.

The arrest was the result of charges made by Arthur S. Reihl, in a petition for annulment of his marriage to Louise Geist. The girl at the time of the murder was employed as a maid in the Hall household. Reihl charged that his wife had told him she had received $5,000 as the price of her silence on what she knew of the double killing.

The petition alleged that Mrs. Reihl had admitted to her husband that she had been intimate with Dr. Hall and that she knew of intimacies between Dr. Hall and Mrs. Mills.

Reihl further charged his wife had told him that she, Mrs. Hall, and the chauffeur had followed Dr. Hall and Mrs. Mills to the spot where the bodies of the two later were found. Mrs. Reihl denied that any of her husband's statements were true.

Governor Orders Inquiry.

Reihl's charges were taken up by the state and county authorities and Gov. A. Harry Moore ordered State's Attorney General Katzenback and County Prosecutor John Toolan of Middlesex county to investigate the new evidence and report to him the result of their inquiry.

Mrs. Hall, following her arrest, was hurried in an automobile to the office of Prosecutor Bergen in Somerville, where she was questioned for some time, but invariably answered with the statement, "I shall make no statements until I have learned what this murder charge is based on."

She was removed to the jail and the prosecutor announced that no details would be revealed on the developments of the recent investigation which led up to the formal murder charges until later in the day.

Widow Calm Before Police.

When the detectives went to the Hall residence with the warrant the first one whom they saw was "Willie" Stevens, brother of the widow. Willie's name had appeared in connection with many of the previous stories in regard to the tragedy.

"Hello, Willie," was Capt. Lamb's greeting to Stevens. "I came here to see Mrs. Hall right away. I have important business of an official character to transact with her."

Stevens called to Mrs. Hall and a few minutes later the widow came calmly down the stairs.

"Good evening, gentlemen," was her greeting to the officers. "Your visit is a rather late one. I suppose you want to question me again."

Summons Her Attorney.

"I have a warrant calling for your arrest," Capt. Lamb explained. "I have been instructed to take you to Somerville at once."

"May I be permitted to read this warrant?" asked Mrs. Hall. She glanced over the warrant carefully, handed it back, and asked: "May I telephone to my attorney?"

Permission was granted and Mrs. Hall called up her lawyer, Russell E. Watson, in his home in New Brunswick. Mr. Watson appeared at the Hall home ten minutes later.

The warrant was shown to the lawyer, who advised his client that she should accompany Capt. Lamb. In a few minutes Mrs. Hall returned from her room fully dressed and was taken to the county prosecutor's office.

Story of the Mystery.

For nearly four years the mystery of the Hall-Mills case has baffled scores of police and private detectives, but it

Judge Urges Civic Body to Manage Jail

Recommendations that the Cook County jail be administered under the guidance of an advisory committee are expected to be made today by Judge John P. McGoorty. His wishes on the subject may be in the form of a court order, he said yesterday.

This decision was reached at a luncheon conference in the City club attended by Judge McGoorty, John L. Whitman, formerly warden of both the county jail and the Joliet penitentiary, Deputy Superintendent of Police Matthew Zimmer, Joel D. Hunter, head of the United Charities; Dr. Graham Taylor, Charles R. Napier, of the Crime commission, and Mrs. Catherine R. Wright of the Juvenile Protective association.

Question Jailer Today.

Judge McGoorty said he expected to conclude today the hearing of evidence regarding jail drunkenness and other irregularities. He said Warden George Weideling and Sheriff Peter M. Hoffman would be witnesses today and that after they are heard he will make his recommendation to Sheriff Hoffman.

The names of about fifteen prominent citizens are to be given to the sheriff and from them he is to be asked to select five or seven for a committee. This committee, if the judge's expectations are fulfilled, will conduct an examination of the guards now employed at the county jail and of those to be employed in the future.

Judge McGoorty said it was the consensus of the conferees that the pay of the jail guards be raised to $175 per month. Thus it is expected a better type of employé may be obtained.

Something Must Be Done.

It was said that at the conference there was no mention made of any possible successor to Warden Weideling. Judge McGoorty said neither Whitman nor Zimmer had been asked if they would accept the post now held by Weideling.

There was some noticeable reluctance on Judge McGoorty's part in discussing Weideling. He said that undoubtedly the sheriff has the right and the power to appoint the warden inasmuch as the sheriff is responsible for the jail and the conduct of its employés and is likewise under heavy bond.

But, the judge said, something must be done and he feels he is in a measure called upon for some action inasmuch as Frank McErlane, a prisoner who has been getting booze regularly while in jail, is more directly under the jurisdiction of the court than a prisoner awaiting trial, because McErlane's case is one of habeas corpus and extradition. The matter is pending before Judge McGoorty.

Sentenced in Plus Fours.

Therefore, it was hinted, should there be any intention of disregarding the court's recommendations, contempt proceedings might arise.

Judge William N. Gemmill was greatly surprised yesterday when a prisoner was brought to his court from the county jail, neatly clad in golf costume. The prisoner was Harry Horowitz, to be tried as a robber. When the judge was convinced Horowitz had not been playing golf in jail the trial proceeded and Horowitz was convicted and sentenced to from ten years to life.

Judge Gemmill then allowed him a new trial on his agreement to plead guilty. He did so and was sentenced to from three to twenty years.

CROWE-BARRETT CONTRIBUTIONS PUT AT $175,000

Wright Refuses to Answer Senator.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

It is now reasonably certain that the primary expenditures, which will be admitted to the senate slush fund investigators, will total well over $1,000,000. The session yesterday, which developed more pep and snap than any before held in Chicago, brought the total above $935,000, when Charles V. Barrett placed the Crowe-Barrett faction's collections "about $175,000." But of this, $25,000 came from William Hale Thompson, former mayor, who obtained it from Allen F. Moore, so that it rightfully should be credited to the Frank L. Smith war chest.

The totals admitted to date may be summarized as follows:

Spent for—	Amount.
Frank L. Smith	$287,282.70
William B. McKinley	346,616.73
Deneen county ticket	130,894.63
Crowe-Barrett county ticket	150,000.00
George E. Brennan and Democrats	20,841.42
Totals admitted	$935,635.47

Each one of these groups, except Senator McKinley who insisted upon paying all of his expenses personally, "touched" Samuel Insull, head of the gas company, Commonwealth Edison company, elevated lines, North Shore and South Shore lines, Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, Middle West Utilities company, Central Illinois Public Service company and several others.

Biggest Insull Gift to Smith.

Mr. Insull made his largest contribution to Frank L. Smith, successful Republican candidate for United States senatorship nomination, who is chairman of the Illinois commerce commission having jurisdiction over the rates, service, extensions and capitalization of all the public utilities of the state. The distribution of Mr. Insull's favors were as follows:

Paid campain of:	Amount.
Frank L. Smith in currency	$125,000.00
Against world court—aiding Candidate Smith	33,735.19
Deneen county ticket	10,000.00
Crowe-Barrett ticket	10,000.00
Brennan Democratic ticket	15,000.00
Total Insull gifts to date	$193,735.19

"This utility giver," commented Senator Reed, chairman of the senate investigators, "played to land on both feet."

That is in the record. Outside of it, the senator said that the Small-Lundin crowd will be called upon soon for an accounting of the amount of cash they collected, how and to whom it was paid, for what purposes, and the amounts and location of the cash remaining on hand. There is no evidence on whether this faction received any gifts from Mr. Insull.

$1,000,000 Squeeze Charged.

It has been frequently charged that the Small-Lundin group squeezed state employés and contractors for an amount estimated between $1,000,000 and $1,500,000 for the announced purpose of aiding the Gov. Small combat the payment of about $1,000,000 in interest on public funds. This the Supreme court has declared, he owes the state.

Henry I. Green, private attorney for Senator McKinley, who was thanked more vigorously for his frankness than any witness who has yet appeared, told the interrogators that he gave $15,000 to Percy B. Coffin, state administrator and prominent cog in the Small-Lundin outfit. Mr. Green gave the impression that the Crowe-Barrett crowd double crossed the senator, that this faction was friendly to the senator until a short time before the election, then switched away from him.

Wright Balks at Questions.

The day's session was enlivened by Edward H. Wright, colored member of the state commerce commission, who twice flatly refused to give Senator Reed the information he desired on expenditures of the Crowe-Barrett organization in the second ward.

Charles V. Barrett portrayed his contingent as a group which for principle, and principle alone, made a campaign against the world court and did not know that the senator was for it until his vote was recorded. Senator Reed thought that the Crowe-Barrett campaign document against the world court was "sound doctrine."

Mr. Barrett insisted that he voted from principle for Frank L. Smith and that State's Attorney Crowe rode in the same boat. Of his faction he thought that Michael Feinberg voted for Smith, also Edward H. Wright and William Hale Thompson and he thought that Charles Ringer, Charles Kurtchoff, Robert R. Levy and William

COLORED LEADER BALKS AT REVEALING EXPENDITURES IN SECOND WARD

V. Brothers supported McKinley. Mr. Barrett insisted that his organization as such took no stand on U. S. senator.

Getting down to brass tacks, Senator Reed asked:

"How much money did your organization collect and spend?"

"About $175,000," replied Mr. Barrett.

Asked for the names and amounts of donors, the witness gave this list:

Small gifts of $50 or less	$20,000
From candidates	35,000
Charles Ringer	5,000
Charles Krutchoff	5,000
William R. Swissler	5,000
William Hale Thompson	25,000
Oscar Carlstrom	10,000
Walter Malatesta	25,000
Samuel Insull	10,000
John Hertz	5,000
Albert Lasker	2,500
James Simpson	2,000
Barney Balaban	2,500
D. F. Kelly	1,000
Edward Hines	2,000
John Borden	2,000
Block Brothers	2,000
James Patten	2,500
A. J. Forschner	1,000
John Creekmur	1,000
Leonard Florsheim	500
William Swissler	2,500
Max Krause	2,000
Nat Ribback	1,000

About some of these donations, Mr. Barrett was not certain of the identity of the donor, but was certain that he received the amounts indicated. Some of these names represent the collections made of other persons and not personal contributions. Mr. Barrett promised to come in this morning with his check book showing the disbursements made.

BARRETT EXPLAINS GROUP

"Will you tell us in a general way what the Crowe-Barrett organization is," Senator Reed asked Mr. Barrett.

"In the first place, the name is a misnomer," replied Mr. Barrett. "There are many elements in the organization. In the last campaign William Hale Thompson joined us so far as the county organization was concerned, together with some of his friends. Prior to that time he had not had any affiliation with us.

"There is a group known in Chicago as the Brundage group, Brundage being the former attorney general. He and his friends affiliated with the so called Crowe-Barrett organization. There are three or four men in the organization so far as local affairs are concerned who are affiliated with Attorney General Carlstrom. Then there are some men in the organization who are friends of Judge Crowe and myself. It is a conglomerate organization. That is about all I can say to you."

The Regular G. O. P.

Q.—Is that the organization you call the regular Republican organization? A.—It is called the regular Republican organization because within the organization there was a majority of the regularly elected county central committeemen under the laws of the State of Illinois who control by a majority vote the power to nominate the regular officers in accordance with the statute.

Q.—Whom was this organization supporting for senate nominee? A.—Nobody.

Q.—Were there some meetings held to determine that question? A.—Not to my knowledge.

Q.—Was there a meeting held at which a resolution was passed that each committeeman should follow his own judgment? A.—If there was any, I was not present. I do not think so.

Q.—You never learned of any such meeting? A.—No, sir. I was not on the executive committee in this last campaign. I did not attend many of the meetings.

Smith Against Court.

Q.—Of the candidates who were running for the senate, Mr. Smith had publicly announced that he was against the world court and the league of nations, had he not? A.—Very early.

Q.—Mr. McKinley had taken the opposite position? A.—We knew that definitely only when he voted on the court issue.

Q.—Now, while you say that your organization did not support either candidate, necessarily the printing and publication of this platform would have assisted Mr. Smith in the campaign? A.—Not any more than it would have assisted Senator McKinley if he had voted the way we advised him to vote.

Q.—Yes; but I mean after that vote was cast by Senator McKinley? A.—Well, it might have. It was not so intended in the beginning.

Q.—It was so intended at the end; was it not? A.—Not so far as I am aware, senator.

HEALY A WITNESS

Thomas J. Healy, treasurer of the Deneen group presented his bank account yesterday showing the collections made and the identity of contributors. He showed $46,110 received from candidates on the Deneen slate and the exact amount each paid in. In addition he received $88,919.63 from Roy O. West of which the available details were printed in THE TRIBUNE yesterday, $23,125 from Edward R. Litsinger, and $1,000 from B. J. Stange, making a grand total of $159,144.63. To this should be added $750 paid by Roy O. West to settle a belated claim against the organization. The presentation of Mr. Healy was brief and businesslike and apparently satisfied the senators.

Mr. Healy said that he was president of the West Side National bank and also the Southwest Trust & Savings bank. He explained that he deposited all the funds of the Deneen organization in his national bank to the credit of the National Republican party.

"How much money had you on hand at the beginning of this campaign," asked Senator Reed.

"Less than $1,000," replied Mr. Healy.

"What moneys were received by you as treasurer of your organization since that time?"

"I have prepared a list with all of it," replied Mr. Healy, handing a copy to the Missouri senator who commented:

"Thank you. I am glad to find another man not shrouded in mystery."

Deneen Cash Tabulated.

The cash received by Mr. Healy was tabulated by him as follows:

John F. Devine	$ 1,800.00

All these contributions were from candidates except the last three items. Looking it over Senator Reed commented:

"I see no subscription here from Senator Deneen?"

"He made none," replied Mr. Healy.

Row West Items Told.

Q.—Mr. Healy, you have an item here of $88,919.63 from Roy O. West. Can you find the items in your bank book that make that up? A.—Yes sir.

Then Mr. Healy pointed out the items until the senators were satisfied.

Asked about the expenditures Mr. Healy gave the items which the day previous Roy O. West had handed to the committee and which were printed in THE TRIBUNE.

Q.—About how much of that was spent for poll workers on election day? A.—About $50,000.

Q.—All in the city of Chicago? A.—I think so.

Q.—What did you pay your workers? A.—That was left to the ward leaders. They paid $5 and $10 a day each according to the service rendered.

Q.—You paid this money to the ward leaders to pay the workers? A.—Yes.

Q.—Then you must have a list of your ward leaders. A.—I have.

Q.—Will you get that list and place opposite each name the amount paid each ward leader. If you will do that we will excuse you. A.—I will do that.

WRIGHT REFUSES FACTS

But the most interesting feature of the day to the crowded room of spectators was the interrogation of Mr. Wright, the colored leader of the Second Ward. Asked about moneys he handled, he declined to account for more than $2,900 received from the central organization for primary day and $600 for a canvass of the precincts.

Senator Reed flushed a trifle at the refusal, but went ahead with the questioning. Later Wright again refused and Reed commented: "We will see whether you will answer a little later." Before the questioning ended, Senator Reed said he obtained exactly what he wanted and the threatening clouds disappeared.

For a time it looked as if the authority of the committee, which Samuel Insull originally questioned, would be tested. Incidentally, the committee insists that Mr. Insull will be recalled and asked to tell of his contributions to political organizations for local purposes, despite the revelations of Mr. West Tuesday and Mr. Barrett yesterday.

Wright Tells Career.

Asked for his business and political connections, Mr. Wright said that he is a lawyer, member of the Illinois commerce commission, Republican committeeman of the Second ward, has been south town clerk one term, county commissioner two terms, and a member of the state Republican committee for one term.

"Your ward is inhabited largely by colored people, isn't it?" started Senator Reed.

"About 90 per cent colored," replied Mr. Wright.

"Will you tell us what the business and jurisdiction of the Illinois commerce commission is?"

MR. WRIGHT—It has the regulation of rates and franchises, the approval of issues of stock and bonds, the authorization of issuance of securities of public utilities, the granting of certificates of convenience and necessity, passing upon complaints and general regulation under the public utilities law of the state.

The Commission's Power.

Q—Is it the law of Illinois that before a new railroad can be built or a new electric line put in, there must be a certificate of public convenience and necessity obtained from this board? A.—Yes.

Q.—Does that apply to gas mains and the establishment of gas companies as well as electric light companies? A.—Yes.

Q.—In a general way, then, if a company is organized or has been organized, and it desires to float additional securities, stocks or bonds, it must submit its fiscal condition to your board, and your board then passes upon the question whether it is proper to issue these bonds or stocks. Is that correct? A.—That is correct.

Q.—And the members of this board are appointed by the governor? A.—Appointed by the governor and confirmed by the senate.

SMITH IS CHAIRMAN

Q.—Was Mr. Smith, who is the nominee in the senate, in any way connected with the Small administration? A.—He is a member and chairman of the Illinois commerce commission.

Q.—He is the chairman of the same commission of which you are a member? A.—Yes.

Q.—How long has he held that position? A.—I think for six years. He was on the commission when I was appointed.

Wright's Part in Campaign.

Q.—Did you take any part in the last primary fight in Chicago? A.—I took quite a prominent part.

Q.—Will you tell us what it was? A.—Well, I supported some candidate for every office that was on the ticket, both in the state and in the counties and in the senatorial districts.

Q.—Yes, but you might tell us, please, whom you were for for senator? A.—I was for Frank Smith for senator.

Q.—Whom did you support for state treasurer? A.—William J. Stratton.

Q.—Was the county ticket you supported indorsed or supported by any political organization or group here in the city? A.—I supported the ticket commonly called the Crowe-Barrett county ticket.

Q.—And that same group, the Crowe-Barrett group, in your ward at least, was supporting Mr. Smith? A.—Well, there is not any Crowe-Barrett group in my ward.

Q.—You are the Crowe-Barrett group of your ward? A.—I am the group.

Q.—You are the group; that is what I thought; and you are affiliated with or you act with the Crowe-Barrett group or committee? I guess that is the best name for it. A.—I affiliated with them on the county ticket.

Q.—And also on state treasurer? A.—No.

Q.—What was the result in your ward on the senatorial fight? A.—Mr. Smith carried the ward by, I think, 2,500.

Q.—I suppose that figure is reasonably accurate, unless this recount changes things. A.—It will not change much in the second ward.

Q.—You counted them right, there, did you? A.—We are honest down there. Smith, 7,206; McKinley, 4,818.

Q.—How did the ward go for state treasurer? A.—Stratton, 5,923; Kinney, 2,301.

Whole Ticket Carried.

Q.—How did it turn out on the county ticket? A.—We carried it for everybody on the Crowe-Barrett ticket.

Q.—By what majority? A.—By majorities averaging from 2,500 to 5,000.

Q.—I suppose, Mr. Wright, that in that ward you maintain some kind of organization; do you not? A.—I have an organization which comprises a captain and assistant captain in each one of the 53 precincts.

Q.—And who is the head of that organization? A.—The county committeeman; I am.

Q.—And when that organization gets to work in a primary, it naturally can show a pretty fair result and get out its vote, anyway? A.—We usually show pretty good results.

Q.—Did you raise any money to be used in this campaign. A.—Our organization contributes regularly to its own expenses.

Q.—Do you mean your ward organization? A.—Yes.

Q.—How much was raised? A.—Well, we did not use it in the senatorial primary.

Q.—You were getting out votes that day, were you not? A.—Yes.

Q.—What did you use money for? A.—Sending out letters; headquarters; meetings.

Q.—I asked you how much money you raised. A.—I said we did not use it for the senatorial campaign.

A FLAT REFUSAL

Q.—The committee will determine whether it was or not when we get through with this case. Do you decline to answer that question, sir? A.—I decline to answer what money my organization raised individually for its own expenses.

Q.—Very well. Did you receive any money? A.—Yes.

Q.—How much? A.—For what purpose?

Q.—Did you receive any money in this primary? A.—Yes.

Q.—How much? A.—Well, I do not know what you mean.

Q.—You just tell us how much. That is what I mean—how much? A.—If you will ask me for what purpose I received it or intimate what purpose I got it for, I will tell you whether I received it or not.

Got Money from Galpin.

Q.—From whom did you receive it? A.—I received some money from Homer K. Galpin for use for the county ticket.

Q.—How much. A.—$2,900.

Q.—From whom else did you receive money? A.—No one, except the members of my organization.

Q.—Tell us how much you got. A.—I have already declined to answer that.

Q.—We will see whether you will answer or not after awhile. Did you receive any money from outside of your ward organization except from Mr. Galpin? A.—Yes; I received $600 to make a canvass of the ward; I think it was from Mr. Charles V. Barrett.

Q.—From whom else did you receive money? A.—That is all.

Acts as Own Treasurer.

Q.—Who is the treasurer of your ward organization? A.—I am.

Q.—You are also the chairman? A.—Yes.

Q.—Who is the secretary? A.—E. H. Gleaves.

Q.—Does the secretary keep the books of your organization? A.—I keep all the books there are kept in the way of financial accounts.

Q.—Do you keep financial accounts? A.—Only a check book.

Q.—In what bank do you bank? A.—The Lincoln State bank—that is, the organization account. My personal account is in the Union Trust company.

Q.—In what name is this account in the Lincoln State bank—what official name? A.—Second Ward Regular Republican club.

Mr. Wright said that he "appointed and removed" the members of his organization; and "they all act in harmony with me, or they don't stay long," he added.

"You have an understanding with them on getting the vote out to the polls?"

"No, I don't have any understanding with them; I instruct them what to do."

It developed during the hearing that Mr. Wright spent no money in the primary except the $2,900 and the $600 referred to, and what he was afraid that the senate committee wanted to know was how much money he had in the bank to conduct the next aldermanic election.

QUIZ ON L FARES

Switching back to the commerce commission, Wright was asked about the Small commission's action in reducing street car fares, but Mr. Wright said that happened before he was a member. He thought the commission fixed the fare at six cents, but failed to tell anything about the five cent fare order of Mr. Smith's commission.

Q.—Was there a reduction in the gas rates of Chicago? A.—I think that was decided before I went on the commission.

Q.—Do you know who controls the gas company? A.—I do not.

Q.—Did you make any reduction in telephone rates in Chicago? A.—Not that I know of.

Q.—Have there been a number of orders made on telephone rates throughout the state? A.—I think so.

Q.—You could not say from memory? A.—O, no, I do not memorize those matters. I pass on them when they come before me and then forget it.

"I did not know but that some facts might stick in your head," retorted Senator Reed, while a large part of the audience laughed and the witness was excused.

Andrew Russel a Witness.

Another witness of the day was Andrew Russel, banker of Jacksonville who was Senator McKinley's campaign manager.

He said he had been state treasurer and state auditor for two terms each and chairman of the state board of pardons for six years. He added: "And we did not have any scandals—that was under Yates and Deneen."

Q.—As I understand it you are in no way connected with the Small administration. A.—No, sir, not at all. He is a personal friend of mine but I never supported him in the primary.

Mr. Russel said that he received from Mr. Green for Senator McKinley a total of $40,500. He testified that one letter cost $9,000 and another $4,000, and he spent perhaps $3,000 in the Second, Third, and Fourth wards among colored voters. He paid $1,000, possibly $2,000, for advertisements in foreign language newspapers, and not more than $6,000 for salaries and expenses of agents traveling throughout the state. Otherwise his disbursements were small. He was ordered to compile a list of persons paid money, indicating the purpose, and return with it to the committee later.

GREEN'S TESTIMONY

Henry I. Green of Champaign, Senator McKinley's personal attorney for fifteen years and chief custodian of the McKinley campaign fund, occupied the witness stand during the entire forenoon.

SENATOR REED—Mr. Green, did you receive any contributions from any other persons than Senator McKinley?

MR. GREEN—I did not. Of course, there were probably some places where people may have done something that I did not know about and may have spent some money, but I am sure it was no considerable sum at all, not as much as $5,000. I understood that Mrs. [Medill] McCormick was going to spend some money in advertising in the foreign newspapers. Whether she did or not I do not know. It was Senator McKinley's policy to bear the entire expense of his campaign himself and not receive contributions, Mr. Green said.

Gives List of Payments.

Q.—You have told us of this large sum of money that was employed in this campaign. Have you a statement of the persons to whom it was paid? A.—I can give you the major payments, yes. I cannot give all of them but I can give most of them.

Through a series of questions and answers that involved considerable detail Mr. Green itemized payments of $326,050 as follows:

J. W. Stipes, $95,000; Andrew Russel, $40,500; Chester Willoughby, $55,000; Roy O. West, $30,000; H. E. Morgan, $25,000; Lord & Thomas, $20,000; Chicago Railway Printing company, $12,000; James T. Igoe Printing company, $7,000; M. S. Burnett company, $4,000; Prairie Farmer, $1,350; Orange Judd Farmer, $500; Veterans' bureau, $1,000; A. L. Williams, $2,000; Percy B. Coffin, $15,000. In St. Clair and Madison counties, $7,500; in Kankakee, Iroquois, and Grundy counties, $3,500; in Macon county, $2,000; in McLean county, $3,500; in Champaign county, $1,200.

Q.—Will you tell us why you did not just draw checks to these people? For instance, when you paid Mr. Coffin $15,000 why give him that large sum in currency? A.—I will not say that Mr. Coffin said it, but it was not unusual at all to have the request for currency. It has grown to be, I think, practically the practice in Illinois—whether it is good or bad—that you are expected in these campaign expenditures to get currency.

Cash, Even from McKinley.

Q.—Almost everybody knew that William McKinley's check was good. It must have been for some other reason than doubting the check. A.—It is practiced almost universally, even down to county campaigns.

Q.—At the beginning of the campaign, the early part of it, had Crowe taken sides as between the senatorial candidates? A.—Crowe personally?

Q.—Yes. A.—I cannot say that I know he had. I knew that his friends or associates in his organization were friendly to Mr. McKinley. I do not know that Mr. Crowe personally was or whether he took any position.

Q.—As the campaign progressed toward the end Crowe became a supporter of Smith. Am I right in that? A.—Yes. I know it is so but he did not tell me so.

Q.—You knew it because you know what was going on. In the early part of the campaign, was Mr. Barrett for McKinley or Smith? A.—We understood he was for McKinley.

A.—At the end of the campaign, where did he finally land? A.—My information is he was for Col. Smith.

Q.—In the early part of the campaign, who was Mr. Galpin for? A.—He was Senator McKinley's friend, and for him.

Q.—Did he remain that way? A.—I thought so. I always do want to believe so. That was my information.

Q.—Was Mr. Brundage for Senator McKinley all the way through? A.—He was not very active at first, but I think finally was for Senator McKinley.

SURPRISED BY DRYS

Q.—In conducting this campaign did you come in contact with—or in touch with would be better, I suppose—the Anti-Saloon league? A.—We heard about them all the time—who their friends were.

Q.—Were they taking part in this campaign? A.—If they did we could not find it out. They indorsed both Mr. McKinley and Smith, and I know that—well, that is what they did. Maybe I better withhold my personal comment about it.

Q.—Whatever you know, Mr. Green, I would be glad to know. A.—We were surprised at that because we thought it was a part of the policy of the league that if a man was in office and they found no objection to him anyway and somebody was trying to defeat him, that their indorsement was for the man in office, but to our surprise in this instance they indorsed both these men. I never talked with them about it and the first I knew of it was when the indorsement came out.

"Possibly they were following the policy of the public utilities subscriber who gives to both sides and lands on both feet no matter who is successful," was Senator Reed's comment at this point.

Tells McKinley's Interests.

Q.—Has Senator McKinley been a contributor to that organization? A.—I do not know. I have no doubt—well, I do not know.

Q.—Briefly, will you tell the committee what public utilities Senator McKinley was interested in in the year 1925-'26?

Mr. Green replied that Senator McKinley had disposed of his interest in and control of the Illinois Power and Light company and its subsidiary companies, including the Illinois Traction system, but that he continued to hold an honorary position on the board because the companies had been his properties and associated with his name so long.

SENATOR REED—I am asking this for light on another question that does not directly concern Senator McKinley: There has been some rivalry between Senator McKinley, or his interests, and Mr. Insull and his interests in the past?

Senator Admired Insull.

A.—I did not know of it, if there was any rivalry. I had always supposed these men were good friends. There was no clash or anything of that kind that I knew anything about. I thought they each had a mutual admiration and respect for the other. They were not competitors, in a sense—well, under commission regulation you do not have competitors any more in that business. Mr. Insull was very much more heavily interested in the utilities business than ever Mr. McKinley was. I did not know that there was any feeling of animosity or otherwise. I know there was none on Mr. McKinley's part, because I know he had the highest admiration for Mr. Insull.

Here Senator Reed questioned Mr. Green at considerable length about Senator McKinley's contributions to various charities, churches, schools, colleges, etc., declaring that "rumors have been flying around that he had made large donations and that they were so intimately connected with his campaign that they had been put out for the purpose of obtaining influence."

Mr. Green replied that Senator McKinley had made this kind of contributions for years.

Chicago Politics Puzzle Both.

SENATOR REED—I am asking these questions out of a sense of justice to him. I am giving you a chance here to rebut those rumors.

MR. GREEN—Yes, I appreciate it.

Returning to the subject of political activities in Chicago, Senator Reed asked several questions about conferences on the Chicago situation and Mr. Green replied, "I frankly say that I cannot understand Chicago politics."

"I can't, either," remarked Senator Reed. Mr. Green continued:

"We thought that the Crowe-Barrett-Brundage faction would be our friends. We thought that the proposition of the world court did not have anything to do with local county politics, and therefore would not get into it. We were willing, I say frankly, to make some contribution to their county campaigns, feeling that was the cheapest way by which we could get results.

"Under this primary election law the question of the value of organization, and the personnel of men, is pretty hard to measure.

Tells Thompson's Part.

"As the result of a conference Senator McKinley reported to me that that organization was going to be friendly, and he also reported to me that he had said to them that of course he and Senator Deneen were friendly. That seemed to be satisfactory.

"I think William Hale Thompson, however, was not friendly to Senator McKinley. It was reported to me that Mr. Thompson for some reason persuaded these people to make the issue of the world court in the county campaigns."

Q.—Had there been some talk about the amount which the senator was expected to contribute to that organization if they supported him? A.—He and I talked about it. I do not know whether he talked with them about it or not.

Q.—What was the amount you mentioned? A.—I will state what I said, and there was not any agreement, but I thought if we spent $1,000 in a ward, so far as that organization was an effective organization in the particular wards in which it would be advantageous, that we would be justified in doing it.

Green said he "figured by all the rules of the game," that Sanitary Trustees King and Eller would be friendly, "but for some reason they were not, and the vote in Eller's ward was such that we would not know we were running."

He said McKinley put no money into the Eller ward [20th], adding: "The question was raised whether we should send money there and I took the position, and I think Senator McKinley agreed with me, that if those men did not deliver on principle we would not spend any money to get them."

ADMINISTRATION HIT BY IOWA DEMOCRATS IN STATE PLATFORM

Des Moines, Ia., July 28.—[Special.]—Prohibition clouds loomed on the convention horizon when a district caucus injected into the resolution committee discussion a proposal to condemn the eighteenth amendment. Neither this nor a move to condemn the two-thirds rule of the Democratic national convention reached the delegates, however.

Planks promising tariff reduction to cut the farmer's cost of living, denouncing the economic policy of the Coolidge administration as an attempt to industrialize the nation at the expense of agriculture and favoring the establishment of a federal export corporation were adopted. Senator Daniel F. Steck, permanent chairman of the convention, attacked "the half hearted skinning methods" by which he said the Republicans last week "both commended and condemned their own chosen administration."

Kreisler, Von Bernstorff Ask Clemency for Sacco

BERLIN, July 28.—[U. N.]—Fritz Kreisler, world famous violinist, is among those signing a petition protesting against the execution of Sacco and Vanzetti, American radicals sentenced to die for murder in connection with a mail robbery in South Braintree, Mass. Other signers are Count Von Bernstorff, ambassador to the United States prior to American entry into the world war; Maximilian Harden and Max Reinhardt.

SHOOTS AND KILLS WIFE.

John Gray, 38, colored, shot and killed his wife, Julia, 25, in their home at 577 Forquer street, last night, when he tried to win a reconcilation with her after a short separation.

LINCOLN DRAMA IS UNFOLDED IN BLOOMINGTON

Historic Valley Tour Leads to 'Lost Speech' Scene.

This morning the third story in Mr. Bennett's valley pilgrimage takes you to the scene of a tremendous episode in Abraham Lincoln's life.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.

"Mr. Chairman and gentlemen, I was over at——"

Shouts of "Platform!" "Take the platform!" shook the hall.

Thus began, in Bloomington, Ill., seventy years ago the 19th of last May, the so called "Lost Speech" of Abraham Lincoln, the greatest example of oratory at once intimate and epochal in the forensic literature of our race. It was the acme of neighborhood oratory, but it reached a nation.

It ended with these words:

"But let us, meanwhile, appeal to the sense and patriotism of the people, and not to their prejudices; let us spread the floods of enthusiasm here aroused all over these vast prairies, so suggestive of freedom . . . There is both a power and a magic in popular opinion. To that let us now appeal, and while, in all probability, no resort to force will be needed, our moderation and forbearance will stand us in good stead when, if ever, we must make an appeal to battle and to the God of Hosts."

Led to Douglas Debates.

The words appended at this point by the young lawyer who took down the speech—for it never was really a "Lost Speech," but that was not known until forty years had passed—come back to us now with the sharpness of a cry out of a night long gone. They were: "Immense applause, and a rush for the orator."

That speech led up to the mighty Lincoln-Douglas debates—battle between Titans—of two summers later. It defined the issue of whether new free territory should be dragooned into the Union as slave territory. It defined the issue so simply that a child could understand it and so poignantly that rough men were shaken and thrilled to the depths of their being. That is no mere fancy phrase. In young Lawyer Whitney's stenographic record of the speech one comes upon this comment: "That sentence was uttered in such an earnest, impressive, if not, indeed, tragic, manner as to make a cold chill creep over me. Others gave a similar experience."

I said it was neighborhood oratory. It was. It contained "ain't" more than once, as in the question, "I will ask Browning if that ain't good law?"

Trumpet Blast Against Slavery.

But it also contained so terrific a trumpet blast as this:

"Slavery is a violation of the eternal right. We have temporized with it from the necessities of our condition; but, as sure as God reigns and school children read, that black, foul lie can never be consecrated into God's hallowed truth!"

And so, with the twenty pages of that burning oration fresh in my mind, I felt like uncovering my head when I stood for the first time, a few days since, before the old Major block in Bloomington, where the speech was made, and perhaps I would have uncovered except that the older one grows the less stomach one has for seeming theatrical.

But there it stands—the squat old building, drowsing in the sun, that was the first shrine place in my Valley pilgrimage—and 'tis easy for you to find. Walk one block south and one block east of the courthouse, and you will see it and the bronze tablet that records its glory. But, to get its thrill, read the speech first.

Knowledge a Requisite.

The value of great men long gone is that they make us enthusiasts for great character. But the prerequisite of such enthusiasm is knowledge—close knowledge—of what the men said and did. Lacking that, their names sound in the ear of ignorance only for a routine and a mockery, and the whine of the smart aleck, "Who did he ever lick?" disturbs and cheapens the fruitful meditation of the reverent and the informed. Read it! You will find Whitney's text of it in one of the "Everyman" volumes, and those volumes cost, in cloth, only 80 cents each.

One tradition of the "Lost Speech" survives in Tribune Tower. It tells how Joseph Medill, founder of this newspaper's greatness, was one of the journalists swarming in the Major block that May 19, 1856, and how, as the speech swept on, he was swept on with it; how he laid down his pencil and listened with shaking hands and, sometimes, with wet eyes, and how, in short, he forgot to take down what he was hearing. So did all his colleagues of the press. Hence the "lostness" of the speech until 1896, when the publisher, S. S. McClure, unearthed Whitney's report and printed it in his magazine.

With all respect to the great man whose spirit in a very real sense moves to this day through THE TRIBUNE'S halls, his explanation of why he failed to report Abraham Lincoln's utterances at the Bloomington anti-slavery convention for next day's TRIBUNE would not this day appease the managing editor. Father Joseph, in brief, would confront the desolation of two weeks without pay.

One thing you will be sorry about. The Major block used to be three stories high and it was on the third floor that Lincoln made the "Lost Speech" at the Bloomington convention which brought the Republican party into existence in Illinois. Now that third story in gone and the sky of prairieland canopies the scene of the speech that touched our grandsires to flame. Perhaps it is better so.

Main Street Is Bored.

I had meant to tell you in some detail the story of how Bloomington saved a moribund "university" and made something real out of it, but Lincoln, as with my one-time employer, ran away with me. Briefly, that story began six years ago with the words, "O, to hell with it!" which seemed a quaint, if inevitable, destination to which to consign an old college that, as such colleges will, was dying the death of denominationalism In other words, downtown Bloomington said that about hell when the Methodist governing body in Illinois announced that it was going to take Bloomington's old "Illinois Wesleyan university"—it had been there three-quarters of a century—and combine it with similarly moribund church schools at Lebanon and at Onarga in this state and move the trio to Springfield, the state capital.

Main street was mildly bored at the prospect of losing the university and said, "O, to hell with it!"

Old School Is Saved.

But more clement counsel prevailed, with the result that in thirty days Bloomington citizens and McLean county farmers gave $660,000 to save and rehabilitate old Wesleyan. The fund was oversubscribed! Its fruits: A new gym costing $175,000; a new library costing $200,000; additional campus costing $140,000, and today a real school with a vital enrollment of 1,100 young men and women instead of the sluggish one of 240 six years ago.

That's Bloomington all over—a town that remembers its ancient glories, but does not merely bask in them.

And the Methodists at large were so cheered by Bloomington's example that they stepped out and raised a million for the revitalized university!

HUNT VANISHED SALT LAKE GIRL, HERE FOR VISIT

Police last night were asked to search for Miss Pearl Von Duzee of Salt Lake City, Utah, whose relatives feared she either had been lost or kidnaped on her arrival in the city for a visit. The young woman, described as 5 feet 8 inches tall, weighing 135 pounds, blue eyed and with bobbed black hair, disappeared immediately after she arrived on a train from the west in the morning.

Bernard Corliss, 4821 Pensacola avenue, told detectives that he made the trip from the west with Miss Von Duzee. He said she was on her way to visit William Von Duzee of 1114 North 20th avenue, Maywood.

CAPONI GIVES UP, BUT GETS JAIL INSTEAD OF BAIL

Held Pending Decision on Murder Warrant.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Leo Pazdell, robbery, sentenced to 10 years to life in the penitentiary; Anton Kaufman, manslaughter, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary; Rudolph Kunfel, confidence game, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary; Leslie Teller, larceny, sentenced to 1 year in the Bridewell, by Judge Thomas J. Lynch.

Clyde Thomas, Harry Horowitz, Thurston Griffen, and Henry Hill, robbery, sentenced to 3 to 20 years in the penitentiary; Henry Wolf, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary by Judge William N. Gemmill.

Alphonse Caponi's surrender to officials who had sought him for three months on charges ranging from the McSwiggin murder to toting and peddling booze went through on schedule yesterday with the lone exception that the Cicero vice and gambling czar wound up last night in a Cook county jail cell. That item hadn't been placed on the books and it caused Al considerable irritation, as he had expected to walk right in and walk right out again on bail.

The decision to place Caponi in the county's jolly lockup was reached by Judge Thomas J. Lynch pending a hearing on a warrant issued shortly after the McSwiggin-Doherty-Duffy murders in Cicero on April 27. The warrant was obtained by Chief of Detectives William Schoemaker and charges that Caponi "did unlawfully with malice aforethought, by shooting, kill and murder William H. McSwiggin."

Not Indicted for Murder.

It was pointed out, however, that three grand juries have been in session since Chief Schoemaker obtained the warrant and that none has indicted Caponi. It was further indicated that Chief Schoemaker never has endeavorder to present any evidence in support of the unqnalified charges in the warrant.

Caponi will be given a hearing at 12 o'clock today. It was predicted that Chief Schoemaker will be asked to substantiate his charges that Caponi killed McSwiggin.

If the chief reveals sufficient evidence, it was said, the court may choose between holding Caponi without bail and setting the amount of his bonds. In the latter event it was certain that Caponi would post surety immediately.

May Not Face Jury.

On the other hand, if the court finds that the warrant was obtained without grounds, as Caponi himself claims, it was held probable by state officials that the gangster boss may never face a jury on the murder charge.

The first evidence mentioned connecting Caponi with the spectacular triple murder grows out of the testimony of a secret witness who told of seeing him, in a rage, dash to a secret panel in a Cicero restaurant and obtain what appeared to be a machine gun. Caponi, the witness said, rushed away and shortly afterward the murders were committed. This narrative was weakened, police admitted, when they failed to find a secret panel in the restaurant described by the informant.

Meets Government Agents.

Caponi was waiting for Special Intelligence Agents Patrick Roche and Clarence Converse of the government force, when they arrived by appointment at 10 o'clock yesterday morning at Indianapolis avenue and State Line road. Caponi was with his attorney, Ben Epstein, and the four immediately set out for the federal building.

Al and his "mouth piece," as he calls his lawyer, went before Federal Judge Cliffe and the lawyer asked that charges be reduced to $5,000. Judge Caponi's $25,000 bonds on booze Cliffe ordered the reduction and surety was posted by Louis Cowen, owner of the Cicero Tribune.

The minute Caponi had been given his freedom he was formally placed under arrest by Chief of Detectives Schoemaker. The gangster chief had already signified his intention to surrender at the Criminal Court building so the party proceeded to the north side.

Caponi was taken before the special grand jury where he refused to sign an immunity waver. For this reason the jurors did not question him regarding alleged vote frauds in Stickney, for which he already is under indictment.

Caponi's bonds in the vote fraud case had been fixed at $5,000. Surety for this amount was furnished by Cowen.

Millions Toll of Hurricane Sweeping East Coast Line

Jacksonville, Fla., July 28.—(AP)—The West Indian hurricane that has raged along the coast of Florida since Monday, passed off the coast near Jacksonville late today and advanced toward the Georgia boundary. It was expected to strike the coast near the Georgia line.

The storm took only two lives as it passed up the Florida coast, but it caused property damage estimated in the millions. Palm Beach's loss was estimated at $1,000,000; that of Stuart, Fla., at $250,000, and Miami's at $100,000, in addition to damage to shipping, telegraph, and telephone wires and crops at scores of places.

The storm apparently was lessening in intensity as it came up the coast, but was still of hurricane force.

Italian Freighter Saved.

Rescue of the Italian freighter Ansaldo San Giorgio Secondo was reported through a radio message to St. Augustine, Fla. This said the Ansaldo had been taken in tow by the steamship West Harshaw, which is proceeding to Jacksonville, where it is due tomorrow. Despite a disabled rudder, the Ansaldo rode out the storm. Since early Monday morning its crew had fought against the force of the hurricane, which caught the ship as it came up the Florida coast. There is a crew of 24 men aboard the Ansaldo, in addition to the captain and three aliens, who were put aboard the steamer for deportation at New Orleans.

A message from Nassau, Bahama islands, fixed the damage there at five million dollars. A message received by the Munson line said that place was wrecked by the hurricane.

Palm Beach suffered heavily in the loss of more than a score of yachts and small craft which went down when a pier gave way. Fashionable resorts and hotels were flooded by water blown from Lake Worth.

No report has been received yet from the motorboat Zuletta with 25 persons aboard, which left Miami Sunday for Bimini, in the Bahamas.

Hunt Lost Houseboat; 19 Aboard.

Fort Lauderdale, Fla., July 29.—(AP)—A coast guard patrol boat has been dispatched in search for the houseboat Seminole, said to be somewhere south of Bimini, near Golden Key, according to C. G. Poacher, commander of the local station. The Seminole has a party of nineteen persons aboard, including H. C. Phills, steel magnate.

$5,000,000 Damage in Nassau.

Nassau, July 28.—[United Press.]—Nassau was hard hit by the hurricane. The total loss may reach $5,000,000. The New Colonial, the Victoria, and the Waterloo, Nassau's three $1,000,000 hotels, sustained serious damage.

Dominican Loss Heavy.

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic, July 28.—(AP)—While reports of the storm damage on the island are delayed through interruption of telegraphic communication, the known damage thus far is estimated at $3,000,000.

REED OPPOSES LAW TO ENFORCE NEGRO SUFFRAGE

Thinks South Should Care for Own Problems.

Senator James A. Reed [Dem., Mo.], chairman of the senate slush fund committee here investigating campaign expenses of the Illinois senatorial primaries, is against any more force laws to prop up amendments to the constitution of the United States.

While he didn't put it in so many words yesterday he thinks the force law behind the 18th amendment, the Volstead law, is considerably more than the limit in such kind of legislation.

Senator Borah [Rep., Idaho], having characterized repeal or modification of the Volstead act as equivalent to nullification of the 18th amendment, Senator Reed was asked what he thought of the proposition of a force law behind the 14th and 15th amendments enfranchising the Negro, amendments ignored generally in the south.

More Laws, More Trouble.

"Let the south take care of its own problems," Senator Reed said. "If we have any more force laws we'll only have more trouble and we're having trouble enough with the force laws we have already.

"The late Senator Lodge of Massachusetts was the author of the last force bill and he made a vigorous effort to pass it. Some southern senators strenuously opposed it and in doing so revived some of the fever that existed in the carpet bag days after the civil war. Senator Lodge told me a short time before his death that those things should be forgotten and that he realized his force bill was a mistake.

Getting Along All Right.

"White people and colored in the south seem to be getting along very satisfactorily and the Negroes I have talked to seem to be pretty well satisfied with things as they are. We don't want any more force laws."

Although Gov. Blaine of Wisconsin, La Follette candidate for United States senator, has said he believes it the duty of congress to enforce the 14th and 15th amendments by appropriate legislation and will vote for such legislation to make them effective if he goes to the senate. Senator La Follette [Rep., Wis.], Senator Reed's colleague on the slush fund committee, declined to make any comment whatever on the subject.

SCOFF AT BLAINE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 28.—[Special.]—Assertions by Gov. Blaine of Wisconsin, candidate for the Republican senatorial nomination against Senator Lenroot [Rep., Wis.], that if elected he will insist on the enfranchisement of Negroes in southern states failed to excite such few senators from the south as are in Washington.

While southern senators refused to be quoted, they expressed the belief that Gov. Blaine would be unable to accomplish anything along this line. They were of the opinion that the governor was talking for campaign effect in Wisconsin rather than with any serious idea of obtaining action.

Ridicule Blaine's Threat.

That the Wisconsin governor's remarks would be ignored by the southern senators was the opinion of one leading Democratic senator who ridiculed a suggestion that a move might be made to refuse him his seat if elected.

Members of the senate are puzzled to know just how Gov. Blaine, through any senate action, would be able to enfranchise southern Negroes. They point out that the Supreme court of the United States has upheld the constitutionality of laws of southern states which provide conditions under which the right of franchise may be exercised. Such state laws have been upheld, provided the same conditions apply to all, both whites and Negroes.

Senator Reed [Rep., Pa.], during the discussion of investigations of senatorial election contests threatened to propose a provision which would prohibit the seating of a senator from a state where Negroes were not permitted to vote. His proposal failed to receive serious consideration. Something of this sort might be favored by Gov. Blaine, but southern senators do not appear to have any fear that such a move would get far.

J. D. ROCKEFELLER JR. HOBNOBS WITH URCHINS AT OAK STREET BEACH

"Clothes don't make the man" is an old saw, but John D. Rockefeller Jr. appears to believe it. In fact, Mr. Rockefeller almost proved it as he strolled yesterday afternoon near Oak street beach, for he was vastly taken up with one little man who had almost no clothes at all.

This was Francis Thornton, 5, whose pants were stolen at the beach, in consequence of which he had to go home in his bathing suit and waist, and in which condition the rich man espied him walking with his brother, Walter, 7.

"Well," said Mr. Rockefeller to the boys, "and how's the water today?"

"O," said Walter briskly, "the water's all right, but you got to watch your pants. Say, mister, if you go in, take somebody to watch your pants."

Mr. Rockefeller was at the Drake yesterday with Mrs. Rockefeller and his sons, Laurence, 16; Winthrop, 14, and David, 11. They visited during the day with Mr. Rockefeller's sister, Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick, and left last night for New York.

GIRL SHOOTS 65 YEAR OLD LOVER; PEST, SHE SAYS

Held for Murder When Suitor Dies.

Wierton, Ont., July 28.—[Special.]—The love quest of Edward McCoy, 65, ended today with his murder by a 25 year old girl whom he had pursued across two countries. The girl, Kate Hardman, formerly a Newark, N. J., distributor, fired a bullet into the man's chest when she met him on a country road near here.

"He pestered me," she told William Ketteringham of Toronto, who discovered the dying McCoy at the roadside. A half mile down the road from where Ketteringham found the old man, he came upon Miss Hardman. She was trudging along in the dustry road with the gun in her hand.

Tells of Pursuit.

Ketteringham told police that the dying man told him he had been shot by "the girl he loved."

"He died in my arms after telling me he forgave her," Ketteringham said.

Miss Hardman told a story of pursuit which started in Newark where both were employed as rug sellers.

"He fell in love with me there and although I always discouraged him, he continued pestering me," she said. "I finally had to leave Newark. He came after me wherever I went.

Held for Murder.

"Two months ago I came to my home here and he followed. Since then he has been staying at the home of my two brothers. Yesterday I met him on the road and shot him."

Miss Hardman was taken to Walkerton and appeared before a magistrate. A formal charge of murder was laid against her.

PRECINCT BOSSES LOYAL TO ELLER; HE GOT 'EM JOBS

So They Give No Help in Vote Fraud Quiz.

Republican precinct captains of the Twentieth ward refused yesterday to sign immunity waivers or to give the special grand jury any information regarding alleged vote thievery. Several of them said they were holding jobs requiring little or no work at the sanitary district and each in his turn said:

"Morris Eller got me the job."

The special grand jury finished its inquiry of the Twentieth ward, in which it was found that no candidate at the last primary was given the actual number of votes cast for him. Votes were stolen for or from candidates, depending, it is alleged, upon the arrangements made by the precinct captains.

Expect Indictments Today.

Many of the judges and clerks of that ward are to be named in indictments to be returned today, according to Special Prosecutor Charles A. McDonald and his assistant, Attorney James C. O'Brien. Others are said to be included in the fifteen judges and clerks who are cited to appear today before County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki to show cause why they should not be punished for contempt of court.

Judge Jarecki said there will be no grounds for the claim of double jeopardy if he punishes judges and clerks and they are also tried in the criminal court for practically the same offense.

To Hear Recount Motion.

Judge Jarecki will also hear a motion today in the recount granted County Commissioner Goodenow, who was defeated. Goodenow has made some gains over Henry S. Goins, but according to one contention not enough to justify continuation of the recount.

MRS. BAUR SELLS HER HOLDINGS IN LIQUID CARBONIC

Gets $4,000,000 for Interest in Company.

In the refinancing and reorganization of the Liquid Carbonic company into the Liquid Carbonic corporation, recently announced, it became known last night that Mrs. Jacob Baur has disposed of her holdings in the company. Approximately $4,000,000 was the price she received.

The company does an enormous business in the manufacture of soda water fountains and the carbonic gas used in operating them. The business has amounted to more than $9,000,000 annually for some time. It was founded by Jacob Baur 38 years ago with an original investment of $75,000. Three bond houses yesterday offered for sale $4,000,000 gold bonds of the new corporation, the proceeds to be used in acquiring the interest of the heirs of Jacob Baur and associates.

Mrs. Baur, it was said, will retire entirely from business and devote her time to private affairs and social activities. She has been active in Republican politics in her neighborhood for several years, and last spring was a candidate at the primaries for congress, but was defeated by Fred Britten.

Judge Dismisses Girl's Charges Against Dentist

A charge of attempted rape against Dr. Floyd Glascow, dentist, of 2406 West Madison street, was dismissed yesterday by Judge Laurence B. Jacobs. Miss Margaret Doheney, 17 years old, 2058 West Van Buren street, accused the dentist of trying to attack her while she was being treated under the influence of gas in his office. Forsythe Smith, a laboratory employé, testified that many cases of such illusions while under gas are known.

WORKMAN BURNED BY GAS.

Tony Burns, 33 years old, 702 West 42d street, a laborer, was probably fatally burned yesterday when a defective electric light wire ignited a pocket of natural gas in a caisson under the new Jackson boulevard viaduct in Grant park, where Burns was working.

WOMAN FALLS 6 FLOORS TO DEATH IN HOTEL SHAFT

Screams Startle Crowd in Loop Lobby.

Dozens of guests of the Auditorium hotel were shocked early last evening when Mrs. Harriet Harrison, 48 years old, wife of George Harrison, prominent business man of Galesburg, Ill., plunged six stories to her death at the bottom of an elevator shaft.

The woman's scream as she fell and the impact of her body at the bottom of the shaft caused excitement around the hotel that continued for several hours after the body had been taken to undertaking rooms.

Husband Out on Business.

Mr. Harrison, who had registered with his wife some time earlier, had left the hotel on business at the time of the tragedy and could not be located until his return to his room several hours afterward.

From Galesburg it was learned that the tragedy brought to an end, almost before it started, a European trip the Harrisons had planned. They had arrived in Chicago yesterday afternoon and were to have left last night for Montreal. From there they were to have sailed tomorrow for England and were to have remained abroad until late in September, traveling about England and the continent.

Mr. Harrison's business is photography. He is reputed wealthy and has been a lifelong citizen of Galesburg. Both he and his late wife were active civically and socially.

Her Mistaken Step Fatal.

Mrs. Harrison entered an elevator in the lobby of the Auditorium early in the evening to ascend to her rooms on the seventh floor. At the sixth floor McKinley Caradine, the colored operator, stopped the car to take on another passenger, Mrs. Mary Corum.

As Mrs. Corum stepped into the car, Mrs. Harrison, thinking she had come to her floor stepped out. She realized her mistake in a moment and, whirling about, fell through the still half open door of the shaft, missed the car completely, and plunged head foremost to the bottom.

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

Better Than Soda

For fifty years genuine "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

POINCARE STAKES ALL TO PUT OVER FINANCIAL BILL

Swings Big Stick Over Deputies' Heads.

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, July 28.—Faced with the possibility of his financial project being mangled by the none too friendly finance commission of the chamber of deputies, Premier Poincare announced tonight that he would make the passage of every article, once the plan reached the chamber, a question of confidence, since the project can exist only as a unity.

Thus clubbed, the commission is hesitating to contribute to a new cabinet crisis and may reverse its vote made earlier in the day against article 4, increasing railway rates.

When Premier Poincare put his finance bill to the commission today the body voted only 20 to 12 to consider the project. This keenly disappointed the government, which had believed opposition could be confined to the Socialists and Communists.

Hostile to Premier.

The commission meeting being marked by violent hostility, not only on the part of the communists and socialists, but the radicals as well toward Premier Poincare's project, by which he hopes to raise 5,000,00,000 francs [about $125,000,000] in new taxes. After M. Poincare's speech, the commission voted to pass to a discussion of the project itself. The twelve voting against it included two radicals, and one Republican Socialist of M. Briand's and M. Painleve's party, the rest being Socialists and Communists. Five radicals abstained from voting. The twenty who voted for the consideration of the project, including only three radicals, do not form a majority of the commission, which is composed of forty members, six of whom were absent.

Reject Fare Increase.

The first article, authorizing the government to accomplish economies by a decree, the commission passed. It made reservations to the second and third, providing for essential increases in the customs to meet the depreciation of the franc, and increases in the postal, telephone and telegraphic rates and higher imposts on wines, ciders, beer, and soft drinks. But the committee refused flatly to pass the fourth article, which calls for a 15 per cent increase in passenger and freight rates to raise 1,500,000,000 francs ($37,500,000) from the railroads.

M. Poincare told the commission that ratification of France's debts to Britain and America cannot be discussed until autumn, as the internal financial problem must be solved first.

The franc, which opened today at 40 francs 10 centimes to the dollar, an improvement over last night's closing, fell rapidly all day long, closing at 42 francs 9 centimes to the dollar.

The oppressive sense of heaviness that comes over one when scanning an ordinary restaurant menu, in search of such light dishes as suit a casual summer appetite is unknown in Henrici's, where you will at all times find many light foods in combinations unusual elsewhere.

LA FOLLETTE IS MUM ON CHARGE AGAINST EKERN

Centers Attention on Illinois Probe.

Senator Robert M. La Follette declined yesterday to give any expression of his views on the charges against his candidate for governor of Wisconsin. This aspirant is Herman L. Ekern, attorney general of the state.

Mr. Ekern has been charged by W. Stanley Smith, progressive wet candidate, with being a member of a Chicago law firm and receiving $100 a day in importnat matters "while the state [Wisconsin] treasury is paying numerous attorneys to perform the work of his office."

Senator La Follette is a member of the slush fund committe which is delving into the seamy side of Chicago and Illinois politics. The senators comprising the commitee appear more interested in the cash collected by local politicians for primary purposes than in other features of the business.

Asked for his view on the alleged doings of Attorney General Ekern, Senator La Follette replied:

"I have no comment to make," and he dismissed the interviewer by returning to his job of investigating Illinois politics.

There is no secret about the fact that Mr. Ekern is a member of a Chicago law firm. The partnership is styled Ekern and Meyers, with offices at 208 South La Salle street.

It has been stated by Ekern's opponent:

"I would be willing to stop my campaign here and now if Herman L. Ekern will frankly, freely, and fully open his books in Madison and Chicago for inspection by accountants as to his activities and profits in retainers, so that the people may realize the danger before the primaries and make certain the defeat of every candidate who believes in the pernicious doctrine that public office is a private snap."

At the Chicago office of Mr. Ekern, which, it is claimed there, he seldom visits, it was said that there would be no objection to an investigation of the firm's books.

ARREST 6 AUTO THIEVES, FIND 3 STOLEN CARS

Arrest of six automobile thieves by Detectives Carl Lemke and George Bowman of the Shakespeare avenue station, yesterday also resulted in the recovery of five cars and the promise of other recoveries. The men arrested were Francis Gambony, 22, 2406 North McLean avenue; Tony Marcucilli, 19, 9 West Harrison street, Oak Park; Barney Frederickson, 22, 1626 Fry street; James Larsen, 20, 3512 Belden avenue; Joseph Kline, 36, 632 Gary place, and Edwin Healy, 34, 5016 Winthrop avenue. The detectives nabbed the men while they were at work in a garage changing the numbers of stolen cars.

COURT GRANTS RUSSELL BABY RIGHT TO BARONY

Closes Long Battle Over Boy's Parentage.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 28.—Baby Geoffrey Russell won his right to the British peerage this afternoon by a decision of Justice Swift, which ends the famous Russell case which has cost more than £40,000 (about $200,000) and has dragged in the courts since 1922. The child, who is four and one-half years old, was pronounced the lawful child of John Hugo Russell—Lord Ampthill's eldest son and heir—and Mrs. Christabel Russell, and his rights to the Ampthill barony was thus established.

Peers Reverse Decision.

The case first came up in 1922 in the divorce proceedings brought by the husband, who alleged he was not the father of the boy. The jury disagreed, the case coming up a year later, when Mrs. Russell was found guilty of misconduct. Three months later Mrs. Russell carried her appeal to the house of lords, where the decision was reversed.

Today's proceedings arose from Mrs. Russell's demands for a formal declaration of legitimacy.

Lord Ampthill Cited.

The court instructed Mrs. Russell to cite in the proceedings Lord Ampthill as well as John Russell, the boy's father, and four of the father's brothers. Lord Ampthill filed no answer and the father's answer to the petition was struck out.

The boy's parents were married in October, 1918, but since the boy's birth the father has not contributed to their support. Mrs. Russell said they had lived in England since the marriage, going on to recite the details of the boy's birth and christening.

J. W. DAVIS AGAINST TWO-THIRDS RULE IN DEMOCRATIC PARTY

JOHN W. DAVIS.

New York, July 28.—[Special.]—John W. Davis, Democratic nominee for President in 1924 and by virtue of this recognized as leader of his party in the nation, in an interview today said that he cordially approved the movement now under way for the abolition of both the two-thirds rule and the unit rule in Democratic national conventions. He added that all the influence he could bring to bear in the 1928 national convention of his party would be exerted in favor of the substitution of majority rule. The Democratic national leader made it emphatically clear that he was opposed to abolition of the two-thirds rule unless the unit rule went with it.

CLEVELAND SHOULD WORRY.

Maj. Gen. Edgar Jadwin, chief of the army engineer corps, says the deepening of the Detroit river and the St. Clair channel has been "an important contributing factor in the lowering of lake levels," but army engineers have not yet calculated its precise extent. They believe it is comparable to the lowering which has resulted from the diversion at Chicago, which they have calculated at five inches.

The channel around Detroit was cut by army engineers. The drainage canal was dug by Chicago. Human nature being what it is, the army engineer corps will not go out of its way to prove its responsibility for the lowering of the lakes. It will try to shift as much of the burden as it can. Chicago will be blamed for as much as possible and the army engineers for as little. If in the face of that fact, the survey of the engineer corps leads to the preliminary judgment that the consequence of the Detroit diversion has been "comparable," to the consequence of the Chicago diversion, the probability is that the Detroit diversion has lowered Lake Michigan at least as much as the Chicago diversion has.

At Chicago, some 8,500 cubic feet of water are now being diverted each second. The war department's figures indicate that the flow from Lake Huron to Lake Erie has been increased 10,000 cubic feet a second by the deepening of the Detroit channel. Theoretically, the deepening of the Detroit channel has tended to raise the level of Lake Erie more than the diversion at Chicago has lowered it. The actual measurements of lake levels confirm the theoretical conclusion. Lake Michigan and Lake Huron in 1925 were 33 inches below the average for sixty years, while Lake Erie was only 19 inches below its sixty year average. Climatic changes account for the greater part of the lowering about which the Ohio politicians are exercised. The government's records show that the Lake Erie communities have less right to complain of our canal than Wisconsin, western Michigan, Indiana, and Illinois have of the Detroit improvement. It has spared Lake Erie shippers the full consequences of the drought at the expense of shipping on the upper lakes.

A QUESTION OF JOURNALISTIC ETHICS.

The new building of the National Press club in Washington is to rise to a height of 14 stories, several stories higher than the building regulations of the District of Columbia permit. It took a special act of congress to obtain authorization for the additional height. President Coolidge signed the Press club bill in the presence of fifty Washington correspondents. From this circumstance the inference has been drawn that the correspondents took advantage of their influence to obtain a special favor from congress and the President with a resultant limitation of independence.

We hope this inference is not justified. We believe the matter is one which might properly be investigated and reported upon by the American Society of Newspaper Editors, whose membership includes the editors of many of the principal newspapers in the country. In 1923 the society adopted a code of journalistic ethics. "A journalist who uses his power for any selfish or otherwise unworthy purpose is faithless to a high trust," the code says. ". . . Freedom from all obligations except that of fidelity to the public interest is vital."

The Washington correspondents play an important if unofficial rôle in American politics. It is through them that the administration generally announces its policies. As representatives of the public they can require explanations from the President, from cabinet members and from congressmen which no one else dare demand. If the correspondents have in any way compromised their independence the country is the loser.

A MEMORIAL OF THE GREAT FIRE.

In the Voice of the People we publish a suggestion from Mr. Harwood Frost which should have the favorable consideration of the authorities and the support of the public. Mr. Frost calls attention to the fact that the city has no formal commemoration of the great fire, and he proposes that the Chicago avenue water tower be marked and perpetuated as such memorial.

The idea is admirable. The tower is one of the most characteristic of our landmarks and, besides that, is actually a survival of the fire. Mr. Frost points out that it stands about at the central point of the conflagration. At least, it is in a conspicuous location and a historic one, where a large part of our own people, as well as visitors to the city, pass and repass.

Chicago has grown and is growing so rapidly that it is unusually difficult to save the few durable landmarks of our history. Here is one which can be preserved, a memorial of the second and greatest crisis of the city's history, if we count the massacre as the first, and a reminder, if we will be wise enough to make it so, of a generation of brave men and women who, in the midst of ruin and disaster, never lost heart, but, on the contrary, turned misfortune into opportunity and made what might have seemed to weaklings a fatal setback the foundation of a greater achievement.

Nations have a soul, and so have cities and communities. The spirit of the builders of Chicago deserves not only to be commemorated but to be kept alive. Our youth especially should know that Chicago is not merely a place but a spirit, a spirit of which they may be proud and which it is their privilege to live by and pass on.

BETTER HIGHWAYS IN PROSPECT.

The county board's highway advisory committee shows every sign of both the will and the ability to get forward with practical measures. The committee is a strong one, representing expert knowledge and experience, as well as public spirit, and with the backing of the community and the coöperation of the county and state agencies should soon have the county moving out of the traffic chaos in which we are now struggling. What increases our optimism is that the committee is after obtainable results without delay as well as for the larger planning. The latter is of the greatest value and importance, but we have most urgent needs which can be met promptly and in meeting them we shall not only get relief but find encouragement to keep going to fill out the larger plans. There is nothing like some practical results to give a meaning to any general scheme of public improvement.

And we urge again that the general plan be adequate and ambitious. Our predecessors have always underestimated the possibilities of Chicago's growth. We ought not to repeat the mistake. It is almost impossible to be too ambitious. We should plan for what Chicago and the metropolitan district are certain to be, are in fact rapidly becoming, one of the great centers of the world, in population, in economic organization, in social demand. Our highway system should be on a corresponding scale, providing ample facilities for expeditious, safe, and comfortable movement of all classes of traffic. The old standard roads already are as obsolete as the oxcart. We need thoroughfares as modern as our means of transport in an age of oil and electricity.

Separation of grades is, in our opinion, an essential. Mr. Stevens of the Association of Commerce is entirely right in emphasizing this principle, which meets the whole problem of traffic relief on the threshold. The keys of traffic congestion are at the main highway intersections and widening the roads is not enough. We need roads forty feet wide on two levels. Without the double levels the intersecting streams must each be halted in turn for the other. And not only at intersections but on the main arteries the double grades should be established by the modernization program. They are essential to a maximum of efficient use and safety.

AS THE LADIES STEP OUT.

There was a popular little jingle, now extinct for obvious reasons, which related to skirts and the wind and contained the reflection that "God is just and sends the dust to blind the bad man's eyes." It is a development of feminism that such intervention would be regarded today as entirely unnecessary. All the ladies ask of the dust is not to get in their own eyes.

It is a further curiosity of our social progress now that every day is a windy day, the sons of Anak are mad about it and want to know whither we are drifting with the family bric-à-brac all over the boulevard and the car seats. The lady's retort to her permanently scandalized husband is that he should worry. The new dresses don't cost him enough money to support the garment trade. The more there is exposure of what our Victorian ancestors knew, even in the case of a piano, as limbs, the easier it is on the pocketbook. The longer the legs the shorter the accounts.

In days which were reticent except when there was a wind the man paid to keep a wall around his estate. Now that it has been communized he'd better reflect that he is not taxed so much. It has been permanently conceded that ladies have legs.

Editorial of the Day

BOXING.

(New York Herald Tribune.)

The light heavyweight championship, which changed hands in Brooklyn, is a comparatively new institution in boxing. In the old days there was no such animal as a light heavy. He belongs to one of the several synthetic classes which have been invented in the last 25 years.

In 1900 the classes were bantam, feather, light, welter, middle, and heavy; and the corresponding weight limits were 115, 122, 133, 145, and 158 pounds respectively for classes lighter than heavy, the latter comprising all fighters whose weight exceeded 158 pounds. Now we have a flyweight class with a 112 pound limit, a junior lightweight group at 130, a junior welterweight with a top weight of 140 and the light heavy class over which Mr. Delaney presently presides.

Several reasons, deemed sound and sufficient by the master thinkers of boxing, have prompted the creation of these new classes. One is a theory that the public is especially interested in champions. Hence if there are ten champions where there once were six, it can be determined by a simple process of arithmetic that the boxing promoters have four more box office attractions than they had before. Another and possibly sounder reason for the light heavy class is the reluctance of heavyweights to do any further fighting, once they have annexed the title.

Becoming heavyweight champ nowadays is almost synonymous with retiring from business. The light heavies are different. Mr. Berlenbach has been in the habit of fighting almost as often as a day laborer goes to work.

SYMPTOMS IN THE TONGUE.

E. F. WRITES: Will you please tell something of tongues and how they might be a guide?

What does a tongue coated far to the back indicate? One coated all the length of it?

How does the tongue show different diseases?

REPLY.

Years ago Dr. John B. Murphy had a nose for sickness. He had an uncanny way of judging whether his patient was doing well or ill, and in these judgments he paid close attention to the tongue.

In the first place, something can be learned at times from the reaction of a person when asked to put out his tongue. When a person is asked to put out his tongue and fails to do so he may be deaf, or he may not understand the language, or he may be a "negative." Of the "negatives" a very large proportion have dementia præcox. Persons with paresis are apt to stick out the tongue on request with a suddenness that is highly suggestive of that disease.

If there is tongue-tie, it will show in the position of the tongue when it is put out. If there has been a stroke of apoplexy the tongue will point to one side. If the tongue trembles when it is put out the probability is that the patient has been drinking until he is getting near the "monkey" stage, or low vitality during a severe illness may cause the same symptom.

A swollen tongue shows the prints of the teeth on its side and edge. A person with the teeth outlined on his tongue will be a little better off if he will fast for a while or at any rate will eat lightly and take a laxative. A person who has been asphyxiated will have a bluish tongue. The blueness of the tongue is more striking than the blueness of the lips.

A very red tongue in a person acutely sick, especially a child, makes one suspicious of scarlet fever. If the tongue is covered by a white coat and in the white red dots are scattered the suspicion of scarlet fever becomes very strong. If the condition is chronic a fiery red tongue may indicate diabetes, pernicious anemia, or pellagra.

A red pointed, red edged tongue generally means an acute infection in the abdomen. This is the tongue of typhoid fever and frequently of bacterial diarrhea in children. In these diseases if the tip and sides of the tongue are fiery red the patient is not doing well.

A moist tongue in an acute febrile disease means the patient is holding his own at least; a dry tongue indicates that he is losing ground, particularly so if the tongue trembles. A dry tongue with a brown coat is a bad indication in an acute infection. A person on a milk diet is apt to have a heavy white coat on the tongue.

POROUS WATER JARS.

A. G. L. writes:

1. I wish a little information on the porous clay water coolers. A friend says that the pourous clay eventually clogs up with waste matter from the water, so that it is not as efficient in cooling water as when new. Further, the waste matter clogging the pores of the clay is an excellent place for bacteria to breed.

2. He says, for sanitary reasons, that some eastern states have forbidden this sale.

3. Would it be advisable to allow children to drink from these coolers?

REPLY.

1. The salts in the water tend to close the pores of the clay. Both filters and porous jars tend to tighten up and thereby lose efficiency. Bacteria tend to grow in and through the wall and the filter.

This is a source of considerable danger with a neglected filter. The danger is not so great with a porous jar.

2. He may be right, but I doubt it. Porous jars for keeping water cool are not often used in the east. They are not efficient because of the high humidity of the air.

3. Not unless the jar is kept clean and water used in it is pure when put there.

IN EARLY STAGES.

Miss S. H. writes:

1. Is pulmonary tuberculosis curable in most cases?

2. Is it a serious disease?

REPLY.

1. If you mean early stage consumption, the answer is: Yes.

2. It is a very serious disease. At the best, it is expensive, prolonged, wearing and calls for a radical change in one's habits. The sleeping habits, eating habits, working habits, rest habits, and mental habits must all be changed.

PROTECTING VACANT PROPERTY.

Chicago, July 23.—[Friend of the People.]—Some people are using vacant lots for dumping grounds in the 8300 block of Champlain avenue. The dumping used to consist mainly of ashes and tin cans, but now even garbage is put there. The ash wagons always seem to be full before they get this far. Could we have a special cleaning up? M. J. R.

The superintendent of the eighth ward states that the pile of rubbish has been removed and offenders notified to discontinue dumping on vacant property.

THOMAS H. BYRNE,
Superintendent of Streets.

WANTS TENANT OUT.

Chicago, July 27.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—How much time must I give my guests to vacate their apartment? The real estate agent says no notice is necessary, but I would prefer your opinion on the matter. MRS. R.

Where the tenant has exclusive right of access to the premises the relation is ordinarily the typical one of landlord and tenant, and the wording of the statute seems to apply providing for sixty days' notice, although there is some authority for a week's notice on a tenancy by the week. If the landlord has right of access, keeping the rooms dusted, etc., a different rule ordinarily applies, and the relation can be terminated at the end of any of the recurrent periods without previous notice.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

READ YOUR LEASE.

Chicago, July 27.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—I rented a flat of Mr. A about two and one-half years ago, signing a lease from the first of May for one year. A sold the property to B six months later. I have not signed a lease for B since living in the flat. B has not lived up to cleaning agreements. Could I move without B causing me trouble if I give thirty days' notice? O. E. T.

If the cleaning agreement was not incorporated in the written lease, it probably is not enforcible. You have no greater rights against the new landlord than against the old one.

WHEELING. — The legislature adjourned after transacting a good deal of business looking to the complete establishment of a new state government. Resolutions were adopted pledging members of the legislature to use all their efforts in effecting a thorough military organization in West Virginia.

FORTRESS MONROE. — All has been activity at the fort today. An order came for the transportation of four regiments from here to Washington and the work of moving the soldiers began at once. They go for active service in Virginia and their places here will be taken by recruits.

WASHINGTON.—Col. Lew Wallace's Indiana Zouaves have been ordered to this city. Mrs. Hinsdale, a Michigan woman who has just returned from the battle ground at Manassas, reports that she saw many bodies unburied there. Most of them were garbed in red shirts and red trousers. This was the uniform of the Zouaves, or Brooklyn 14th.

CHICAGO — The Board of Trade voted to assess each member $2, which will realize about $1,400, for the subsistence of the Yates phalanx while it is being enrolled. The war department already has accepted the organization.

CHICAGO.—Henry D. Hatch, principal of the Chicago Lawn school, and three guests had a narrow escape from drowning when their yacht, the Black Cat, capsized off 73d street. They were rescued in an exhausted condition by the Jackson park life saving station crew.

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—Frank Leontine Hicks, a soldier in the Transvaal, who was supposed to have been killed, returned just in time to prevent his fiancée, Miss Viola Porter, from wedding his friend, Thomas D. Windsor. The wedding had been set for August 12. It will occur on that date, but Hicks will be the bridegroom and Windsor his best man.

SALT LAKE, Utah.—Thomas F. Schley, captain in the regular army and a son of Rear Admiral Schley, passed through here and declared that at the inquiry into the Sampson-Schley controversy over the battle of Santiago harbor sensational evidence will be introduced that will clear his father of all charges. He told of a letter from Admiral Sampson directing Admiral Schley to hold his squadron off Cienfuegos and declared this letter was suppressed. Several reputations may be injured in the inquiry, Capt. Schley asserted.

CHICAGO.—President Harper in the University Record announced an important change in the policy of Rush Medical college. It is that hereafter women will be admitted to the freshman and sophomore classes on an equality with men.

CHICAGO.—The first small park to be equipped by the small parks commission at the expense of the city of Chicago is ready for acceptance by the commission. It is at Wabash avenue, near 25th street.

WASHINGTON.—The great drought that has held the middle west in its grasp for weeks, burning up crops and destroying human and animal life, was broken today by rains that were general throughout the stricken district.

WASHINGTON.—Secretary of War Root has called for reports of army officers on the effect of the abolition of the canteen. There is no doubt that army officers are practically unanimous in reëstablishing the canteen because it has been demonstrated that its abolition has resulted in increased drunkenness.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 29, 1916.

CHICAGO.—Seventy-two deaths and 125 prostrations was the day's toll taken by the torrid wave in Chicago. Deaths the day before numbered 18, bringing the total for the two days to 90. The maximum temperature yesterday was 97, as against 100 the day before. Charles L. Mitchell, local forecaster, holds out a slight hope that a disturbance in the far northwest may bring a break in the heat in a couple of days.

WASHINGTON.—United States government accepted in full the Carranza proposal for the appointment of a joint commission to consider the differences between the two republics and make recommendations on which the governments in turn shall act.

BERLIN.—Capt. Charles Fryatt of the Great Eastern railway steamship Brussels, which was captured by German destroyers last month, has been executed by shooting after a trial before a German naval court martial on charges of attempting to ram a German submarine.

LONDON.—The Russians delivered three great blows against the Teutonic forces on the east front. They captured the important railroad town of Brody on the northern Galician border, the chief obstacle to their advance on Hamburg; smashed the entire Teuton first line west of Lutsk, and swept the forces of Gen. von Linsengen from the line of the river Slonevka and Buldurovka in southern Volhynia.

LONDON.—Delville Wood and the last German strongholds in Longuedal, in the Somme sector, are now completely controlled by the British after terrific fighting.

CANTICLE OF FRANCIS OF ASSISI.

(For My Mother.)

Now sister Moon, and brother Sun!
Listen and hear what I have done:

I have given my silver-buckled shoon
To a beggar I met on the road this noon,

Wrinkled he was, and bent and old,
And his feet were bare, and the ground was cold—

And my cloak of velvet, with silver braid,
By the finest tailor in Provence made,

I gave an old woman who asked it of me,
Shivering, shivering, pitifully . . .

And mother Earth, and sister Sky!
This shall I do before I die:—

Out of my father's house I'll go,
Into the cold and into the snow,

On the road that ends where the world ends,
And the poor and the sick shall be my friends.

I shall not sleep under any man's roof,
Unless he be poor, and I'll hold aloof,

From all who walk in the market-place,
Clothed in velvet and silk and lace.

The stony ground shall be my bed,
And stones the pillows at my head;

A moldy crust of bread shall be
The daintiest of food to me;

And water from the streams, I think,
The finest wine that I shall drink;

The little, feathered, singing birds,
Shall flock to listen to my words . . .

And all these things I'll do because,
In the early day that was,

Jesus Christ, Our Savior, said,
Ere the Crown was on His head,

Ere they led Him out to die,
Ere they lifted Him on high:—

Of all else must he be free
Who would bind himself to Me!

PRESERVE THE WATER TOWER.

Chicago, July 27.—We have heard from time to time the rumblings of a movement to tear down the old waterworks tower at Chicago avenue, which to many old Chicago residents is one of the few surviving structures that link the present Chicago with the city of their memories. We have also occasionally heard a murmur of criticism regarding the scarcity on our boulevards of monuments commemorating past events in the history of Chicago. I ask the privilege of your columns to place before the people of Chicago a suggestion which, if carried out, would solve the question regarding the disposal of the tower and help meet the other criticism.

It is recognized that one of the outstanding events in the history of our city was the great fire of Oct. 8 and 9, 1871, which covered an area of about three and a half square miles, rendered 100,000 people homeless, killed 300 persons, and burned up nearly $200,000,000 of property. In spite, however, of this vast destruction, the fire of 1871 can be regarded as a direct cause of the building up of the modern Chicago, which is often spoken of as a miracle city. The great fire swept over the most densely populated part of the city, destroying the large wholesale and commission houses, the banking institutions, the depots, and rolling stocks of the various railroads, the docks and shipping facilities, the court house, postoffice, and the principal hotels, but while material Chicago had been destroyed its people remained, and with an unfaltering faith in the city's destiny they formed committees and were busy before the burning ruins had cooled with their plans for the rebuilding of a greater and better Chicago.

But where is there in Chicago even a humble monument to commemorate this event? Where is there a memorial to that indomitable spirit of our fathers, who laid the foundations of our present great city on the burning wreckage of the old? Other events have been recorded by monuments and tablets, such as the Fort Dearborn massacre monument, etc., but the great fire has received no recognition in a permanent way by either a monument or a tablet. It is a matter of record that the fire started in the lumber district of the west side, jumped to the south side, then passed north and west again to the river and to a point as far north as Fullerton avenue. The Chicago avenue waterworks marked approximately the central point of the conflagration, and I have before me a photograph of the waterworks taken just after the fire, showing that the entire structure was destroyed, with the single exception of the tower. That tower still stands practically as it stood in 1871, and I am of the opinion that it is today the only complete public building remaining in the city as it was at that time. It stands at the head of our new North Michigan boulevard, a prominent landmark, marking practically the central point of the fire.

Is it not fitting that this great event should be commemorated by some permanent memorial, and does it not appear that in this waterworks tower we have a ready built monument, a survivor and practically the only complete survivor of the event, already most appropriately and prominently placed? What more fitting monument could or should occupy this prominent position at the head of this great boulevard? Also, in thus definitely using the tower for a worthy purpose the possibility of its removal would be disposed of permanently, instead of becoming a matter of perpetual discussion and threat. The tower might be properly strengthened if necessary to preserve it and the idea in mind is that it be dedicated as a fire monument, and to build before it, or to one side, in the plaza that now surrounds the tower a small monument of suitable design, with a pedestal, on the four sides of which would be mounted bronze plates outlining for the benefit of future generations the story of the great fire in pictures and statistics.

I may add that this suggestion has been brought to the attention of the Chicago Historical society, and has been discussed with several prominent citizens, who have shown their interest and have expressed their approval of it.

HARWOOD FROST.

TO PROHIBITION'S CREDIT.

Chicago, July 24.—Prohibition, like other good things, has left a trail of sorrow in its wake. The possibility that youth, in its effort to show off, would take such open chances of ruining health and of flopping over the precipice of life by loading their growing systems with moonshine was not thought of. Outside of this there are no terrific calamaties. If matured men and women are willing to die a lingering early death, let them do it.

Before prohibition every home had to have a gun. Every sound after dark aroused immediate suspicion, which in too many cases was well founded. Many of our citizens were stunned with that midnight terror, and often murdered in their own home. Today those petty halfwits that plied the art of robbery are engaged in more profitable pursuits, such as selling bootleg to weak knees.

Let the bootleggers bootleg; let the snoopers chase them; let the saps support them; let the gangsters annihilate their competitors. While they are all thus busily engaged Mr. Citizen can clamber into his flivver and drive away to the forest preserve for a picnic while his windows at home are open. And when he returns after a complete and wholesome day he finds his home is there unmolested. And when the walls crack at midnight he grunts and turns over.

E. W. CORNELIUS.

THE SPEED OF INTERURBAN BUSSES.

Chicago, July 26.—Last Friday I had occasion to go to Hammond, Ind., and, on returning, took one of the busses that operate between Gary and Chicago. I was surprised at the speed attained on this trip. At one place it reached fifty miles an hour, and on rounding the corner at about 100th street and Ewing avenue, a fairly busy corner, the bus took the curve at forty miles an hour. Through the boulevards coming into town it seldom went less than thirty-five miles an hour on streets such as South Shore drive, through Jackson park, over the Midway, through Washington park and Grand boulevard and Michigan avenue.

If a private owner should run his car at any such speed, he would be stopped immediately, especially if he cut in and out of traffic as was done by the driver of this bus. Why not stop it before, and not after, some one is killed?

LEMONADE STANDS.

Chicago, July 27.—Have the sanitary inspectors of Evanston no better way of employing their time than keeping children from selling lemonade because of uncleanliness? Are there no dirty alleys, breeding places for flies and germs, that need cleaning? Are there no dirty restaurants and confectionery shops? Any one buying lemonade from a kid sees and realizes all the dirt included in his drink.

I'm not from Evanston and I haven't a child in the lemonade business, but I certainly think the wages paid inspectors ought to accomplish more than the closing of kids' stands.

PROFANING SOLDIERS' FIELD.

Highland Park, Ill., July 27.—As an ex-service man, disabled on the battlefields of France, I wish to protest against Jack Dempsey or any other prizefighter using Soldiers' field for a fight in order to make a few hundred thousand dollars.

Soldiers' field is dedicated to those who sacrificed their lives for their country to uphold its honor. To allow those to use it who fight for profit would be a sacrilege.

NOW WHERE WILL ROCHE'S $85,000 BOOZE BRIBE GO?

U.S. May Keep It; Bribers May Recover.

More than $85,000 paid as bribes in 1923 to Pat Roche, government sleuth of Chicago, is now locked up in a safety deposit box in New York and no part of it will be used to aid the Ohio gubernatorial candidacy of Roy A. Haynes, national prohibition commissioner, Roche said yesterday.

Publicity had been given the payment of the bribes in connection with the trial of Herman Goldman and Theodore Schwartzman, New York bootleggers. Both had testified that they had been approached for contributions to a Haynes' campaign fund and had paid $5,000 to this fund.

The two men, Goldman and Schwartzman, were acquitted last evening by the jury in the New York trial. To the jury the testimony of the two defendants—alleged bootleggers—outweighed that of the government investigators. The charge against them was paying bribes to a federal sleuth to obtain an alcohol permit for the Boston Chemical company.

A Homeless Bankroll.

According to lawyers versed in federal booze procedure, the alleged bootleggers may get their money back if they can prove they were entrapped and the bribes solicited. Otherwise the money will go to an auxiliary fund of the department of internal revenue—a sort of a homeless bankroll that was established when it became apparent that bribery was to play an important part in the administration of the Volstead act.

Roche, who testified as a witness at the trial on Monday in New York, had the following to say here yesterday:

"In August, 1923, I was assigned by Internal Revenue Commissioner David H. Blair to go east and investigate the New York and New Jersey prohibition units.

Hope to Recover Money.

"Under an assumed name I obtained a job as a dry agent in New York, and soon ran across the trail of an alcohol syndicate headed by Goldman and Schwartzman.

"I was touted to the syndicate as a crooked agent, who had some strong connections in Washington, where Goldman and Schwartzman were trying to get through some big alcohol permits. I took the $85,000 from them, got receipts for it, and ultimately turned it over to my superior officers in New York.

"Talk of a Haynes campaign fund is a pure fabrication through which Goldman and Schwartzman apparently are seeking to get back the $85,000 they paid."

"Lies," Says Merrick.

Roche said that money now is in the possession of Hugh McQuillan, head of the special intelligence unit in New York. He added that there never had been a time when Commissioner Blair and numerous other federal officials did not know of the payment of the money shortly after the bootleggers had been duped.

Capt. R. Q. Merrick, enforcement chief here, whose name was dragged into the case by Goldman, said he never had seen Goldman nor communicated with him about any governorship aspirations of Maj. Haynes. He characterized Goldman's statements as "common, ordinary lies" and a "desperate defense move." But the New York jury last night acquitted Goldman and his partner.

ROW OVER STYLE CLOSES REVILLE, LONDON DESIGNER

LONDON, July 28.—[U. N.]—Disagreement among its shareholders, some of whom claimed that it was creating "anti-modern" dresses for women, has caused Reville, Ltd., the dressmaking establishment to Queen Mary and many of the American women presented at recent royal courts, to close its doors. The fact that the house had made net profits since December indicating an annual net of $150,000 did not deter its owners from their decision.

Mr. Reville will take his designer and open a new establishment, the name of which has not been disclosed. Lively scenes marked the windup of business today at Reville's, where the fashionable women of London long have called in their motor cars and ordered expensive gowns.

Despite the fact that one of the Reville stockholders attacked the Reville designs as "anti-modern, too picturesque, and cloudlike," the patronage of the place never fell off. Headed by the queen and members of the Mountbatten family, Mayfair society has considered a gown bearing the label "Reville, Ltd., Hanover square," as being the last word in feminine apparel.

COOLIDGE ACTS AS INTERVIEWER OF EDSEL FORD

Gets Aviation Data and Farm Reports.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Paul Smiths, N. Y., July 28.—[Special.]—President Coolidge qualified today as the most proficient interviewer in these parts, where professional interviewers at this particular time are especially numerous.

The President asked Edsel Ford more questions than the newspaper reporters could think of and learned a lot of things, ranging from the state of business in various parts of the country to the future of aviation.

"Putting flying within the reach of every one is primarily a matter of solving the safety question," Mr. Ford told the President. "When it becomes as safe to fly as to motor, people will take to the air, and when people begin to take to the air mass production of airplanes will follow and the cost of airplanes will go down and eventually be brought within the reach of the average man's pocketbook, as has been the case with automobiles."

Visits Executive Office.

The young heir to the Ford business and millions accompanied the President to the executive office here this forenoon, and while Mr. Coolidge transacted official business Mr. Ford talked to the reporters.

To the reporters Mr. Ford repeated his opinion of yesterday that President Coolidge is as strong as ever with the people and that, if the country continues prosperous, there doubtless will be widespread popular demand that he be renominated.

"The country is in splendid condition," said Mr. Ford, "and credit for it is given generally to the President's sound economic policies.

"Business is extremely good with us. There have been one or two bad spots, which are now improving. One of them was the Pacific coast last year, but that section is now coming back to normal. We are selling more cars and tractors now than ever before throughout the west, except in Minnesota and North Dakota, which have been hit by drought."

Has Faith in Surveys.

Mr. Coolidge reposes great faith in the ability of the Fords to survey the economic state of the country through their thousands of agencies which make periodical reports to Detroit on crops and general business conditions.

The Ford report on conditions in the corn and wheat belts, with the exception of North Dakota and Minnesota, was at variance with the representations of farm organization leaders that the farmers generally are on the brink of ruin.

Discussing aviation, on which he gave his views to the President in detail, Mr. Ford said that "the immediate development will be commercial aviation. We have perfected a metal monoplane, driven by three motors and capable of carrying a load of one ton," he said.

"As commercial aviation develops, an aircraft industry will grow up that will be able to furnish military planes. Commercial aviation thereby will become an important aid to national defense. As far as general transportation is concerned, the airplane will be used for emergency purposes only. Railroads will remain the basic means of transportation. Aircraft simply will furnish an additional facility."

STEAMFITTERS' WAGE RAISED IN PACT FOR 1927

Wages for Chicago steamfitters on and after Jan. 1, 1927, will be $1.56¼ and hour, an increase of 6¼ cents, it was announced yesterday at union headquarters. The officials of the union, led by Charles Rau, business manager, have signed an agreement with the employers, which, in addition to the wage boost prohibits sympathetic strikes.

Right of striking to aid kindred unions of building workers has been a subject of contention for the last year between the Building Trades council and the Building Construction Employers' association. It nearly resulted in a general strike on June 1, and did materialize in strikes of both structural and ornamental iron workers.

The trades council is making the fight for the sympathetic strike clause so that all unions may function as a unit in an effort to place the so-called open shop trades back on their old basis of closed shop trades.

ARREST REVEALS DIVORCE FILED 30 DAYS AGO

Following the arrest in Evanston Monday night of Mrs. Jeanette Miller, 30 years old, 906 Dempster street, and David O. True, president of the La Salle street brokerage firm of True, Webber & Co., who were charged with disorderly conduct, it was revealed that Mrs. True filed suit for divorce a month ago, charging cruelty. Mrs. Miller's husband, who is vice president of the brokerage firm, caused the arrest.

Mrs. True, who lives at 34 South Parkside avenue, and was married on May 6, 1911, charged she was forced to leave her husband after he had "pinched her, pushed her around, and annoyed her finer instincts." Attorney Milford H. Olds filed the bill, which is still pending.

WIDOW SEIZED IN HALL-MILLS MURDER AFFAIR

Charged with Death of the Pastor.

has never really been given up as unsolvable.

The bodies of Mr. Hall and of Mrs. Mills were found lying side by side under a crabapple tree in a field across the Raritan river from New Brunswick early on the morning of Sept. 16, 1922. They had disappeared two days before. Each had been shot through the head. The minister had been shot twice through the back of the head and one bullet had been sent through Mrs. Mills' forehead.

The course of the bullets proved that it was a case of double murder and not one of murder and suicide. No weapon was found near the bodies. Scattered near by was a litter of papers which included three notes in a woman's handwriting, the contents of which indicated that the choir singer was in love with the minister.

Believe Murder Done Elsewhere.

A close examination of the ground where the bodies were found led police to believe that the crime had been committed elsewhere and that the bodies had been brought to the field and laid carefully side by side under the crabapple tree.

Dr. Hall and Mrs. Hall were well known. The clergyman occupied the pulpit of one of the wealthiest and most fashionable churches in New Brunswick. His wife had considerable money in her own right and was said to have inherited more than $1,700,000 a few years before the murder of her husband.

Mrs. Mills was in poor circumstances, her husband, James Mills, being employed as janitor of the church. She was young, pretty, and during the ten years that Dr. Hall had been rector she had been a member of the choir.

Rumors of a liaison between the clergyman and choir singer had been current for three years before the murder and it was said that Dr. Hall and his wife had had several violent quarrels over Mrs. Mills.

Elopement Hint in Letters.

Later a number of letters from Dr. Hall to Mrs. Mills were found in the Mills home. These were couched in endearing terms and made several references to an accustomed meeting place near the farm where the two were found murdered. The letters spoke of a proposed elopement.

During the first few months after the discovery of the bodies suspicion seemed to fasten on half a dozen different persons. Witnesses were found who had heard cries and pistol shots on the night of the murder, and Mrs. Hall was subjected to a prolonged questioning by officials in charge of the investigation.

Hundreds of persons were questioned and when the county prosecutors failed to unravel the mystery the state attorney general appointed a special investigator. His efforts, however, were just as futile as those of the county authorities.

LINCOLN PARK TRAFFIC IMPROVEMENTS TO BE READY NEXT WEEK

Two Lincoln park improvements which will relieve auto traffic and aid pedestrians are nearing completion and will be available for use within the next week, it was announced by Carlos Ames, secretary of the park board yesterday.

By Sunday it is expected that the pedestrian subway under Stockton drive at Center street will be far enough advanced so that pedestrians can use it. The drive over the subway will not be ready until about Aug. 15.

The commissioners hope to have the middle drive at North avenue, which has been widened from 31 to 45 feet, opened for traffic Aug. 8.

ALBANY PARK KIWANIS CLUB HONORS BEAUTY

The Albany Park Kiwanis club last night gave a banquet in honor of Miss Margaret Knight, 2608 Eastwood avenue, at the Terminal inn, Spaulding and Lawrence avenues. Miss Knight won the beauty contest held by the business men of the Albany Park district, in conjunction with the American Legion and several other organizations. She will compete for a chance to represent Chicago at the beauty contests to be held in Atlantic City.

A. H. Jensik, head of the business men's organization of Albany Park, presented Miss Knight with a loving cup at the banquet. The beauty winner is 17 years old and a strict vegetarian.

MOFFETT TO PAY FOR TELEGRAM ASSAILING CRITIC

Washington, D. C., July 28.—(AP)—Comptroller General McCarl has ruled that Rear Admiral Moffett, naval air chief, cannot use government money to pay for a $1.26 telegram to the American Legion Omaha convention assailing William Mitchell, former assistant army air chief. The telegrams read:

"Newspapers report American Legion convention will indorse the man who charged navy men were guilty of treasonable conduct. Is it possible that you and thousands of men who served with me at Great Lakes are going to allow this to be done?"

Wife Says Mother-in-Law Barred Her; Asks $50,000

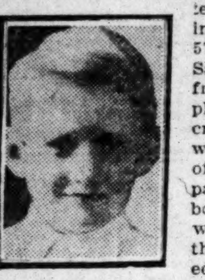
Charging that her mother-in-law had barred her from her home, Mrs. Josephine Thum yesterday filed suit for $50,000 damages for alienation of affections against Mrs. Catherine D. Thum, wholesale confectioner at 1013 West Harrison street. The younger Mrs. Thum, who is now living in Hayward, Wis., declared that her husband, George, loved her until his mother's interference caused him to leave her.

Widow, Two Daughters to Divide E. G. Bruse Estate

Mrs. Josephine L. Bruse, 1742 Chase avenue, and her two daughter, Edith and Edlyn, will divide the $140,000 estate left by Edward G. Bruse, real estate operator, according to the will filed yesterday. Mr. Bruse died June 14.

BOY, 6, CRUSHED TO DEATH UNDER TRUCK'S WHEELS

While watching the loading of a truck at 57th and La Salle streets yesterday, Orrin Huring, 6 years old, 5717 South La Salle street, fell from the loading platform and was crushed to death when the wheels of the truck passed over his body. The driver was unaware of the fall and started up before the boy could extricate himself.



ORRIN HURING.

Thomas Baldafare, 76 years old, 410 South 14th avenue, Maywood, was instantly killed when he attempted to cross 14th avenue at 4th street, Maywood, and was struck by an automobile. Raymond Brady, 604 South 14th avenue, the driver, was held by police.

The two deaths raised the Cook county motor toll since Jan. 1 to 473.

"Indian Joe" Huszar, Broadview chief of police, recently reported indicted for alleged speed trap activities against motorists in his district, was severely hurt when his motorcycle slipped in 22d street, Broadview, and he was thrown into a ditch. The street had been freshly oiled.

HELD IN $50,000 BONDS AS ROBBER.

Percy McGuinn, 32 years old, 4630 Langley avenue, was held to the grand jury in $50,000 bonds by Judge Joseph L. McCarthy yesterday on charges that he held up and robbed Charles W. Duffy of 8128 South Laflin street of $60 last Feb. 6.

BRITISH LABOR TRAINS ITS GUNS ON LLOYD GEORGE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 28.—The British Labor party, smarting from its defeat in the recent general strike, has framed a set of drastic resolutions for consideration at the twenty-sixth annual Labor party conference, which will be held in the town of Margate, near London, on Oct. 11 to 15.

The Holborn faction of the Labor party has determined on a concentrated attack against former Premier Lloyd George, Liberal leader, because of the growing movement for a merger of the Liberals and Laborites, with Lloyd George as the chief.

This action is believed to be inspired by Labor leaders who fear the dominant personality of Lloyd George would be likely to overshadow them completely if he should become the Liberal-Labor chief. In a "call to arms" against Lloyd George, the Laborites brand the Liberals as enemies of the workers in the class struggle.

The Labor conference will be petitioned to reaffirm the capital levy system as a plank in the party's program.

Another drastic move will be requested for the complete break with the British government's foreign policy. The radical Laborites will demand that the party undertake an open attack against the staff of the British foreign office.

ATTACK GERMANY IN COMMONS FOR DISARM FAILURE

Failed to Fulfill Promises, Says Report.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 28.—The house of commons today heard a detailed examination of Germany's "failure" to comply with the allies' disarmament regulations. Viscount Cecil and Commander O. Locker-Lampson carried on the explanation, enumerating technical points by which Germany is accused of failing to keep faith with its disarmament promises.

Under the heading of "war materials," it was said, the allied and German interpretations differ, especially regarding the export of certain machinery. It was said that there unquestionably is some instances of excess munitions and light armaments in certain German depots, but that these excesses should have been corrected by now.

German Police Excessive.

As far as the German police are concerned, the number still is said to be excessive by 6,000 men.

It was reported that the German government is supporting organizations, student clubs and secret societies which still are practicing forbidden military formations, which the government could prevent. On the subject of the Koenigsberg fortress, it is complained that mobile batteries are stationed there, and that infantry occupy trenches and concrete pits constructed outside the old fortress limits.

As far as the general staff is concerned, the report states that the number of regimental officers and junior noncommissioned officers still is disproportionately large for an army so small as the reichswehr. The report concludes by stating that the creation of such a large general staff tends to show an ambition for a larger army.

WORLD RACES TO ARM

GENEVA, July 28.—[U. N.]—Tomorrow, the twelfth anniversary of the firing of the first shot in the world war, finds Great Britain, France, and the United States, in the order named, spending the most per capita each year on preparations for future wars.

Great Britain leads the world powers in its average annual appropriations for armaments, statistics available at the league of nations show. Its average annual output, including military, naval and aerial budgets, is $573,000,000, or $12.96 per capita. France follows with an average annual expenditure of $255,000,000, or $6.43 per capita.

U. S. Spends $554,000,000.

The United States, spending an average of $554,000,000, or $4.94 per capita, ranks third.

Germany, which twelve years ago came to the support of Austria and opened the world struggle, now ranks next to last in armaments and is the only one of the central European powers mentioned. Germany is outranked by Italy, and Japan is spending only slightly more than Russia.

Russia in Sixth Place.

Italy, much discussed because of its alleged imperialistic designs, is spending on an average of $156,000,000 a year for armaments, or $3.86 per capita; Japan is ordering armaments and paying its military men $219,000,000, which represents $3.68 per capita in the overpopulated Japanese empire. Russia trails along in sixth place with expenditures of $191,000,000, or $1.45 per capita, while Germany's expenditures each year are set at $108,000,000, or $1.70 per capita.

LIQUOR NOT SOLD ON LEVIATHAN, STEWARDS SAY—BUT IT'S SERVED

New York, July 28.—(AP)—Liquor is not sold on the United States liner Leviathan, it was testified at a hearing instituted by officials of the line today, but it is carried on the ship in large quantities by passengers and is brought to table and carried about the dining room by ship's stewards.

The inquiry was begun by Thomas H. Rossbottom, general manager of the line, due to anonymous charges that liquor had been sold on the ship.

Capt. Hartley reported that no employé of the line was allowed to sell liquor and that if any were found doing so they were immediately thrown in the brig and discharged as soon as port was reached. He cited the cases of two men who were so treated.

Stewards testified that passengers returning to America often brought liquor aboard with them and were accustomed to bring the bottles to tables with them. It was said that often a passenger would pour out a drink and ask a steward to carry it to a friend at another table.

It was said that passengers were afraid to take any of the liquor not used on the trip ashore with them and that on one crossing some 500 bottles were found in the cabins after the passengers had gone ashore.

WE'VE THE GOODS, ASSERT PROBERS OF AIMEE'S STORY

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 28.—[Special.]—In the face of a bitter personal attack launched against them by Aimee Semple McPherson, Deputy District Attorney Joseph Ryan and City Detective Captain Herman Cline returned today from Carmel, Cal., where they investigated occurrences tending to challenge Mrs. McPherson's story of being abducted here last May 18 and help captive in Mexico until June 22.

Neither Ryan nor Cline answered the woman pastor's charges that they tried to "undermine my reputation instead of going after the persons guilty of a crime, the ones who kidnaped me for $500,000 ransom." They contented themselves with the statement, "We have the goods" They refused to comment on a report that Mr. Ryan had found a green bathing suit which is to be compared with witnesses' recollection of the green bathing suit in which Mrs. McPherson disappeared from the Ocean park beach on May 18.

Dig in Yard for Evidence.

The story of one person in Carmel started Ryan to digging in the yard of the Carmel bungalow occupied from May 19 to May 29 by "Mr. and Mrs. George McIntire." Whether the green suit was discovered buried in the yard could not be learned from Ryan.

The pair brought several written statements identifying Mrs. McIntire as Mrs. McPherson. Many statements identified "Mr. McIntire" as Kenneth G. Ormiston, who formerly was radio operator for the woman evangelist at Angelus temple.

Keyes to Enlighten Public.

District Attorney Asa Keyes of Los Angeles county announced: "I am going to inform the public in a statement just what our office has discovered in this McPherson investigation."

A signed statement issued by Mrs. McPherson declares the latest evidence which the authorities claim to have found was "framed." It says the authorities tried to trap the evangelist and that she refused to submit to an identity test and a fingerprint test because she knew of this trap. She also asserts that the officials are inspired by "religious prejudice" in their "persecution of an innocent woman."

DEATH TOLL FROM POISON ALCOHOL MOUNTS IN EAST

Buffalo, N. Y., July 28.—(AP)—Announcement by attorneys for James Voelker, alleged poison liquor distributor, that he would tell all he knows about the ramifications of the ring with which he did business featured developments today in the investigation into the poisonous alcohol situation here.

The death toll resulting from the sale of 3,500 gallons of bad alcohol said to have been shipped here from New York as pure grain alcohol has mounted to 31. The latest victims were reported dead in Jamestown, N. Y., and Toronto, Ont.

Voelker pleaded not guilty to a charge of murder. He was remanded to jail without bail.

Meanwhile authorities announced that they knew the identity of two "higher ups" in New York City from whom Voelker purchased the alcohol. They said arrests were expectd momentarily.

Thirty arrests have been made since the investigation got under way.

STONE CRUSHES AGED MAN.

Bedford, Ind., July 28.—[Special.]—John H. Sullivan, age 70, employed for many years at the Hoosier Stone mill here, was killed today when a large slab of stone fell upon him.

MUNCIE EDITOR AGAIN ARRESTED ON LIBEL CHARGE

Muncie, Ind., July 28.—[Special.]—Accused of criminal libel for the publication of an article in his weekly paper, the Muncie Post-Democrat, last Dec. 10, George R. Dale, editor, was arrested today. He was released under bond of $2,000 furnished by friends.

Dale has received notoriety in abundance since Chicago men came to his rescue a few weeks ago and supplied him with funds sufficient to appeal his now famous "truth is no defense" case to the United States Supreme court.

In the charges brought today by Raymond Warner, Dale is accused of having criminally libeled Warner.

Warner served on a jury that held Dale guilty last December of carrying concealed weapons after he had been assaulted by masked bandits, presumably Ku Klux Klan sympathizers. Dale, in detailing the account of his trial, referred to Warner as having been "mixed up once in an automobile stealing scrape and in liquor transactions, but his pull with the klan gang in power protected him from prosecution."

Clicquot Club Golden GINGER ALE
Clicquot Club Pale Dry GINGER ALE

TO THE PROUD HOSTESS

You take pride in the food you serve your family and guests, but what do you do for their thirst? In every modern home Clicquot Club is almost as necessary in the ice-box as ice . . .

When you order Clicquot Club no other drink can be substituted for it—because the name "Clicquot Club" is blown in the bottle itself; because the trade mark is on the bottle cap; because the bottle is distinctive in shape and, most important, because the contents are impossible of imitation.

ARE you hostess to your family's thirst as well as to their hunger? When the ones you love come thirsting home, is there nothing but water for their parched, dry throats? Or do they find sparkling Clicquot, cooling on the ice—a symbol of your thoughtfulness?

Modern mothers by the thousands keep Clicquot Club always on hand. It is one drink that pleases the thirst of the entire family—from the critical thirst of husbands to the impatient thirst of children. Since it was first made more than forty years ago, Clicquot Club Ginger Ale has delighted more people than any other beverage ever bottled.

They all like it! And, happily, it is good for them. Let them have it as cold as ice—even on the hottest day. It cannot chill their precious stomachs, thanks to the gentle touch of ginger. Clicquot Club Ginger Ale is as pure and wholesome as if you made it yourself. The ginger is the best Jamaica ginger root it is possible to buy. The fruit flavor is from the finest limes and lemons of California and the Mediterranean. And remember, there is no city water in Clicquot Club! Every last ounce of it comes from deep down in the famous Clicquot Club springs, far from city smoke and soot.

In your own home, know the pride and pleasure that come from serving tempting drink as well as pleasing food. Order a case—24 bottles—of Clicquot Club Ginger Ale from your grocer today. Or you can get it by the bottle, ice-cold, from the drug store. The Clicquot Club Company, Millis, Massachusetts.

More for your money

Clicquot Club is the best ginger ale that money can buy—and you get more ginger ale for your money. Each generous bottle contains a full pint—one third more than most other ginger ales.

Two flavors

Clicquot Club Ginger Ale comes in two flavors: the "Pale Dry," delicate, subtle as old wine; and the zestful, refreshing "Golden," America's favorite for forty-odd years.

Emily Post

Whose book "Etiquette" is the unquestioned authority on table appointments, says "I think Clicquot Club Pale Dry is much the nicest ginger ale I have ever tasted. It is attractive in color, tempting, and delicious in flavor. In fact, it seems to complete the hospitable effect of a perfectly appointed table."

ASK CANADA TO STOP ST. CLAIR SAND DREDGING

U. S. Requests Dominion Co-operation.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 28.—[Special.]—Sand dredged by Canadian commercial concerns from the channels in the headwaters of the St. Clair river at the outlet of Lake Huron is one of the important contributing causes for the prevalent low lake levels in the harbors of Lakes Michigan and Erie, it was revealed today.

In a note sent to the Canadian government by the state department, the Dominion authorities are asked to cooperate with this government in stopping all sand dredging operations in the interconnecting channels of the great lakes which interfere with lake navigation by lowering lake levels.

The attention of the Canadian government is called to the fact that the dredging of sand from the Canadian side of the St. Clair river has resulted in increased dimensions in the outlet channel and lowered lake levels. It was suggested that Canada stop dredging in the St. Clair river where it would affect lake levels.

U. S. Stops Dredging.

While state department officials refused comment it is understood that the Canadian firms have discontinued dredging operations. Dredging which has been conducted by American firms in the Niagara river to the detriment of Lake Erie levels and indirectly to the levels of Lakes Huron and Michigan have been stopped by this government.

In its communication it is understood the state department pointed out that dredging along the boundary waters has resulted in lowered great lakes levels. As this dredging was interfering with navigation, this government informed Canada that we would stop all dredging in the Niagara river which interfered with the levels of Lake Erie. At the same time it was proposed that a uniform policy be adopted by both governments to restrict dredging to places in the connecting channels where it did not affect lake levels.

Plan Restrictive Measures.

Sand dredging operations in the Niagara river by American concerns are understood to have caused lower levels below Lake Erie. Dredging operations have been carried on at other points along the Canadian-American boundary and efforts are being made by American government officials to have all these operations on the American side restricted to points where damage will not be done to lake levels.

Studies made by the lake survey section of the corps of engineers of the army have disclosed that increasing the dimensions of the channels of the St. Clair and Detroit rivers has caused a lowering of levels in Lakes Huron and Michigan. While army engineers would not set any figure, it is understood that the increased outflow from Lake Huron has decreased Lakes Michigan and Huron by at least five inches. It is reported that a large portion of this lowering is due to sand dredging operations and the subsequent scouring out of the channel at the Lake Huron end in high water seasons.

All the causes of lowered lake levels are now being studied by the joint American-Canadian engineering board now studying the St. Lawrence waterway.

SLAIN EDITOR'S FAMILY VICTIMS OF GAS ATTACK

Police Are Perplexed by Episode.

Canton, O., July 28.—(AP)—A mysterious gas attack of no serious consequences on the members of the family of Don R. Mellett, slain Canton publisher tonight, was perplexing investigators delving into the assassination of Mellett July 16.

The widow of Mellett and their four children, and Mrs. Lloyd Mellett, wife of the dead man's brother, became ill from an obnoxious gas which enveloped the front porch of the Don Mellett home.

Two members of the Canton police force at the home also detected the gas which they described as having a sickly sweet odor. No evidence of a bomb or container which might have been broken were found in the vicinity.

Postal Inspector in Case.

The federal postal department actively entered into the murder investigation today with the arrival here of A. P. Owen, postal inspector from Cleveland. Owen late in the day said he was working on the case, but would not make public his discoveries. His presence is accounted for by the number of threatening and warning letters which investigators and private citizens have received.

Seek Three Greeks.

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 28.—(AP)—The Pittsburgh angle to the Mellett murder investigation came into prominence again today, but tonight nothing of a definite nature had developed.

Following announcement by Lieut. Peter Connors, head of the homicide squad of Pittsburgh police, that he was seeking "three Greeks" in connection with the case, George Psilias, alias "George the Greek," previously arrested and questioned, but released on a writ of habeas corpus, appeared at detective headquarters and asked if he was wanted. He was informed that he was not.

Later in the day Samuel Rosenberg, Psilias' attorney, caused his client to be committed to the county jail, declaring he feared Psilias would be "kidnaped by private detectives." Psilias was locked up after his bondsman had withdrawn $3 000 bond posted recently to secure his release on a cutting charge.

TRACT AT NILES CENTER FETCHES $9,000 AN ACRE

BY AL CHASE.

Although a large part of the city's realtors and their Boswells spent the day yesterday cavorting around the beautiful grounds of Mooseheart on the occasion of the annual outing of the Chicago Real Estate board, a number of important real estate transactions were reported, especially in the acreage department.

In one deal the Metropolitan Realty company purchased fifteen acres at Main street and Central Park avenue, in the Niles Center district, from Ray P. Tennes, son of Mont Tennes, a gentleman renowned for his facile way of handling cards. The price paid for this tract was a reported $135,000, or at the rate of $9,000 an acre.

Another 12 Acres.

It is stated that this tract originally was looked upon as a possible site for the World's fair, but the plan went amiss and the great event went to the south side. In the present deal O. Rayburn represented the seller and William Eichenbaum the buyers. Timothy Fell was attorney for Mr. Tennes and Albert Sabath represented the buyers.

This tract, along with twelve acres purchased by the Metropolitan Realty company from Henrietta Fishleigh, told about in these columns last Sunday, will be subdivided. These properties will be restricted to apartment buildings. The purchase price for the twenty-seven acres was a reported $225,000.

In another deal Henry K. Turnbull of Lake Forest, president of the Potts-Turnbull Advertising company, bought the remaining vacant acreage at the intersection of Deerpath avenue and Telegraph road, in Lake Forest. The tract consists of twenty-eight acres and the price was a reported $155,000.

Near Mellody Farm.

The property is just across the street from J. Ogden Armour's estate, "Mellody Farm," and also from the estate of B. L. Behr. It is to be developed as a restricted residential property to be known as "Deerpath Hill Estates."

The Phillip State bank as trustee has sold to Mrs. Julia B. Zimmerman of Urbana, Ill., the thirty-one apartment building at 6811-19 Lakewood avenue for a reported price of $215,000, subject to $145,000. Theodore F. Kilburg of the Rogers Park Realty company represented all parties as brokers.

I. Newton Perry sold for an undisclosed consideration the three story residence at the northeast corner of Astor street and Burton place to Charles Netcher. The lot is 57x105 feet. Mr. Strobel of Paul Steinbrecher & Co. represented all parties.

MUZZLES IN FASHION FOR CITY DOGS NOW, POLICE WARN OWNERS

Muzzle your dog or keep him tied up at home if you don't want to be arrested and fined. This warning was sounded by Health Commissioner Herman N. Bundesen and officials of the police department yesterday.

The campaign for stiffer enforcement of the muzzling law was started following the passage of a resolution by the city council last week, setting forth the dangers of hydrophobia and the constantly increasing number of persons attacked by dogs.

In 1920, according to the resolution, 1,927 persons were bitten; 1,961 in 1921; 2,044 in 1922; 2,540 in 1923; 2,807 in 1924; 3,391 in 1925, and 1,620 the first half of 1926.

"If you are bitten by a dog, keep cool," was the advice of Dr. Bundesen. "Don't kill the dog. Report it to the police. The health department will watch the animal and if rabies develop anti-toxin can be given in plenty of time."

Eighty-nine dogs thought to have had hydrophobia have been examined by health officers since Jan. 1. Seven were found to react positively to the tests.

BUS OPERATORS CLAIM IT'S AUTOS THAT HURT R. R.'S

Private Owned Motors Cut Into Business.

Representatives of motor transportation agencies testified here yesterday before the interstate commerce commission that it is the privately owned automobile which is cutting deeply into the passenger revenues of the railroads of the country and not the operation of motor busses and trucks.

Today's hearing before the commission, represented by Commissioner John Esch and Examiner Leo J. Flynn, which is slated to hold fact finding sessions in twelve other cities after concluding here this afternoon, will be given over to witnesses for shippers and general public. On Tuesday, the opening day of the series of hearings, railroad representatives were heard.

Railroads Complain.

It was announced that the evidence gathered by the commerce commission will be used by congress in drafting a law to govern the competition between the railroads and motor busses and trucks. The railroads have been complaining for the last two years that their business has decreased with the increase of motor trucks and busses, and especially so with privately owned automobiles.

Several witnesses for the established motor carriers testified that the competition of the motor busses and trucks in short hauls of passengers and freight is made more acute by "wild cat" motor companies. These were termed irresponsible financially, operated without any fixed rates, and in general were a detriment to the transportation business.

Not in Competition.

However, the general opinion expressed by representatives of the trucking and bus interests was that interstate regulation was undesirable. In the main it was denied that the motor industry and the railroads are in direct competition. The principal advantage of motor transportation over rail was declared to be the flexibility of the service, as motor vehicles can go anywhere at any time. The economic advantage of the motor truck or bus on short hauls was also stressed.

Chester G. Moore, executive vice president of the Illinois Motor Transportation association, stated that while the loss of revenue by railroads from 1920 to 1925 exceeded $9,000,000, the interstate busses received only 20 per cent of that loss.

Motor Develops Kentucky.

H. T. Kelting of Louisville, president of the Motor Truck company of Kentucky, pleaded that federal regulation at this time would strangle a growing industry. He testified that unregulated trucking priveleges had done more to develop rural Kentucky than any other factor.

R. C. Kunz, representing the Gray Line Motor Tourist company of Illinois, said he believed federal regulation is bound to come, and said his company was in readiness for any reasonable regulation.

August Geweke, president of the Cook County Truck Gardners' association, told of the savings in handling produce and poultry by motor trucks.

From Chicago the commerce commissioner and examiner will go to St. Paul for further hearings.

Arbitration Discussed by L Unions and Company

Union officials of the Chicago Rapid Transit company's trainmen and shopmen held a conference yesterday with company officials on the demand of the employés for a 5 cent an hour wage increase and insurance provisions. John J. Bruce, union president, spoke for the employés. The meeting was primarily for the purpose of discussing a plan of arbitration. The company submitted its idea, which was taken under consideration by the union leaders. Another meeting will be held tomorrow.

SPECIALVILLE AND NILES NEXT IN SPEED QUIZ

Return Indictments Tomorrow.

While indictments charging conspiracy and assault against operators of the Markham and Broadview speed traps were being prepared by Assistant State's Attorneys Marshall and Fairbank for their return before Chief Justice Lynch on Friday, Charles J. Mueller of the prosecutor's office turned his investigation batteries on Specialville and Niles yesterday as the next step in the speed trap crusade.

Subpœnas were issued for Charles Thompson, clerk of the village of Specialville, another of the Western avenue spots noted for years as a hard place to pass; for Frank J. O'Connor, chief of police of the village, and for Charles Rajsl, police magistrate.

Must Bring In Records.

They were directed to bring in all of their documents. O'Connor, according to the prosecutor, notified the state's attorneys offices that police records of the village up to June 1 had been destroyed and could not be examined. Mueller declared yesterday that the reason for this action will be demanded and officials held accountable for any irregularities in the keeping of dockets.

Under the direction of Joseph H. Braun of the Chicago Motor club, questionnaires were mailed to all motorists shown as arrested in Niles. They will be checked against motorist complaints and witnesses called in to give grand jury testimony.

Speed Trap Bureau.

Braun announced that the club has established a permanent bureau of inquiry to keep a constant check on all village vehicle law enforcement. Thirty-nine branch offices of the bureau, manned by motor club attorneys will operate in the counties of Illinois, Indiana, and Wisconsin where the organization operates.

ART SHOP WOMAN SUICIDE CALLED $100,000 FORGER

Baltimore, Md., July 28.—[Special.]—Mrs. Alice M. Miller, who July 1 ended her life by leaping from a hospital fourth story window, had, it is alleged, obtained $100,000 in this city by forgeries, according to papers on file in court here and information in the hands of the state's attorney.

Mrs. Miller conducted an art shop in the heart of the fashionable shopping district.

She cabled large sums of money from Baltimore to a foreign city. One banker estimates she sent out $350,000. Other financial men say the amount may be $600,000. She maintained a number of accounts under fictitious names, according to an attorney.

In several cases, according to papers filed in court, the names of Baltimoreans were forged not to one note merely but to several. The persons whose names were forged knew nothing about them until informed of the circumstances.

DESPONDENT, KILLS HIMSELF.

Despondent because of financial troubles, Howard Wend, 50, 4536 Ellis avenue, committed suicide early yesterday with a gun. His wife said he had been acting strangely for several days. He was employed by the Hilgard Lumber company, 322 South Michigan avenue.

PANAMA CANAL CALLED BAR TO WEST EXPANSION

Waterway Development Is Now Live Issue.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Omaha, Neb., July 28.—[Special.]—Throughout the middle west one finds farmers and business men in the cities and villages talking of the injurious effect Panama canal competition is exerting upon industrial development in midcontinent. The opening of the canal has brought the Atlantic and Pacific coasts together, isolating the Mississippi valley industries, and it has led to a movement for changes in the rail rate making structure, relative to the long and short haul question.

Likewise, waterway development is becoming a living issue in these parts, and both agriculture and industry are evincing interest in the lakes to the gulf project, the St. Lawrence seaway, and the entire system outlined by Secretary Hoover.

Improvement of the upper Missouri, is what they throw most emphasis upon in the Omaha-Sioux City region. Being the home stream, it gets first place locally, but with it goes an increasing demand for the two projects to connect the great lakes with the Gulf of Mexico and with the Atlantic.

Industry Development Is Needed.

From all appearances, the recent fight which led to the defeat of the Gooding bill, which would have had hog tied the central west, has been of noticeable value in educating the producers on the transportation situation. One finds them talking about it now where in other years they registered indifference.

One striking need of agriculture in the Mississippi valley is development of industries. But the Panama canal has caused manufacturing in many lines to languish. Denver, at the foot of the Rockies, is farther way, in freight rates, from the Atlantic than is San Francisco and farther from the Pacific than is New York.

A brief prepared in Omaha by the Missouri River Navigation association surveying the situation says factories are leaving the upper Missouri river territory and are moving closer to the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, closer to more congested population and where cheap rail and water rates are available. The farmer is thus being moved farther and farther from the consumers of his products and farther from the factories that supply the goods he buys.

Argentine Competition Listed.

It is pointed out that the rate on wheat from Nebraska and Kansas to New Orleans, all rail, is 30½ cents a hundred pounds, while the rate by rail to St. Louis and by barge to New Orleans is 5½ cents less, a saving of some three cents a bushel.

The rate on flour from Seattle to New York by way of the Panama canal is 35 cents a hundred pounds, while the domestic rate from Minneapolis to New York is 43½ cents. The rate on canned goods from California to Chicago by rail is given as $1.05, while the canal rate from the Pacific coast to New York is 40 cents.

Thus, New York jobbers are selling California goods as far west as Hammond, Ind., a few miles from Chicago, which means something to the entire middle west.

Argentine competition is also heard in the street talks. The average distance from the Nebraska wheat grower to the seaboard is nearly 1,500 miles, while the average rail haul on Argentine wheat is given as only 150 miles. That's why Buenos Aires could market corn in New York, 6,700 miles away, in the period a few years ago when midwest farmers were talking of using theirs for fuel.

They point out that in 1923 Argentine wheat paid less by 11.8 cents a bushel for a haul of 7,346 miles to Liverpool than Nebraska and Kansas paid for less than a 6,000 mile haul to the same port. And as against that rail and water rate of 25 cents from the Missouri river to New Orleans, less than 1,500 miles, they display an ocean rate from Australia to Liverpool, 12,700 miles, of less than 20 cents. It's all hammering home the need for the proposed waterway routes.

BURGLARS GET $2,000.

Burglars smashed the front door of the Elite Dress shop early yesterday morning and escaped with $2,000 worth of silk dresses, aprons, and a fur coat. Benjamin Caplan, the proprietor, 1240 Central avenue, Winnetka, discovered the theft when he came to open the shop. He notified the Warren avenue police.

MANUFACTURERS OPEN FIGHT ON TAX AMENDMENT

The Illinois Manufacturers' association has opened a fight on the proposed revenue amendment to the state constitution which will be submitted to the people in November. In a circular sent out to its 3,000 members the association condemns the amendment as "utterly bad," because it will "give the legislature, in addition to its present taxing powers, authority to enact an unlimited income tax statute and will work to the disadvantage of manufacturers in many other ways." An opinion by Colin C. H. Fyffe, general counsel for the association, says: "Corporations such as those which compose mainly the membership of the Illinois Manufacturers' association might be taxed out of existence." John M. Glenn, secretary of the association, called on all manufacturers to join in an active campaign against the proposed amendment. Briefly, the amendment gives the legislature elastic powers to pass tax legislation by a three-fifth vote of both houses and to classify property for taxing purposes.

again in June first on weekdays in national advertising

In the month of March, 1926, the New York Herald Tribune took first position on weekdays in total volume of National Advertising among New York morning newspapers.

The Herald Tribune held this position as well for the months of April and May, as announced last month.

And again in the month of June, the New York Herald Tribune carried more National Advertising on weekdays than any other morning newspaper in the World's Greatest Market.

This supremacy in National Advertising indicates the ever-increasing recognition by advertisers of the unexcelled responsiveness of Herald Tribune readers.

LEADING!
Of a hundred and thirty-two newspapers published in the thirty principal American cities, the New York Herald Tribune made the greatest gain in advertising lineage during the first six months of 1926.

TRIP IN FILIPINO SHIP WORRIES COOLIDGE ENVOY

Thompson Fears He's Now Islanders' Debtor.

BY PARKE BROWN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MANILA, P. I., July 28.—Col. Carmi Thompson, who is making a survey of the Philippine islands for President Coolidge, was embarrassed on his return to Manila today at the end of his first steamer trip among the islands by his discovery that the vessel on which he had been traveling for five days had been provided by the Philippine government.

Until approaching the port and when the time came to settle incidental expenses it had been presumed that the ship, Bustamante, had been furnished by Gov. Gen. Wood's department of the government. It was offered as a substitute for the governor general's yacht Apo, which was too small to accommodate the party.

Fears He's Obligated Now.

That the native officials were permitted to provide extraordinary transportation and equipment thus is felt embarrassing because of the operation of the oriental mind. It is thought certain that some leaders will consider it an obligation and if Col. Thompson's report is not pleasing will not hesitate to attack it on the ground that an unnecessary expense was saddled on the already overburdened natives.

The primary cause of the difficulty was the failure of congress to make an appropriation for Col. Thompson's survey, but it is understood that Gov. Gen. Wood sent an executive of the government to the islands to provide all facilities possible to aid the inquiry. There is no criticism of the response to his request except that Col. Thompson would have refused to travel on the Bustamante if he had known that the Filipinos bore any part of the expense.

It is probable that Col. Thompson will pay his share of the expense, the representatives of Gov. Gen. Wood's staff theirs, and the correspondents their pro-rata share. The bill probably will not exceed $1,000.

The next few days will be spent on a motor trip around the island of Luzon. Tomorrow we will visit Batangas, capital of the province of the same time.

Porto Ricans Grumble.

San Juan, Porto Rico, July 28.—(AP)—Gov. Towner has vetoed a bill providing for a commisison to report to the governor on all tax laws, general assessment, reorganization of municipalities, revision of school laws, and reduction in the bonded indebtedness of the island. The legislature already has the machinery to carry out the work, Gov. Towner said.

Commenting on the 28th aniversary of the landing of American troops in Porto Rico, on July 25, 1898, the newspapers say the hopes and aspirations awakened by the coming of the Americans have not been realized, although the faith of the people in the ultimate justice has not been shaken.

HOLD UNION MEN FOR BREAKING LABOR CONTRACT

Indianapolis, Ind., July 28.—(AP)—Federal Judge Robert T. Baltzell late today found Robert B. Armstrong and John M. Parker, street car union officials, guilty of contempt of court and held them without bond. The two men, who are vice presidents of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employés, were charged with violating a federal injunction by having influenced employés of the Indianapolis street railway to break their labor contract by going on strike July 5.

New York Jails Drunken Driver Under Its New Law

New York, July 28.—(AP)—A sentence of six months to three years today was imposed upon the first drunken automobile driver to be tried under the section of a new state law which takes out of traffic courts the trials of second offenders. It was testified that Lionel Webber had endangered the lives of school children by reckless driving. Judge McIntyre branded Webber a "potential assassin."

HENRY R. RATHBONE, congressman at large from Illinois, will speak on "Radio Legislation" this evening at 6:47 o'clock on W-G-N, the CHICAGO TRIBUNE station on the Drake hotel. This talk will be particularly interesting owing to the unsettled conditions in radio at the present time. Congressman Rathbone is to discuss some of the radio bills proposed in congress.

The program will continue until 2:30 o'clock.

Pattison Coates, baritone, is to give his daily recital at 4:10 p. m. His program will consist of German songs, among them, "I'll Not Complain," by Schumann; "Ye Who Have Yearned Alone," by Tschaikowsky; and "Out of My Heart's Great Sadness," by Franz.

POLICEMAN IS INDICTED; WOMAN CHARGES ATTACK

Policeman James Magee, 27 years old, 3821 South Rockwell street, was named in a true bill voted by the grand jury yesterday charging him with an attempted attack on Mrs. Geraldine Oakes, 29, of 2841 West 39th place.

Mrs. Oakes told the grand jury that on June 9 she was on her way home late at night when three uniformed policemen offered her a ride after she had alighted from a street car. She told Assistant State's Attorney Leroy F. Fairbank that she thought the conveyance to be a regular police fliver and for that reason accepted the invitation.

Robert Lincoln's Funeral in Shadow of Vermont Hills

Manchester, Vt., July 28.—(AP)—Final rites for Robert Todd Lincoln, son of President Lincoln, were held today in the shadow of the Vermont hills he had come to call home. Extreme simplicity marked the brief services at Hildene, where the former war secretary and minister to Great Britain had sought rest and recreation in the last quarter of a century. He died there Monday.

VETERAN POILUS LAMENT DAMAGE TO U. S. STATUE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, July 28.—A delegation of the Associated Groups of French Veterans called on the American minister, Myron T. Herrick, today and expressed sorrow at the mutilation of the American volunteers memorial by a Russian, named Jarovenko, yesterday.

"It is not necessary for the committee to disavow the action of the madman, who, anyway, was not a Frenchman, but we come to reaffirm the fraternal friendship for American veterans and our inalienable sympathy with the great people of the United States," the delegation said.

The Association of American Volunteers today placed a wreath on the statue.

Wot a Night! Elmer Sighs; Wot a Night!

Hears Two New Stations; One's Good, One's Bad.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

Wot a night! (for this listener).

At 5:30 I found a low wave length Chicago station giving call letters WKBA, hitherto unheard and unheard of. This appeared like good news, but the announcer began reading a long list of request names, with their addresses. Hence I have no further news nor curiosity about station WKBA.

At 7:30, the dedicatory program of station WMBI, the Moody Bible institute. The tone of this new station is remarkably pure. Piano, instrumental, vocal, and voice tones seem to be transmitted with the last degree of technical perfection. The musical program was high class in every sense of the word.

Unforunately, this station's dial marking is not far below that of W-G-N and WLIB, and comes pretty close to blanketing these stations. It completely blankets WORD and WSWS.

◆

Of all the programs heard in the mixup last evening, I consider the half hour program by the Troubadours' orchestra, WLIB from New York, 8 to 8:30, by far the best from a sheer enjoyment standpoint. It was peppy, but thoroughly musical.

The intermittent numbers from the Columbus park band concert, through WLS, did not appear to have the usual outdoor airiness and cheerfulness last evening.

There was a strictly classical program by the Whitney instrumental trio, WMAQ, 8:30, but this column is not Corinthian, Gothic, or Ionic this morning.

Our new WCFL station, out on the Municipal pier, made their second evening's getaway in creditable style. The program seemed an improvement over that of the opening night.

Hunt Boy Scout, 14, Who Left Home After Scolding

Shakespeare avenue police last night were asked to help find 14 year old Eugene McCarthy Jr., who left his home at 2444 North Mozart avenue last Friday, after he had been scolded for dropping his sister's dress in the mud while returning with it from a neighboring tailor's. His parents told the police the boy came back Monday and donned his boy scout uniform while none of the family was there.

These Home Owners Know why Oil-O-Matic is the leader!

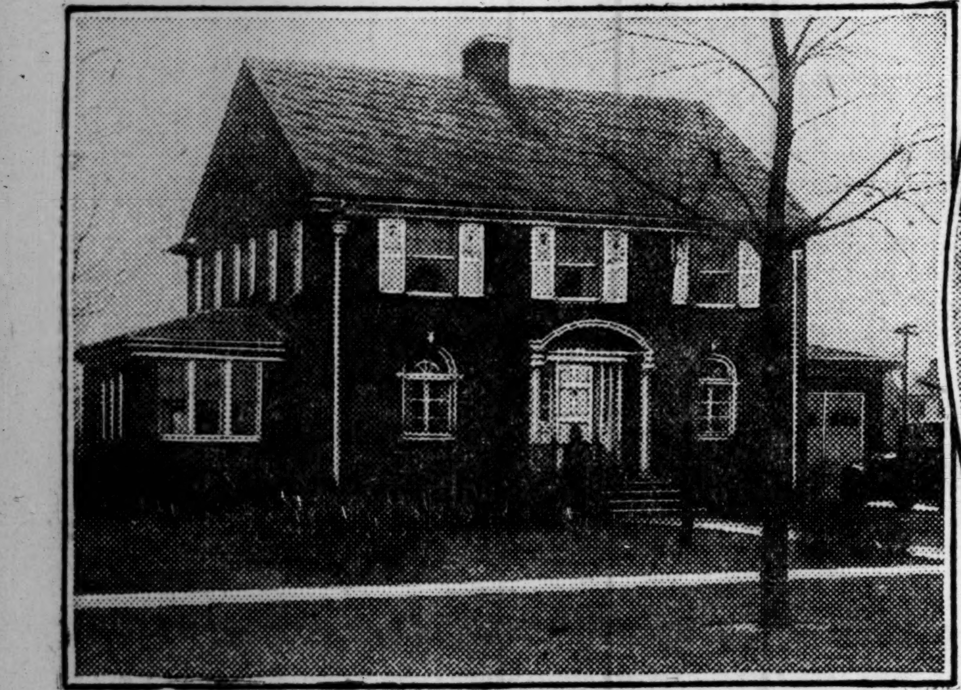
LET users tell you the oilomatic story. Home owners who speak from several years of experience. Then you will understand their unbounded enthusiasm. And why they recommend so strongly that you choose the same burner.

Here are stories that are typical of thousands of users. Of women who don't know how they could get along without it. Of men who revel in the relief from the furnace. Of families that now, for the first time, enjoy real comfort in every room of the house throughout the winter.

Theirs is the story of oil heat as you would like to know it in your own home. It is the reason for Oil-O-Matic's leadership the world over.



In This Home Oilomatic Heat Costs Less Than Coal

"From October, 1924, to June, 1925, we used 2016 gallons of fuel oil at an average cost of 6½ cents per gallon. Our actual fuel oil cost for those 8 months was $132.56. From October, 1925 to June, 1926, our oil bill was $155.50. Before our Oil-O-Matic was installed our coal bill was materially higher. Our boiler heats eight rooms and the garage as well."

W. L. Claffey, 2914 Lincoln St., Evanston

(In Oval)

Never Could Heat House Comfortably Before

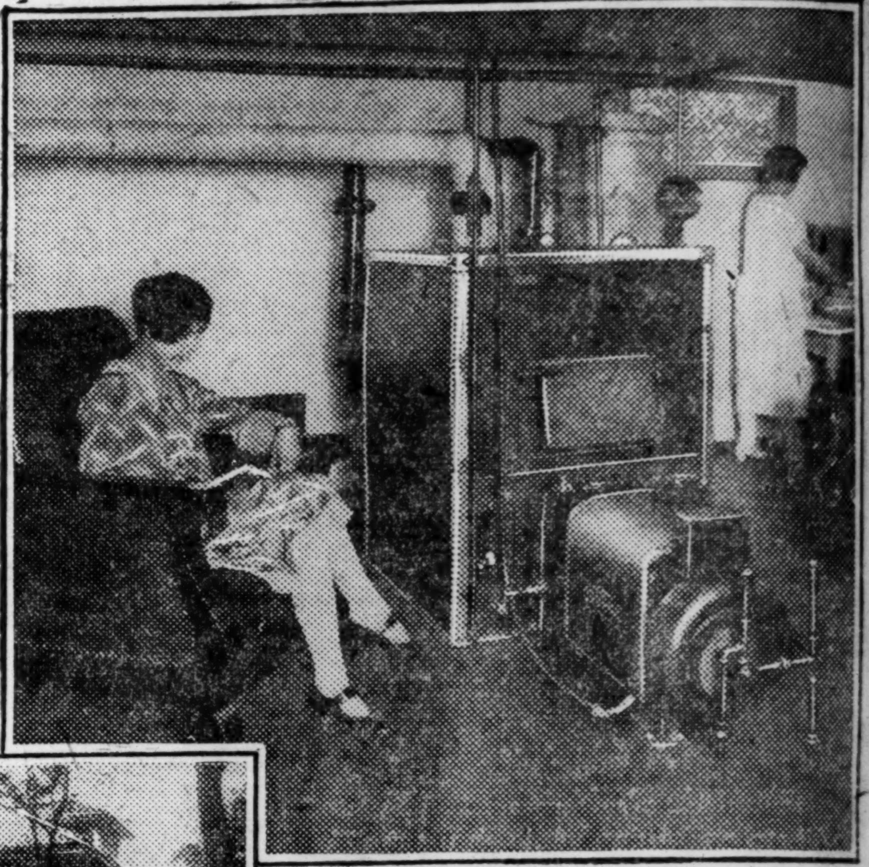
"No amount of forced firing could get our home comfortable before noon, even with some of the rooms shut off. Now even in the bitterest weather, our 16 x 24 glazed solarium is delightfully pleasant. Delicate plants thrive all winter. Without any change in the heating plant we keep our 15 rooms comfortable for less money than formerly."

J. H. Weddell,
834 Sheridan Road, Glencoe

First Burner Sells Second

"We were so pleased with our installation in our 10 room house that we had another Oil-O-Matic installed in the garage which is fitted up with chauffeurs' quarters. With more heat, our operating costs have been slightly less than with coal."

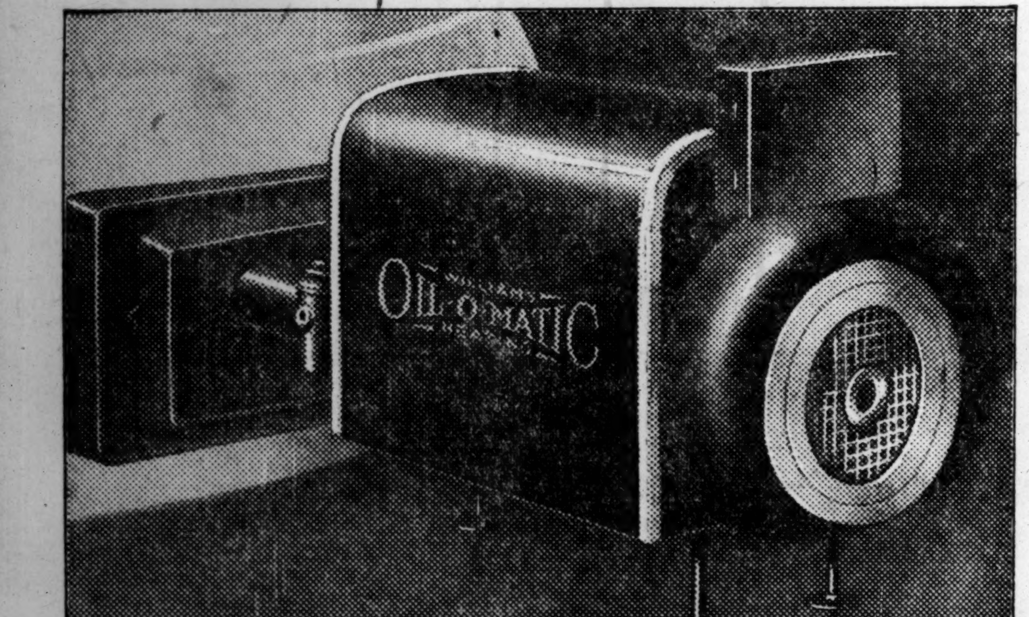
Wm. F. Chiniquy, 288 Augusta St., River Forest



Lifts Basement Out of Cellar Class

"We are very pleased after two years' experience with our Oil-O-Matic. It costs us less than coal, we enjoy absolute comfort and it is so clean that we often use the basement for parties, dances and lounging. No home is complete without oilomatic heat."

J. S. Hovland, 1628 Kenilworth Ave., Rogers Park
Subdivider of Del-Mar Woods



You Can't Hire a Man to Do for You What Oil-O-Matic Does

Oil-O-Matic replaces coal with cheap Fuel Oil and feeds it automatically to your present furnace or boiler. It regulates its own draft. It starts and stops itself. It maintains a constant, uniform temperature. It supplies heat only when needed, but always then!

Salesmen will find in Oil-O-Matic a splendid opportunity to establish themselves in a business with an unlimited future. High grade men eager to associate themselves with the leader in the industry will be given definite territory to develop and retain as their own. For full details, see Mr. Rennerd, 185 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Illinois.

Install Now and Live in Comfort

FOR seven years Oil-O-Matic has shown how perfect oil heat can be. Today it is the largest selling oil burner in the world. And not one change has ever been made in its fundamental principles.

Oil-O-Matic was the first domestic burner built to burn cheap Fuel Oil as well as any of the lighter grades. This is significant. Fuel Oil costs less and contains more heat units. Its supply is assured.

Being the first, it has many advantages. Any grade of domestic oil may be used efficiently. No part is inside firebox. There's no continuous pilot light. Its combustion chamber is built to order for your particular heating plant. Nothing can work unless everything is working right.

Your local oilomatician is a graduate of the Williams Institute of Heat Research, trained in all phases of oil heat. He has the facilities, organization and financial resources to assure you complete satisfaction. Immediate installation protects you against unseasonable weather in the early fall and relieves you of all care of your heating plant for the years that follow.

Call him today and arrange to have him examine your furnace or boiler. Terms may be extended over a year beginning October 1st.

Oil-O-Matic a Godsend During Quarantine

"Our son Walton was taken ill with scarlet fever last fall. From October 15th to December 10th, the house was quarantined, during which time my husband had to remain at the hotel. Thanks to Oil-O-Matic, none of us had to worry about the heating plant. A uniform temperature of 75 degrees was maintained, which is so essential in the recovery from this disease. I don't know how we could have gotten along without it."

Elizabeth M. Kling, 2306 Orrington Ave., Evanston

Small Payment Down Gives You This Comfort

Any of the oilomaticians listed below will be pleased to install your Oil-O-Matic now for a small down payment. The balance may be extended over 12 months beginning October 1st. Every day you delay may be a happy day of comfort lost. Send the coupon today for "Heating Homes With Oil." It will give you a new conception of the advantages of oil heat.

CRUSADER AND BLONDIN WON'T COME TO DERBY

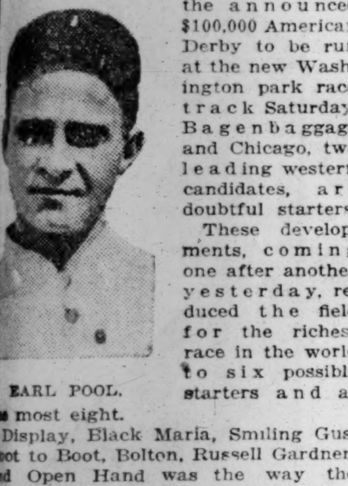
Six Likely to Start in Homewood Race.

Boot to Boot Wins

CLEVELAND, O., July 28.—(AP)—Boot to Boot under a masterful ride by A. Johnson won the third annual Ohio state derby over a muddy track at Maple Heights today, beating Boltin by half a length. Brazen was a poor third. Cartoon and Daleho also ran. Boot to Boot outgamed Boltin in the stretch.

It was the fourth derby victory for E. R. Bradley and the third derby winner of the season for Johnson. The race was worth $7,320 to Bradley.

BY FRENCH LANE.



EARL POOL.

Crusader, Blondin, and other eastern candidates are definitely out of the announced $100,000 American Derby to be run at the new Washington park race track Saturday. Bagenbaggage and Chicago, two leading western candidates, are doubtful starters. These developments, coming one after another yesterday, reduced the field for the richest race in the world to six possible starters and at the most eight.

Display, Black Maria, Smiling Gus, Boot to Boot, Bolton, Russell Gardner, and Open Hand was the way the Derby field shaped up last night. Baggenbaggage and Chicago may be added, but neither was sent through a training drill yesterday, and shrewd horsemen said this could be taken to mean that neither would start Saturday.

Trainer William Hurley, in charge of Baggenbaggage, assumed a noncommittal attitude regarding the Latonia and Louisiana Derby winner's chances of going to the post.

Display Early Favorite.

In the early speculation Display, winner of the Preakness, a son of Fair Play-Cicuta, has been made the favorite, but considerable support has been mustered for Black Maria, and when it became known yesterday that Earl Pool had agreed to ride Smiling Gus, one of C. E. Durnell's color bearers, the westerners winked a knowing eye and assumed the attitude that this colt is to be the real dark horse of the big race.

Thomas E. Bourke, general manager at Washington park, who made a flying trip to New York, sent a message to President Robert M. Sweitzer late in the afternoon that he had been unable to persuade Samuel D. Riddle to ship Crusader here or to get Blondin from the Harry Payne Whitney string for the big engagement.

The Derby week crowds continued to increase, and the new plant in Homewood entertained one of its largest and most enthusiastic gatherings yesterday.

Paula Shay Springs Surprise.

Jimmy McGill engineered a betting coup when Paula Shay, running in the McGill purple silks, accounted for the Englewood handicap, which was the principal offering.

Spanish Lay, from Frederick Grabner's stable and an American Derby eligible, was backed into almost prohibitive favoritism, but Paula Shay, six year old daughter of George Smith-Affiance, gave him a sound licking.

Shades of Night continued on her way to the 2 year old championship of the season here when she got a narrow decision over Chairman and Shasta Love in the Woodlawn stakes, which found the two year olds running six furlongs for the first time this year in the Chicago district.

Jockey R. Jones, a youngster from the far west, again crowded Goldie Johnson out of the riding spotlight, scoring a double with Paula Shay and Emancipation.

MRS. CASSRIEL IN SEMI-FINALS OF EASTERN GOLF

Eastern Point, Conn., July 28.—(AP)—Miss Glenna Collett, Providence, R. I., national womans' champion, today defeated Miss Helen Payson, Portland, Me., 4 and 2, to enter the semi-finals in the eighth annual invitation women's golf tournament on the Shenecossett Country club course. Miss Collett will meet Mrs. F. E. DuBois, Port Chester, N. Y., who conquered Mrs. Jay Lee, New York City, 3 and 1.

The other semi-final round tomorrow will see Miss Maureen Orcutt, Englewood, N. J., facing Mrs. J. S. Cassriel, Chicago, former Illinois champion, whose 38 for the first nine holes in the second round is the best score yet made in the tournament for one way. It is two strokes over par.

Miss Orcutt today defeated Miss Marie Jenney, New York City, 3 and 2. Mrs. Cassriel, who won her morning round, 8 and 7, scoring a 45 for the 11 holes played, was physically unable to continue her sensational play of the forenoon and was forced to the seventeenth green before defeating Mrs. J. B. Rose, Shields, Pa., 3 up this afternoon.

HELEN WINS 1ST TOURNEY MATCH SINCE OPERATION

Reaches Third Round at Easthampton.

Easthampton, N. Y., July 28.—[Special.]—Playing her first tournament match since the operation in Paris which cut short her European invasion, which had included that sensational battle with Mlle. Lenglen, Miss Helen Wills swung into action today at the Maidstone Tennis club.

In her first match, a second round contest, she moved into the third round with little or no difficulty, defeating Mrs. Edward Raymond, 6—1, 6—4.

Miss Browne Leads Field.

Keeping step with her was her old rival, Mrs. Molla Mallory, who opened play in the first round and carried right through to the third.

Ahead of both was Miss Mary K. Browne, the hard fighting captain of America's Wightman cup team. Miss Browne also placed in the second round by the draw and she drew a default, which automatically placed her ahead of the field. Playing Mrs. Robert Leroy, the small Californian stormed through to victory in straight sets, 6—2, 6—0, and found herself resting comfortably one round ahead of the field.

Gallery Awaits Miss Wills.

Interest today centered in the appearance of Miss Wills. A fashionable gallery was on hand early and waited almost three hours for her match. It was expected at first that she would wait until tomorrow but at mid-afternoon she announced she was ready for play.

Miss Wills gave a masterful exhibition of the control of a tennis match from the baseline. Obviously saving herself from start to finish, the Californian never came inside the last white line and was never in trouble.

Norway Cop in Channel; Out 8 Miles

BY JULIA HARPMAN.

[Copyright: 1926: By Trib-News Service.]

CAPE GRIS NEZ, France, July 28.—[Special.]—Olav Farstad, a Norwegian policeman with a week's vacation, took a notion to spend his holiday swimming the English channel. So he took off this morning at 10:40 from the rocks at the foot of the lighthouse at Gris Nez.

When he started he didn't wear goggles and had only a slight coating of fish oil. Usually swimmers during the channel wear a thick coat of grease, better to withstand the cold of the water, and to protect themselves from the sting of the jelly fish.

Early tonight Farstad was reported about eight miles out.

Class C's first prize was taken home by W. E. Van Deventer, Beverly 89—39—59, and second went to W. W. Willets, Exmoor, 88—27—61. That class was for golfers between the ages of 65 and 70.

SPEAKING OF SPORTS

BY DON MAXWELL.
[Sports Editor.]

In the wake of Tex Rickard's return to New York come melancholy reflections on the contempt of sports promoters for the public's ability to think.

But it's not nearly so painful to realize that the promoters rate the public intellectually as morons as it is to contemplate the disdain with which they treat the intelligence of the sports writers.

Proof of the theory that promoters consider the sport fans nit wits is furnished in abundance. Mr. Rickard's bombastic invasion of Chicago and his subsequent triumphal return to New York is the freshest bit of verification. Rickard's failure to awe the writers of a few papers is encouraging, but even that doesn't shake the fact that Tex came to Chicago to kid Chicago into helping Tex.

At that there is some excuse for Rickard believing that the interior furnishings of the heads of Chicago sport fans are a bit shabby. The year has been full of sport promotions that began as dreams and ended in nightmares.

Most of us recall the attempt of a Chicago promoter to lead the public to believe that he had everything fixed for the construction of the "most mammoth, most expensive, most elaborate sports arena in the world." It was to be big enough to seat at one sitting all Chicagoans over the age of ten; costly enough to have shamed Solomon into tearing down his temple; of such unique construction that a football game, a world series, and 14 tennis matches might have been staged simultaneously. Every paper in town (some have forgotten it now) printed the story in good faith.

By this time the building should have been more than half completed.

It was never even begun.

Others will recall the high blood pressure caused by one of Mr. Rickard's mouthings. Tex told newspaper men here and in New York that he had plans drawn, articles of incorporation filed, financing arranged, and a lot virtually bought for the construction of a Madison Square Garden in Chicago. It was to be ready this winter.

But as he bought his tickets for New York Monday night Tex announced in solemn tones that he had abandoned his plans for the Chicago building. Isn't it rather obvious that at first or now he was kidding?

Rickard's entire attitude on the Dempsey-Tunney fight in Chicago was farcical. Last spring Tex declared that the worst thing that could happen to boxing in Chicago would be the staging of a world's championship fight in the first year of the new law. But last week he talked in big terms of "the wonderful thing" a Dempsey-Tunney fight would be for Chicago.

Then there's a Chicagoan, hitherto unknown, who broadcasts daily his dream of putting on a Dempsey-Wills fight in September.

On Tuesday the Illinois boxing commission announced that it would not sanction a heavyweight fight, championship or otherwise, in Chicago this year. Twelve hours later this Chicago promoter is quoted as saying that the boxing commission never made such an announcement. Is that meant for kidding? Or doesn't Mr. Clements understand English?

The New York boxing commission offers another example of the low repute in which the public is rated. For at least a year the New York commission has been declaring defiantly that Dempsey could fight no one save Wills in New York. The commission has voted to back that stand at least half a dozen times. Individual commissioners have filled newspaper columns with interviews on the unalterableness of their attitude. They were the Medes and Persians.

And yet on Tuesday the commission voted two to one in favor of permitting Rickard to put on a Dempsey-Tunney fight in Gotham.

Our professional sport promoters are to be commended on their earnest strivings to create confidence in their sincerity.

FLORENCE BEEBE SPRAINS WRIST; LOSES IN TOURNEY

Doctor Orders Young Star Out of Game 2 Years.

BY MORROW KRUM.

The jealousy with which golf guards its devotees was demonstrated yesterday when Miss Florence Beebe was eliminated from the Cook county open golf championship at Jackson park.

Miss Beebe, who has gained quite a reputation as a long driver, digressed from the fairways last Monday night to play a little volley ball. In the game Miss Beebe fell and sprained her left wrist.

Physician Tells Her to Quit.

The injury was painful, but Miss Beebe, who had qualified for match play, won her first contest Tuesday by defeating Mrs. F. J. Weimer, 2 up.

Yesterday, however, the injury was more painful and a physician was consulted. The X-ray showed two bones overlapping and the doctor ordered Florence to stop golf for at least two years.

But Miss Beebe was matched to play Mrs. O. C. Horn and she would not default. She played with a heavily bandaged wrist. Mrs Horn won, 3 and 2, but the young girl put up a valiant battle.

Mrs. Wallace Shoots. 83.

In the other matches yesterday the favorites were victorious. The best golf of the day was played by Mrs. Edith Wallace, who shot an 83, four over par, and defeated Mrs. F. S. Fitzgibbon, 2 and 1. Other results and today's pairings follow:

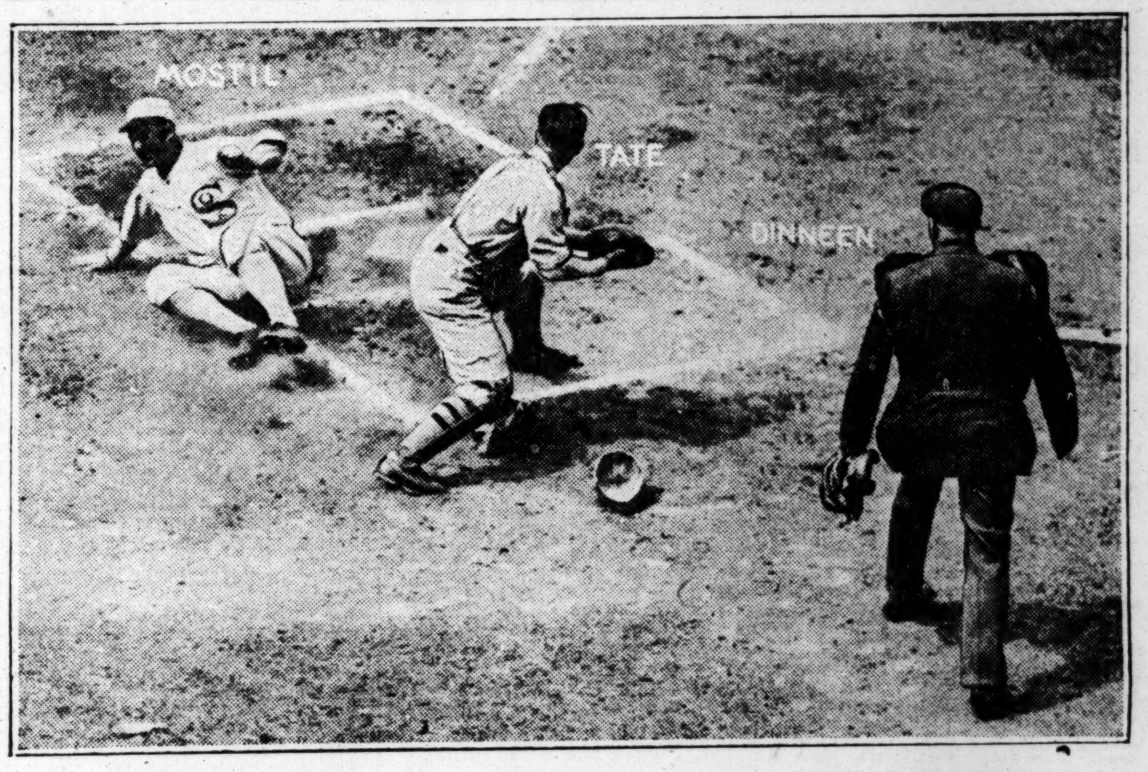
JOHNNY DEMONSTRATES HIS SPEED



Johnny Mostil started the White Sox off on the right foot yesterday by singling and scoring in the first inning. He had to arrive via the sliding route to get there in advance of Rice's return throw on Hunnefield's hit.

Cubs Tie Braves in Ninth, but Grow Weary in Thirteenth and Again Fall by Wayside, 3-2

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., July 28.—The Cubs and Braves took three hours to arrive at a decision in their ball game this afternoon. When Jimmie Welsh, the Braves' right fielder, came galloping home with the verdict in the thirteenth inning, the result was not what the Cubs had been waiting for. Welsh scored the run that gave the Braves a skimpy conquest by the score of 3 to 2, but it was their second victory over the Cubs in two days.

The Braves' successful efforts today gave them a winning streak of five straight, which is the cause of considerable jubilation at the moment, Boston being unaccustomed to winning streaks of longer than one victory in succession.

'Twas a Long, Long Game.

Several customers who entered the playground with their faces shaved 12 hours under the skin were trying to borrow hairnets for their whiskers when the ball game adjourned. Some wanted to know how the Dempsey-Tunney fight came out, and one gentleman inquired whether Coolidge was still President.

The teams employed two throwers apiece, starting with John Blake in the box for the Cubs and Henry Wertz for the Braves, and concluded with Guy Bush on behalf of the strangers and George Mogridge for the natives.

Blake and Wertz both experienced some discomfort in the fourth inning, when there was mutual scoring. Hack Wilson molested Wertz for a single, then stole second, and came home on another single by Charlie Grimm, and for a few minutes the Cubs enjoyed the sensation of running slightly in front.

But when the Braves laid hold of their drives, two singles, a sacrifice, and another single gave them twice as many runs and evoked several distinctly audible cries from the customers who were hidden here and there behind the stanchions of the grandstand.

Braves Score a Pair.

Beauty Bancroft, the Braves' foreman and shortstop, who is called Beauty because it is considered unhealthful to call him ugly or funny-face, committed the first of these three singles now under discussion. This Welsh, the right fielder, hit one to right and Bancroft went to second. Then a fellow came up to bat who turned out to be Eddie Moore, who was a member of the Pirates in the world series last year. He had turned his shirt inside out and his cap around so that people would think he was some other Eddie Moore, because any man who played with the Pirates last year is bound to be sensitive if detected playing with the Braves just now.

Moore hit a sacrifice and Ed Brown, the next club swinger, who also has worn brighter regimentals in his time, being an ex-Giant, came through with a single. This is the gesture that scored Bancroft and Welsh and sent the Braves along in front until the first half of the ninth inning.

At this late point in the drama the Cubs contrived a second run of their own, matching the Braves' score and leading to the distant postponement of a result. The happenings happened in this sequence:

Heathcote grounded out to first and Freigau dismissed himself with a liner to Welsh. Hack Wilson, the same, it may be recalled, who had figured in the scoring of the Cubs' first run, singled far into right field and then hastened all the way home, with a train of brown dust rolling along behind him, as Riggs Stephenson interfered with something that Wertz had thrown and beat it back to the scoreboard for a double.

The Cubs had a fairly radiant chance to win the ball game before this inning ended, nothwithstanding that there were two out at the time, for Griggs was safe and Stephenson went to third on a high bounder to Wertz, who caught the ball all right but couldn't decide which way to throw it. But then Jim Cooney hit a mashie shot to Moore and the demonstration ended.

And It's All Over.

Bush had relieved Blake in the last half of the eighth inning and although he seemed to have no more influence on the ball than a pint of home brew on an alumni reunion, he somehow contrived to keep his troubles scattered until the thirteenth. But here, Welsh began the attack with a single to right and Moore drew one of the four bases on balls that were issued. Ed Brown dropped a bunt down the third base line, filling the stations, and Burrus, the first baseman, snapped a single to right that brought Welsh home and brought an end to the proceedings.

Wilson appears to have earned whatever glory the Cubs may deserve for their hitting for he singled twice and scored both runs.

Freigau plunged on his nose to stop a ground ball on Taylor in the ninth and also made a gymnastic play on a drive by Brown in the eleventh.

Bush and Blake between them pitched better ball than many a winning pitcher has had to show in other games but they seemed to be using a possum ball in these games up here and the home runs aren't exactly demolishing the fences.

Bancroft with his four hits in six trips to the tee, was the most distinguished individual in the play.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

RED FABER.

Having played league doormat with a large "Welcome" for six games, Collins' White Sox grabbed their shovels yesterday and started work on the job of digging themselves out of sixth place. Without showing any trace of the ailments that have beset them of late, they pushed over the Washington Senators as neat as you please, and when the whistle blew were in possession of a 5 to 2 pay off on the day's work.

It took old Red Faber's headful of experience to bring the boys out of the spell of indolence that the Yanks cast on them last week. Maybe the return of Foreman Collins also was a factor in the revival, but whatever it was, the Sox fielded perfectly, even nobly in spots, and hit Dutch Ruether's left handed pitching in such timely manner that not many of twelve bingles went to waste.

Sox Hold Lead Throughout.

The combination of Faber's variated flinging and errorless fielding permitted the champions to show their titular worth only to the extent of six blows. But Old Red had other troubles, because he walked four. He also came within an inch of having his head knocked right off his shoulders into center field, but luckily he got his hands up in time to form a defense. This happened when Stanley Harris drove a singing liner right back at the veteran in the fifth. Old Red picked up the ball, threw out the runner, and remarked that the fellows who want to move the slab closer to the plate should be locked up.

Collins' men started off proudly by putting Ruether in the hole with two runs in the first inning. Faber got wild after a couple of blows in the third and the Senators broke in with a run, but the Sox restored their advantage of two by collecting a tally in the sixth. Then the fading champions closed in with another run in the eighth, but the home town athletes returned their compliment with two in their half, mainly because Ray Schalk singled after seeing the batter ahead of him being handed an intentional pass.

Mostil Starts Griffs' Troubles.

The first round attack of the Sox started with a single by Mostil. He didn't like the scenery around first base, so stole his way to second, and Hunnefield drove him home with a single. Collins forced Honey Boy and then hiked to third on Sheely's single to right. A long fly by Falk scored the manager. The next excitement came in Washington's third, when two hits and two passes forced a run home. Old Red pulled out of that situation by fanning Myer for the third out.

Falk opened the sixth with a single that went zipping past Ruether's ears. Barrett sacrificed and Kamm slashed a hit past Stan Harris, Falk scoring. Washington cut the lead down because Myer singled and Judge doubled in the eighth.

Falk led off again in the home eighth, and this time planted a single in right. Barrett again sacrificed. Kamm, who has a fondness for left handed pitching, was purposely passed. Schalk didn't like the idea of being humiliated in this manner, so crossed the Washington strategy with a single, Falk scoring and Kamm hiking to third. Faber's fly let Kamm register the last run of the game.

New York, July 28.—[Special.]—Jefferson Livingston's consistent performer, McAuliffe, won the seventeenth running of the Melrose stakes, feature of the next to last day of the meeting at Empire City today. Jockey Fields on McAuliffe let nothing get in front of him after the break, and rode out the Livingston starter to win by a length from Jack Richardson's Bruns.

Scratches whittled the field for the Melrose, making it a three horse race but it later developed into a two horse affair as Roland, who was among those present, never figured in the race.

Spence Beats Skelton; Sets Swim Record

Philadelphia, Pa., July 28.—[Special.]—Walter Spence of Central Swimming club, Brooklyn, established a world's record in winning the opening event of the men's National A. A. U. swimming championship in the sesquicentennial lake this afternoon.

Spence covered the 440 yard breast stroke swim in 6:16.8. The best previous time made in the event was at the national championships on the coast last year. It was six minutes, 30 seconds, but was not allowed on account of tidal currents.

Bob Skelton, the defending champion, made a gallant fight to retain his title and was three feet behind Spence at the finish of the quarter mile event. During the early part of the race it appeared as though Skelton would be able to overcome Spence.

The Brooklyn entry continued to increase his advantage down the final length and finished about two feet ahead of Skelton. Andrew Maraz, of the Duquesne Library club, was third, about twenty yards behind the two leaders, with Bill Sadlo, unattached, from New York, taking fourth place.

Johnny Weismuller, America's premier swimmer, successfully defended his quarter mile free style championship by leading Arne Borg to the wire in a fast finish by a mere touch. Borg apparently was in full command of the race until the straightaway, when he faltered and Weismuller flashed ahead to retain his championship. Weismuller's time for the quarter mile was 5:21.8.

IN THE WAKE OF THE NEWS.

CHANNEL SWIMS.

THE Wake views with mixed feelings various attempts to swim the English channel. From a strictly sporting viewpoint, success would prove nothing in particular except endurance and good fortune in escaping the worst of the currents and tides. Unlike many freak performances and stunts, it does not afford a spectacle to spectators because of necessity they cannot follow the natators across the water between France and England.

On the other hand, great fame will follow any successful swimmer. Already there is rivalry, acrimonious rivalry, between persons training for the feat. Such fame no doubt would be capitalized in tours and exhibitions. From a financial standpoint, nothing else would justify the expense without other compensation.

But back of it all is that common human desire to do something that none or few have done. That stimulus has given progress to the world, and it also has given many fools' errands. It is a matter of personal opinion under which category attempting to swim the channel comes.

"Playing Just Once More"

When we placed our clubs in the attic six weeks ago, never to touch them again, we had forgotten the annual TRIBUNE outing and golf tourney. It's an institution. Every one attends. It was held Monday at Big Oaks.

Henry Mau, major domo, assured us there were no water hazards. Those who follow our personal welfare remember that four balls into a pond which was not a water carry but only a hazard far to the side of a Skokie fairway hastened our determination to quit.

Well, there were no water hazards at Big Oaks. Henry was right, but listen what happened to us. Approaching the eighteenth green we had a comfortable mashie shot. Instead of the gentle loft we intended, we Babe Ruthed it. The ball sailed over the green, through a clump of bushes at the back, past a row of trees, and apparently into another set of bushes.

When we arrived at the spot we said to the caddy, "Where's the ball?" He said, "It must be in the lake." "What lake?" we asked. "Why, this lake beside the clubhouse. It's here for the looks." Then we bleated, "Well, what's the penalty." "I don't know," the kid truthfully replied, "no one ever was in that lake before."

We had found water on a course which had no water hazards. Our clubs are back in the attic.

American Derby.

Dear Harve: If Homewood gives $100,000 for the American Derby Saturday, they're a game bunch. From the response made by horsemen they would be justified in withdrawing or reducing the purse. I think owners have not behaved well in this instance toward the effort to bring back racing in Chicago. It is a shame that more good 3 year olds have not been sent for this truly liberal offering. I am going out Saturday with as many friends as I can muster just to show the Homewood folks I am with them.

Bob Discovers Canadian Lake Full of Bass

BY BOB BECKER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Quetico Provincal Park, Canada, July 28.—When you pitch your camp in a stand of tall Norway and white pines that are keeping company with fragrant cedars and spruces you realize that of all outdoor experiences few can approach the pleasure of tenting amid the big trees. Up here where neither the lumberman's ax nor the red hand of fire have taken their toll, the woods are a constant delight and when your little white tent is nestled between the tall conifers, you get a picture that is not soon forgotten.

We have no built-in bathtub on our camp site, but we are provided with a private built-in bass fishing spot as the little bay in front of our camp is alive with scrappy bass and savage marauding northern pike or pickerel. This afternoon Johnny paddled me down the shore for a whirl at the big fellows. After catching a few from the snags and weed beds, we paddled over a rocky bar, took one 4¼ pounder there, snagged three from our private built in bay and then finished by catching thirteen more in a weedy bay just five minutes' paddle from camp. All of these fish were returned to the water.

Bill, our guide, warned us about the "sidewheelers" in the weedy bay, a name he has applied to the big tackle smashing northern pike. Before we caught our thirteen bass these old warhorses nearly ruined our light tackle as they galloped through the weeds straightening out hooks and breaking our lines.

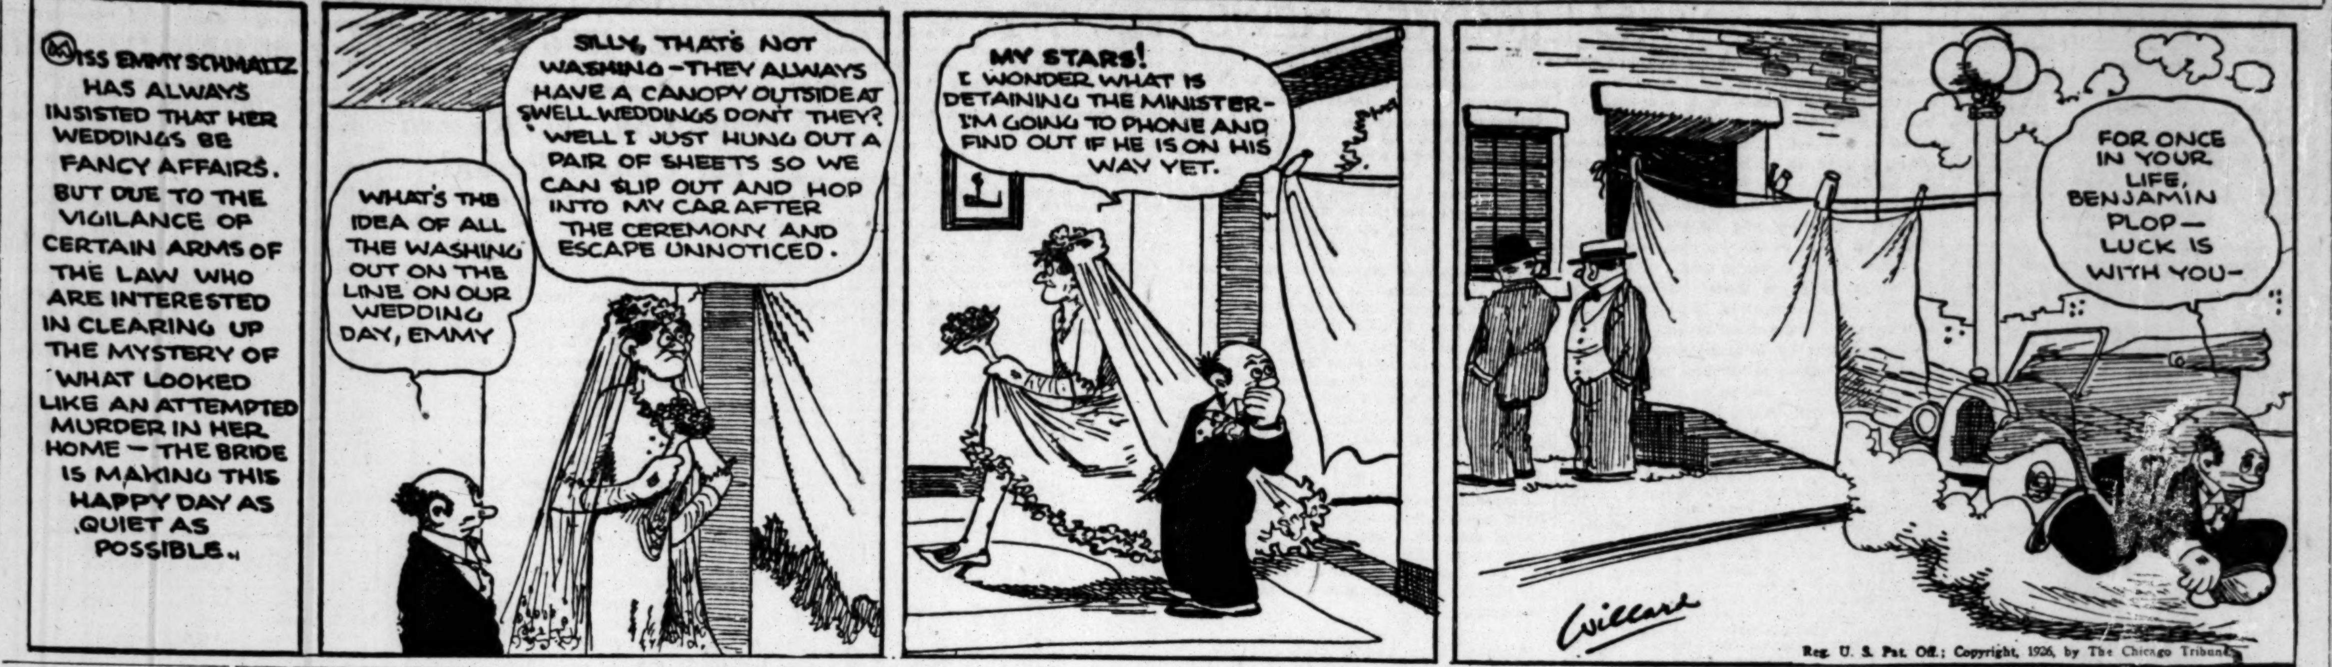
MOON MULLINS—CALL OUT THE BLOODHOUNDS



MISS EMMY SCHMALTZ HAS ALWAYS INSISTED THAT HER WEDDINGS BE FANCY AFFAIRS. BUT DUE TO THE VIGILANCE OF CERTAIN ARMS OF THE LAW WHO ARE INTERESTED IN CLEARING UP THE MYSTERY OF "WHAT LOOKED LIKE AN ATTEMPTED MURDER IN HER HOME"—THE BRIDE IS MAKING THIS HAPPY DAY AS QUIET AS POSSIBLE.
WHAT'S THE IDEA OF ALL THE WASHING OUT ON THE LINE ON OUR WEDDING DAY, EMMY
SILLY, THAT'S NOT WASHING—THEY ALWAYS HAVE A CANOPY OUTSIDE AT SWELL WEDDINGS DON'T THEY? WELL I JUST HUNG OUT A PAIR OF SHEETS SO WE CAN SLIP OUT AND HOP INTO MY CAR AFTER THE CEREMONY AND ESCAPE UNNOTICED.
MY STARS! I WONDER WHAT IS DETAINING THE MINISTER—I'M GOING TO PHONE AND FIND OUT IF HE IS ON HIS WAY YET.
FOR ONCE IN YOUR LIFE, BENJAMIN PLOP—LUCK IS WITH YOU—

Eckersall's Gossip of the Boxers

EDDIE LONG, manager of Bud Taylor, who will meet Charley Phil Rosenberg for the world's bantamweight championship in Chicago on Sept. 10, announced that Bud will meet Dixie La Hood, western bantamweight, at Los Angeles on Aug. 18. Taylor will clash with Midget Smith at St. Paul on Aug. 9. Taylor will be in Chicago next week to resume training at Mullen's.

The eight round bout between Charley Glaser and Don Davis, feature of Mique Malloy's boxing show at 74th and Aberdeen streets on Monday night, is creating a lot of interest. They boxed to a draw in one of the preliminaries to the Kansas-Mandell fight at the Sox park recently. The Paul Allen-Charley Rychell eight rounder also is stirring considerable interest. Four other bouts complete the card, which will open at 8:15 o'clock.

Eddie Shea, west side featherweight, will return to the city Saturday to resume training for his ten round encounter with Eddie Anderson at the Cermak-Mills stadium Tuesday night. It will be Shea's first local appearance since boxing was legalized in Illinois. Bennie Valgar, the French lightweight, is training daily for his bout with Charley O'Connell of Cleveland, semi-windup to the Shea-Anderson affair. Promoter Paddy Driscoll will support the main event with three other contests, one of which will bring together Ernie Peters and Ferdinand Gonzales.

Fighters who will appear on Kid Howard's card at his Arcade gymnasium, 62 West Madison street, tomorrow night, completed boxing preparations yesterday. The main event will bring together Jack Phillips and Bill Hall, local welterweights. The show will open at 8:15 o'clock.

Tommy White, the southern junior welterweight who recently won a decision over Pinkie Mitchell of Milwaukee, will arive in Chicago today. Clyde Hull, another 140 pounder from Dixieland, will come north with White.

Nessie Blumenthal has two promising fighters in his stable. Ferdinand Gonzales, who will meet Ernie Peters at the Cermak Mills stadium on Tuesday night, is a clever flyweight, and Ralph Mendoza, who collides with Joe Medill in another preliminary, looks like a comer.

Licenses to promote shows in Quincy and Rockford have been granted by the boxing commission. The Fraternal Order of Eagles, No. 535, will hold shows in Quincy. Application for this license was made by Fred G. Smith. C. O. Breinig applied for the Rockford Boxing club license.

A permit was granted Jack Ryan of Peoria to conduct a show on Aug. 3. The club is known as the Peoria Baseball Fans' association. Permits also were issued for shows to be held in Chicago tomorrow night, Aug. 2, Aug. 3, and Aug. 6

CHICAGO MOTOR CLUB A. A. A.

A First Aid Car in Fifteen Minutes

MORE than 50,000 motorists are members of the Chicago Motor Club. These motorists have found that membership in this club is not an expense, but that it is a paying investment. Membership provides protection for members, and enables them to cut their motoring expense.

Thousands of members have written the club telling about the service they have received. Here is a typical letter, written by Mr. Timm Kroeger, 6144 South Wood Street, Chicago:

"Gentlemen: I want to thank the Chicago Motor Club for the splendid service I received Saturday. I had called on some friends and about 11:00 P. M. was leaving for home, when, to my surprise, I could not start my car. I called the club, and was informed that a car would be sent out in a half hour. My friends were in doubt about the half hour, as was I. We all were agreeably surprised, however, for one of the first aid cars arrived in less than fifteen minutes.
TIMM KROEGER."

Members are entitled to mechanical first aid service any hour of the day or night; there are many other free services.

Let us tell you more about the club.

CONFLICT IN CROP NEWS UNSETTLES WHEAT MARKET

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Wheat market was decidedly unsettled within a range of 1¾@2½c, with July strong and ⅞c higher for the day, although the close was 1½c under the best figure of the day, while the deferred futures were off ½c. July finished at $1.43¾@1.43⅞, or 2⅞c over the September, with December at $1.45¼@1.45⅜. Winnipeg was 1⅛@1⅜c lower on the active deliveries, Minneapolis 1c lower, and Kansas City ¼@½c lower.

Corn was easy early, only to advance sharply, and then weaker materially toward the last. It closed ⅛@1⅝c lower, with July leading. The latter touched 80½c on the bulge and closed at the lowest figure, 77⅝c, while September was 85@85⅛c at the last and December 88@88⅛c. Oats were ¼c higher to ⅛c lower, with July 42¼c and September 43⅞c. Rye was ⅛@⅜c lower, with July $1.04½ and September $1.06.

Mixed Trade in Wheat.

Decidedly conflicting crop reports were received from the Canadian northwest, but the failure of the Winnipeg market to respond to claims of damage led to fairly general selling here. The forecast was for local showers and cooler there, with temperatures as low as 34 Tuesday night, and a light frost reported at Calgary. Scattered showers were officially reported in parts of Alberta and Saskatchewan. Harvesting has started in southern Manitoba. The crop has ripened prematurely in some districts and cutting is expected to be fairly general next week in some sections.

While spring wheat markets were easier, those in the southwest were relatively firm, and this week is expected to see the passing of the crest of the winter wheat movement to terminals. Cash wheat was in good demand at Kansas City, with northwestern mills active buyers, and the basis there was unchanged to ½c higher, while the gulf basis was ½c higher in the face of reports of a limited export demand, No. 2 hard for August loading being quoted at 6c over Chicago September. No. 2 red and hard winter here sold at July price to ½c over.

Local sentiment was mixed, with houses with eastern connections selling rather freely at times, with liberal profit taking around $1.43 for September. On the late break there was some buying to reinstate lines sold out on the bulge.

Broader Trade in Corn.

Corn market was irregular, being easier early on scattered rains in Iowa and the forecast for unsettled weather over the greater part of the belt, only to advance sharply on short covering and then ease off toward the last and close about the bottom. Outside trade showed a tendency to broaden and numerous unfavorable crop reports were received, with the late decline in wheat causing local selling and the easy finish. Cash basis here was ¼c higher to ½c lower, with the low grades slow sale.

Action of other grains was the main influence in oats, but there was a good class of commission house buying, with more interest taken than for some time. Crop comments continue unfavorable and late oats are showing light weight and disappointing yields.

Buying of rye against sales of other grains by spreaders was a feature in that grain, the lower close being in sympathy with wheat. Export demand continues slow.

CASH·GRAIN NEWS

Export sales of wheat in all positions were finally estimated at 350,000 bu, with offerings at the gulf scarce, with first and last half August 6½c over Chicago September asked at the last. There was a disposition shown to hold off in buying until after the July deliveries are out of the way. Business in other grains was small.

Chicago handlers sold 20,000 bu wheat, 68,000 bu corn, 34,000 bu oats, and 3,000 bu barley to the domestic trade, with 75,000 bu wheat to go to store. Charters were for 325,000 bu wheat to Buffalo. Country showed more disposition to sell to arrive, with purchases by local handlers estimated at 170,000 bu wheat, 60,000 bu corn, and 90,000 bu oats. Deliveries on July contracts aggregated 40,000 bu wheat, 169,000 bu corn, 62,000 bu oats, and 55,000 bu rye.

Bulk of the offerings of cash wheat in the local market went to elevator interests at July price to ½c over for No. 2 red and hard winter, mill holding off on account of the tightening up in the July, which went to a wider premium over the September. At Kansas City the basis was unchanged to ½c higher, with northwestern mills good buyers, and the market cleaned up readily. St. Louis basis was firmer as was Omaha.

Low grades of cash corn continue in slow demand, with some sales as much as 2c lower as compared with September, while choice gained ¼c on the future. No. 2 grades brought ¾c over to ¾c under; No. 3 grades, ¾@4c under, and No. 4 grades, 3@7c under September. Outside markets were 2c higher to ½c lower, Omaha closing easy.

Offerings of cash oats were fair, with around 10 cars of new grain here. Basis was steady to ¼c higher, with No. 2 white ½@1¼c over and No. 3 white ⅛@¾c over September.

Official receipts of grain at Chicago Wednesday: Wheat, 319 cars; corn, 51 cars; oats, 73 cars; rye, 2 cars; barley, 6 cars.

WORLD'S·GRAIN MARKET·NEWS

Local traders and most of the commission houses were said to be bearish on wheat at the close. The short interest was increased in some quarters, while eastern longs who bought wheat on a previous break were credited with having sold on the bulge. About all the pit element can see in the wheat market is that some strong interests are apparently buying the surplus on all good breaks and reselling on sharp bulges.

The shortage in July wheat here appears to be large enough to cause uneasiness. Shorts were active in buying and advanced July to nearly 3c over September, where a few days ago it was at a discount. From the way elevator interests have bought the car lots in the sample market, they must have had some sales to fill. They took the bulk of the cash offerings at July price to ½c over for No. 1 and No. 2 red and hard winter.

Kansas City reported active call for the fresh receipts with millers and elevator interests after the offerings and cleaning up the market. Kansas City grain men wired that they look for smaller receipts. Hutchison had 278 cars and Salina 65 cars of wheat yesterday.

Wichita, Kas., said local mills were reported to be selling flour to the domestic trade at about their output, with export business keeping up. Large flour buyers bought heavily on the recent decline and are not in the market.

Since July 1 Kansas City has received 27,100,000 bu of wheat with only a small increase in stocks, showing that the wheat is being distributed widely despite the heavy movement.

RALLY IN COTTON

Mixed conditions existed in the cotton market. Liverpool came lower, and closed at losses of 6 to 9 points. Weather in the western belt was favorable, and rains were reported in parts of the eastern belt.

The weekly government weather crop report was unfavorable, saying there was too much rain in the western belt and lack of moisture in parts of the eastern. At the same time it reported higher temperatures in the east.

More pressure was put on the market early, and prices declined, while in the late trading advances of 33 to 40 points were made from the low level of the day, with net gains on futures in Chicago of 5 to 22 points, and in New York of 15 to 19 points. Spots in New York were up 20 points to 19.35c, and in New Orleans 8 points down at 18.73c.

Trade sentiment is mixed, with a disposition to sell on sharp bulges. Prices in leading markets follow:

U. S. CROP AREA SHRINKS 19,000,000 ACRES IN 5 YEARS

First Time on Record for Census Period.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 28.—[Special.]—Analyzing the agricultural census returns as reported by the department of commerce, the department of agriculture in a statement today says that for the first time in the history of the country a decrease in crop area has been shown in a census period.

Despite a reduction of 19,000,000 acres in the area of harvested crops during the last five years, the department of agriculture states that the crop area is still sufficient to maintain a large volume of exports.

Decreases in crop acreage have occurred principally in the eastern cotton belt, in the corn and winter wheat belts, the eastern and southern portions of the corn belt, the hay and dairy region from Lake Michigan to the Hudson valley, and in eastern Washington and California.

Increases in Some Sections.

Increases, on the other hand, have occurred in the semi-arid western portion of the great plains region, extending from southwestern Texas to Montana and beyond; in the upper portion of the Mississippi river bottoms, central Florida, southwestern Minnesota, and in northern Minnesota and Wisconsin.

The major areas of approximately stationary crop acreage are the central and western corn belt, central Kansas, the subhumid portion of the spring wheat region, northern New York and New England, and the north Pacific coast.

Partial Reversion to Woodland.

The reduction in crop area represents a decrease of five per cent for the five year period, the 19,000,000 acres having reverted to pasture or being allowed to lie idle.

During the same period, however, the acreage of forest, cutover land, and woodland increased about 9,000,000 acres, indicating that about half of the increase in pasture and idle plow land was offset in turn by this reversion to woodland and brush.

The reduction in area of crop land, the department points out, has occurred despite a notable increase in population. During the last five years crop land decreased 5 per cent, while population increased nearly 8 per cent, or at as rapid a rate as during the previous decade.

LARD PRICES BREAK

Selling of lard futures was attributed to packing interests, while buying was limited, and prices declined and closed at the inside, with net losses of 15@20c. Ribs and bellies were neglected and the former lost 10@15c and the latter 5@15c. Lard in Liverpool was unchanged to 3d higher, with export clearances from the seaboard 355,850 lbs. Cottonseed oil prices were up sharply, but had no effect on lard.

Packing in the west last week was 631,000 hogs, against 610,400 the previous week and 447,000 last year; for the season to date 12,431,000, against 11,949,000 last year. Prices follow:

GUARANTY TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK, Trustee

From his letter to the Bankers, Mr. Cornelius F. Kelley, President of Silesian-American Corporation, summarizes as follows:

GENERAL: The present financing is the culmination of approximately one year's intensive study by Anaconda Copper Mining Company engineers and geologists of the Giesche properties in Silesia, which include among other assets the largest known zinc deposits in Continental Europe and extensive fields of high grade coal. Anaconda Copper Mining Company, with subsidiaries, is the world's foremost producer of copper and brass; its connection with the Giesche business will result in it ranking as an important factor in the zinc production of the world.

Silesian-American Corporation was organized July 1926 to acquire from George von Giesche's Heirs Mining Company (Bergwerksgesellschaft Georg von Giesche's Erben), a German corporation, all of the capital stock of the Giesche Company (Giesche Spolka Akcyjna), a Polish corporation, together with $6,000,000 of the German company's Sinking Fund Mortgage Bonds. George von Giesche's Heirs Mining Company and subsidiaries constitute, from a standpoint both of past production and reserves for future output, one of the leading mining enterprises of the world. In 1923 the Giesche Company acquired substantially all of the properties of George von Giesche's Heirs Mining Company located in territory ceded to the Republic of Poland. The transfer of the former company to Silesian-American Corporation will make possible improvements in production and distribution which should result in materially increased profits.

PROPERTIES: The properties of the Giesche Company include proved zinc ore and coal reserves sufficient to insure an operating life well beyond the maturity of these Bonds. The Company also owns directly or through subsidiaries large concentrating, smelting and refining plants for the treatment and production of zinc, lead and silver, zinc and lead rolling mills, sulphuric acid plants and other by-product factories.

SECURITY: These Bonds, in the opinion of counsel, will be a direct obligation of Silesian-American Corporation secured by:

(1) All the authorized and outstanding shares of the capital stock of the Giesche Company (Giesche Spolka Akcyjna). On the Consolidated Balance Sheet of the Giesche Company and subsidiaries, as of October 31, 1925, adjusted to give effect to the present financing, as prepared by Messrs. Haskins & Sells, net tangible assets applicable to the capital stock amount to $21,552,530. In the opinion of Anaconda engineers, the company's valuation of fixed assets as carried on this Balance Sheet is a conservative representation of actual value.

(2) $6,000,000 8½% Sinking Fund Mortgage Bonds of George von Giesche's Heirs Mining Company, secured by a closed mortgage (subject only to Dawes payments and certain small mining royalties) on zinc properties and a modern mining and concentrating plant just completed.

Silesian-American Corporation will pledge as additional security for these Bonds, obligations of the Giesche Company in the amount of $5,000,000, which will shortly be created as a result of the payment of a like amount of that company's outstanding indebtedness. There will thus be pledged with the Trustee for the $15,000,000 Silesian-American Corporation Bonds, securities representing a value in excess of $32,500,000.

EARNINGS: For the five pre-war years, 1909-1913, net earnings of George von Giesche's Heirs Mining Company (including earnings from the properties now belonging to the Giesche Company), before depreciation and depletion, available for interest and taxes, as certified by Messrs. Haskins & Sells, averaged $5,556,819 per annum. Due to the fact that the holdings now owned by these two companies were formerly treated as a unit, it is not possible to segregate the pre-war earnings in accordance with present conditions.

Since the operations of the properties are being completely reorganized, earnings during and after the war period would not be fairly indicative of the amounts that should become available for the service of this Loan. According to Anaconda engineers, income available to Silesian-American Corporation for interest and taxes (taking into consideration estimated consolidated net earnings of the Giesche Company and subsidiaries before depreciation and depletion, based on 6¢ to 10¢ zinc and conservative minimum profits from other sources, together with maximum interest from the $6,000,000 bonds of the German company) should amount to from 3.2 to 5.7 times the maximum annual interest requirements of these Bonds.

MANAGEMENT: The Directors of Silesian-American Corporation are John D. Ryan, W. Averell Harriman, Cornelius F. Kelley, George H. Walker and three members appointed by the George von Giesche's Heirs Mining Company. The operating management of the properties controlled by Silesian-American Corporation has been selected by Anaconda Copper Mining Company.

Application will be made to list these Bonds on the New York Stock Exchange.

These Bonds are offered when, as and if issued and received by us and subject to the approval of counsel. The books of Bergwerksgesellschaft Georg von Giesche's Erben and Giesche Spolka Akcyjna have been examined by Messrs. Haskins & Sells. It is expected that joint interim receipts of W. A. Harriman & Co., Inc., and Lee, Higginson & Co., or temporary Bonds will be ready for delivery on or about August 9, 1926. Conversions from foreign currencies have been made at appropriate rates of exchange. Listed on the Boston Stock Exchange.

W. K. McIntosh, Esq., President of The Liquid Carbonic Corporation (the new company) and who has been President of The Liquid Carbonic Company (the old company) has summarized his letter as follows:

HISTORY AND BUSINESS: The Liquid Carbonic Company is the largest manufacturer and distributor in the world of soda fountains and carbonic gas, and is a large manufacturer of bottling machinery and bottlers' extracts. The business was started 38 years ago with a capital of $75,000 and has been built up to its present premier position in the industry largely through reinvestment of earnings. The volume of business in 1925 aggregated $9,017,472. The Liquid Carbonic Corporation has been organized under the laws of Delaware to acquire the assets and business of The Liquid Carbonic Company, the predecessor Illinois Corporation, with the exception of the fruit and syrup department, representing only a small part of the business, which is in process of being liquidated.

The principal plant, located at Chicago, Illinois, is completely equipped with modern machinery for the manufacture of soda fountains, carbonic gas, bottling machinery, bottlers' extracts and miscellaneous products. In addition, completely equipped carbonic gas manufacturing plants are located in 13 important centers of distribution. Sales offices and distributing agencies are also located in principal cities.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE: The proceeds of sale of these Bonds and 100,000 shares of Common Stock of no par value, to be presently outstanding, will be used to acquire the entire assets and business of The Liquid Carbonic Company (of Illinois), except the fruit and syrup department, to acquire by leasehold an additional carbonic gas plant and to provide additional working capital. The Stock of the Illinois Company has heretofore been owned by the heirs of Jacob Baur, founder of the business, and associates.

SECURITY: These Bonds will be secured, in the opinion of Counsel, by a first mortgage on the real estate, plants and machinery to be acquired by the Company. The remaining $1,000,000 Bonds may be issued under conservative restrictions to be provided in the Indenture.

ASSETS: A pro forma balance sheet of The Liquid Carbonic Corporation (the new company), as of June 30, 1926, after giving effect to the proposed financing and matters incidental thereto, as prepared by Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Co., shows total net assets of $10,218,939, equivalent to over $2,500 for each $1,000 of these bonds. Net current assets amounted to $4,944,193, the ratio of current assets to current liabilities being 2.83 to 1.

EARNINGS: Earnings of The Liquid Carbonic Company available for all interest charges, Federal Income Taxes and dividends and management profit sharing, after depreciation* and after eliminating profits and losses of the fruit and syrup department which is being liquidated, were as tabulated below:

Average eight years and nine months ended June 30, 1926	$1,054,691
Year ended September 30, 1925	1,259,915
Nine months ended June 30, 1926	1,047,163
Annual interest requirements on this issue	240,000

*In this tabulation depreciation charges have been increased above those actually charged, to conform with the increased values disclosed by The American Appraisal Company's report as of September 30, 1925.

NOTE:—The Fruit and Syrup Department showed a gross profit of $62,585 for 1925 and of $45,515 for 9 months ended June 30, 1926, but an average annual loss of $75,565 for the 8 years and 9 months ended June 30, 1926.

SINKING FUND: An annual sinking fund equal to 3% of the greatest principal amount of bonds outstanding at any time is to be provided for the purchase or redemption of these Bonds semi-annually commencing October 1, 1927, at not exceeding the redemption price. Bonds acquired are to be kept alive and interest thereon added to the fund. It is calculated that the sinking fund, on the basis of the present issue, should retire at least 65% by maturity.

MANAGEMENT: The President and First Vice-President of the new company have been associated with the business for over twenty-four years and the eight major executives who will continue in active charge have been connected with the business for 13 to 24 years. The management and chief executives will exchange their holdings of stock of the predecessor corporation for Common Stock of the new company.

Legal details in connection with the issuance of these Bonds will be passed upon by Messrs. Beekman, Bogue, Clark & Griscom for the Bankers and by Messrs. Fisher, Boyden, Kales & Bell for the Company. The accounts of the predecessor corporation have been regularly audited by Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Company.

We offer these Bonds when, as and if issued and received by us and subject to prior sale and the approval of counsel. It is expected that temporary bonds or interim receipts, exchangeable later for definitive bonds, will be ready for delivery on or about August 10, 1926.

As a result of the splitup in General Electric company and California Packing it was necessary to revise the list of industrial stocks used in compiling the New York Times' averages. General Electric old and California Packing have been dropped and General Electric new and Case Threshing Machine substituted. In order that the parity of the averages may not be disturbed, General Electric new will be multiplied by 4, the ratio of the splitup, until a more satisfactory adjustment can be made.

New York, July 28.—(AP)—Featured by another buying demonstration in General Motors, which soared more than 7 points to a new high record for all time at 179⅝, the bull movement in the stock market broadened out perceptibly today.

Reawakening of public interest followed publication of unusually favorable quarterly reports by the General Motors and United States Steel corporations. U. S. Steel common showed a net gain of 3 points at 143, after an early period of heaviness which reflected speculative disappointment over the failure of the directors to make a special dividend distribution at this time.

The optimistic tenor of the weekly steel trade reviews, the stiffening in nonferrous metal prices, and reports that California refiners were drawing heavily on light oil stocks all helped to maintain bullish enthusiasm.

Stock Melons Predicted.

The usual flood of rumors also accompanied the rise in individual issues, with stock split-ups predicted in several of the high priced specialties. General Motors was mentioned in Wall street gossip as contemplating the formation of a new corporation to take over all the varied manufacturing interests of that and the Du Pont companies, but these lacked confirmation.

Oil shares, which had been slipping back for several weeks on selling inspired by the increase in crude production resulting from the discovery of several new fields, responded quickly to the appearance of fresh buying power. Marland, the Pan-American issues, Panhandle Producers, and Standard Oil of California all showed net gains of a point or more. Coppers moved upward under the leadership of Cerro de Pasco, which touched a new high for the year at 69¾.

Score of New Peaks.

Strong buying also developed in a number of amusement, chemical, equipment, public utility, and sugar shares. More than a score issues mounted to new high levels for the year, the list including American Can [new stock], American Power, Butterick, Case Threshing, Consolidated Cigar, Du Pont, Loew's, Inc., Shubert Theaters, Texas Gulf Sulphur, Timken Roller Bearing, and Weston Electrical Instrument.

DIVERSITY OF PRODUCTS SAVES SOUTH DAKOTA

Huron, S. D., July 28.—[Special.]—Eggs of many colors are being brought to market this year by ranchers of the Huron district. Growers are faced with almost a failure in every one of the small grain crops but they will not be standing empty handed at the market place this fall, as they have been occasionally in former years when all they had was staked on one or two crops.

Nearly $30,000,000 worth of farm products will be shipped out of Huron this year, according to estimates. The cow, sow and hen combination is rapidly driving wheat into the background in Beadle and adjoining counties. This is indicated by the big checks farmers are getting for their eggs, chickens, hogs and cream.

Fred I. Gillick Acquires Park Ridge Bank Control

Announcement that a controlling interest in the Park Ridge State bank has been purchased by Fred I. Gillick from Stanley Barrows was made last night by F. M. Zeiler & Co., who conducted the negotiations. The bank has capital of $100,000 and surplus of $50,000. The current market price of the stock is around $300 a share. There will be no change in management.

This includes exchanges in 20 county seats and approximately 1,100 miles of toll lines extending from New Mexico to Oklahoma. The toll revenue constitutes over 40% of the gross earnings. The toll lines are physically connected with the system of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, a subsidiary of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company, assuring toll connections throughout the United States. The territory to be served is one of the most rapidly growing sections in the country, and there is every indication that its growth will continue at a rapid rate. Population now about to be served is estimated in excess of 100,000.

Properties: The properties, a consolidation of 10 independent telephone companies, are located in the lower Panhandle district of Texas and the Eastern portion of New Mexico. The physical properties include 32 modern telephone exchanges, 25 toll stations and 2,000 miles of pole lines. The majority of the properties are new and all are in good condition.

Security and Valuation: These bonds will be secured, in the opinion of counsel, by a direct first mortgage on all of the fixed property and other assets of the Company as stipulated in the Trust Indenture. The combined value of the above properties as appraised by Spooner & Merrill, inclusive of materials, supplies and development cost, and after making deductions for depreciation, is $1,417,731.

Sinking Fund: The Mortgage under which these Bonds will be issued will provide that the Company shall pay into a sinking fund on July 1 of each of the years 1928 to 1932 inclusive, 1% and shall on July 1 of each succeeding year thereafter, pay 2% of the amount of bonds of said series outstanding on the date of each deposit, such deposits to be made with the Trustee and to be applied towards the redemption or purchase of said Series "A" bonds.

Buyers took advantage of excessive supplies and slashed quotations in practically all classes of live stock, yesterday. Combined arrivals of cattle, hogs and sheep first three days of the week at 175,000, compares with less than 150,000 for the same period last week, cattle receipts alone showing an increase of 12,000.

While bulk of cattle show 50@75c decline since last week's close, the brunt of the decline has been on in between and "grassy" steers, 12 yearlings averaging 1,026 lbs reached $10.65, equal to the highest in some time, indicating the urgency of demand for finished light weights. Nebraskas averaging 1,069 lbs reached $10.50, with 1,313 lb steers at $10.10. A few plain 1,527 lb. steers went at $8.75.

The price range shows a tendency to widen. A year ago common to choice steers sold from $6.25 to $15.00, a spread of nearly $9.00, against a $3.50 spread on recent sessions. Butcher stock ruled weak to unevenly lower. Fancy baby beef heifers reached $10.10. Bulls were steady to weak; calves steady. Stockers and feeders sold actively at weak to lower prices.

Hogs declined 10@25c, as supplies overran advanced estimates. Top and average prices lowered 15c at $13.75 and $11.90 respectively, the latter equaling the lowest since March, with range of prices as wide as any time of the season. Local operators purchased freely on the break and the clearance was the best in some time for mid-week, only 4,000 remaining unsold at the close. Outsiders took about 4,000. Fancy light reached $13.75, the day's peak, with the small quota above $13.50 cutting little figure in the trade. A big share of offerings consisted of packing grades selling below $11.00, numerous loads of 300@350 lb smooth sows bringing $10.00@10.50.

Lambs Slump Again.

Further declines of 25@50c in killing lambs carried prices close to the low point of the season, best rangers bringing $14.35 and natives downwards from $14.00. Sorting was more severe, with culls 50c lower at $10.00@10.75 mostly. Weighty buck lambs were rejected from loads and sold at $12.00@12.50. Matured stock and yearlings held steady, 100 lb yearling wethers bringing $12.00, with 120 lb native ewes at $7.50, prime 150 pounders reaching $7.00. Breeding sheep met good demand at $7.50@13.00, while range feeding lambs ruled weak to 25c lower, the brunt of the decline of medium and weighty feeders. Best light were held at $13.50@13.75, with bulk of 65@75 lb lambs to country buyers at $12.50@13.25.

Pursuant to law in such case made and provided, public notice is hereby given that the following Joint Resolution of the Fifty-fourth General Assembly, proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the State of Illinois, which proposed amendment will be submitted to the people for adoption or rejection at the general election to be held on November 2, 1926.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 4.

RESOLVED, By the Senate of the State of Illinois, the House of Representatives concurring therein: That there shall be submitted to the electors of this State for adoption or rejection at the next election of members of the General Assembly of the State of Illinois, in the manner provided by law, a proposition to amend Article IX of the Constitution by adding thereto an additional section to be known as section 14 of Article IX, as follows:

ARTICLE IX.

Sec. 14. From and after the date when this section shall be in force, the General Assembly shall have authority to provide by general law for the levy and collection of taxes for public purposes upon persons, property and income, free from the limitations contained in sections one (1), three (3), nine (9) and ten (10) of this article. Taxes levied under the authority of this section shall be uniform upon all persons, property or income of the same class. All real estate shall be in one class, except that mineral land and land devoted to reforestation may be in different classes. Exemptions from taxation may be established only by general law. This section shall not affect existing exemptions established by law under the authority of section 3 of this article. Taxes by valuation under the authority of this section shall be based upon a value to be ascertained by some person or persons to be elected or appointed in such a manner as the General Assembly shall direct, and not otherwise. No act for the imposition, increase, continuance or revival of a tax under the authority of this section, or for the establishment of exemptions under the authority of this section, shall become a law without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members elected to each house.

Adopted by Senate May 27, 1925, and House Amendment concurred in on June 16, 1925.

J. H. Paddock,
Secretary of the Senate.

Fred E. Sterling,
President of the Senate.

Amended and adopted by the House of Representatives June 9, 1925.

B. H. McCann,
Clerk of the House.

Robert Scholes,
Speaker of the House.

The form in which the proposed amendment to the Constitution of Illinois is to appear upon the official ballot at the general election on November 2, 1926, is as follows:

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT BALLOT.

Proposed Amendment Adding Section 14 to Article IX of the Constitution of the State of Illinois.

This proposed amendment imposes no new taxes. It affects no existing exemptions from taxation. The provision concerning the "two-thirds" vote (contained in the proposed Section 14) applies only to such future tax and exemption legislation as may be pursuant to, that is "under the authority of this section." It does not apply to past legislation, nor to such future legislation as may be under the general powers of the General Assembly nor as may be only under one or more of the old thirteen sections. The rates under new methods of taxation authorized by the amendment will require a two-thirds vote. The proposed amendment permits two-thirds of the members of the two houses to adopt methods of taxation, free from limitations in the present Constitution, adopted fifty-five years ago, which now prevent an equitable adjustment of the burdens of taxation. For this reason the two houses of the General Assembly propose this amendment to the people.

For the proposed amendment adding Section 14 to Article IX of the Constitution.
Against the proposed amendment adding Section 14 to Article IX of the Constitution.

D. 1926, the originals of which are now on file in this office.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I hereunto set my hand and affix the Great Seal of the State of Illinois. Done at my office in the Capitol Building, at the city of Springfield, this 9th day of July, A. D. 1926 and of the Independence of the United States the one hundred fifty-first.

The following information is summarized from a letter of Mr. Martin J. Insull, President of the Company:

BUSINESS: Central Power and Light Company, incorporated in 1916 under the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, now supplies one or more classes of public utility service to a centralized group of 92 communities the majority of which are located in the southern portion of the State of Texas. Electric light and power is supplied to 86 communities, ice to 67, water to 16, gas to 3 and street railway service in 2 communities. The Company serves 36,999 customers with electric light and power, 663 with gas and 9,185 with water. The total combined population of the territory now served is estimated at 518,000.

The properties now operated comprise electric power stations having generating capacity of 32,450 horse power, ice plants having daily ice making capacity of 2,270 tons, gas plants of 45,000 cubic feet daily capacity, and 690 miles of electric transmission lines. Natchez, Mississippi; Laredo, Corpus Christi and Del Rio, Texas, and the rich Rio Grande valley are among the districts where electric service is rendered. Houston, San Antonio and Brownsville are the largest of the communities served with ice.

SECURITY: These Bonds, in the opinion of counsel, will be a direct obligation of the Company and will be secured by an absolute first mortgage on all of the permanent property, rights and franchises of the Company now owned or hereafter acquired, and additionally secured by deposit with the Trustee under the Mortgage of all capital stocks and bonds at any time outstanding of the subsidiaries specified in the Mortgage. Not to exceed 3½% of the values and earnings of the properties of the Company are owned by the Subsidiaries.

MAINTENANCE AND RENEWAL FUND: The Mortgage will also provide that during each calendar year, the Company shall expend or cause to be expended by its Subsidiaries an amount not less than 12½% of the sum of the gross earnings derived from operation of its mortgaged properties and the properties of its Subsidiaries, for (a) the making of repairs, renewals and replacements; (b) the making of extensions or the acquisition of properties on account of which the Company would otherwise be entitled to issue additional bonds; or (c) the redemption or the purchase and cancellation of any bonds issued under and secured by the Mortgage.

VALUATION: The value of the Company's property, less depreciation, as recently determined by independent examining engineers, plus the actual cost of subsequent additions, is largely in excess of the total funded debt of the Company, to be outstanding in the hands of the public upon completion of the present financing.

EARNINGS: The Consolidated Earnings Statement of the Central Power and Light Company and its Subsidiaries, for the twelve months period ended June 30, 1926, with earnings of properties acquired subsequent to June 30, 1925, included for the full twelve months, are as follows:

12 months ended June 30, 1926:

Annual Interest Requirement on the Company's total funded debt (this issue only)	$ 725,000.00

NET EARNINGS OVER 3 TIMES INTEREST REQUIREMENT ON FUNDED DEBT

MANAGEMENT: The operations of the Company are controlled, through the Central and South West Utilities Company, by the Middle West Utilities Company. The management is in the hands of experienced public utility men whose ability as economical and efficient operators has been thoroughly demonstrated.

SUMMER TRADE SHOWS INCREASE OVER LAST YEAR

BY O. A. MATHER.

There was no dearth of cheerful news again yesterday. The monthly summary of the federal reserve board on business conditions for June supported earlier reports by the leading industries. The midweek steel trade reviews were enthusiastic concerning conditions in that basic industry. Additional excellent railroad earnings statements appeared.

"Industrial activity was at the same level in June as in May and was slightly above the level of a year ago," the reserve board says. "Total volume of wholesale and retail trade in June was larger than for the same month in 1925. Stocks of merchandise carried by wholesale firms were smaller. Freight car loadings showed seasonal increases and continued at higher levels than in previous years. The general level of wholesale prices increased less than half of one per cent."

Expansion in Steel Trade.

Expanding activities in the steel industry, contrary to the usual summer curtailment, is noted in the trade reviews.

"Extraordinary though the performanace of the steel idustry has been throughout July," the Iron Age says, "the fact that the final week is marked by an upturn in operations brings fresh surprise. From an 83 per cent ingot production last week the Steel corporation's rate now is 87 per cent. A feature of the week's buying has been several round lots of sheets and cold rolled strip steel for Michigan automobile plants. From the rate at which railroads have been taking rails and track supplies this year producers now estimate that in these prodcts 1926 will run 10 per cent beyond 1925, and thus will exceed the good record of 1923. Western car shops are within a month of completing present orders."

Efficiency Increase Rail Earnings.

Increasing efficiency in railroad operations as well as expanding traffic is shown in the carriers' earnings reports. The combined reports of 45 roads that already have made public their June figures show net operating income of $73,032,058, an increase of 14 per cent over June, 1925, and of 9½ per cent over May this year. Gross revenues for June totaled $365,580,285, an increase of 6½ per cent over a year ago and of 4½ per cent over May.

"For the third consecutive month this year there was a slight reduction in the volume of employment at industrial plants in this district," the Chicago Federal Reserve bank says. "The reduction during June averaged 0.7 per cent, or the same as for each of the two preceding months. Aggregate savings deposits on July 1 were 1.1 per cent larger than at the beginning of June and made a gain of 2.1 per cent over last year."

$50,000,000 Bond Offerings.

With the investment demand for new securities showing no letdown, public offerings today will aggregate nearly $50,000,000. The largest issue is $15,000,000 fifteen year 7 per cent collateral trust sinking fund bonds of the Silesian-American corporation, organized by the Anaconda and Harriman interests to acquire control of the Georg von Giesche's Heirs Mining company in Europe.

An issue of $14,500,000 Central Power and Light company first mortgage 5 per cent bonds represents financing by the Insull interests. The company is one of the operating subsidiaries of the Central and Southwest Utilities company, an Insull concern.

Other issues include $5,500,000 first lien 5 per cent bonds of the Derby Gas and Electric corporation, an issue of $4,000,000 Liquid Carbonic company first convertible 6 per cent bonds and an issue of $3,000,000 General Necessities corporation first mortgage 6 per cent real estate sinking fund bonds.

CHICAGO STOCK TRANSACTIONS

Wednesday, July 28, 1926.

Day's sales............23,000 Year ago..............44,000 Total, 1926..........6,630,800 Year ago..............7,723,852

Chicago stocks were a bit stronger, although without any increase in activity, yesterday. Electrical Research Laboratories jumped 4 points, to 15, in the belief that the coming radio season will be profitable. U. S. Gypsum advanced 2 points, to 168, and Pines Winterfront was 1¼ higher, to 56¼. Real Silk Hosiery gained ¾. National Electric Power A declined ½. Auburn Automobile closed ⅛ up. Reports were current that Auburn officials are negotiating for the sale of an issue of three year 5½ per cent notes, but this was denied by L. B. Manning, treasurer, who, however, would not deny that any financing is contemplated. On small sales, gains were: United Light and Power A preferred, 2 points; Northwest Utilities preferred, 1¾; Kraft Cheese, 1¼; Public Service no par, 1⅛.

WALL STREET NOTES

NEW YORK, July 28.—(AP)—Revival of speculative activity and strength in the oil shares featured the resumption of the upward movement in today's curb market. Net gains, as a rule, were small, although Borne-Scrymser soared 18 points to a new peak at 284 on a few odd lot sales.

Public utilities developed several points of strength under the leadership of American Gas and Electric, which scored an extra gain of 4 points. American Super Power issues, Commonwealth Edison, Middle West Utilities, and United Gas Improvement also advanced a point or two. A steady increase in the earnings of most companies has attracted fresh buying into the power and light stocks.

Motors were mixed, Federal Motor [new] yielding a point to a new low at 23. Radio shares received increasing attention with Freshman and Hazeltine as the leaders in that group. Coal and baking shares were slightly firmer. Unusually heavy trading in Golden Center Mines, based on reports of a new strike in Alaska, was the only development of importance in the mining group.

Railroad issues assumed the lead of a quiet and orderly advance in bond prices today. The demand embraced both investment and speculative rail issues, with particular activity noted in Baltimore and Ohio liens, Chesapeake and Ohio 5s, Chicago Great Western 4s, Rock Island refunding 4s, Erie consolidated 4s, Great Northern 5s, Katy adjustment 5s, Missouri Pacific first 6s and general 4s, Northern Pacific 5s, and Wabash 5½s.

Reports of improved conditions in the sugar trade carried the bonds of these companies materially higher. Cuba Cane 7s and Eastern Cuba 7½s gained about a point, while the Warner issues, which were sharply depressed yesterday, rallied 1 to 2⅝ points. Brooklyn Union Gas 5s and West Virginia Coal and Coke were other strong features.

Foreign obligations moved slowly forward. French government's 7s advanced nearly a point on a large turnover and the municipals were strong. Trading in the German division was featured by the strength of General Electric 6½s and Rheinelbe 7s, each of which gained a point.

Reactionary tendencies in the foreign exchange market were attributed to a relatively light demand for the principal currencies. Demand sterling ruled slightly lower around $4.85 11-16, while French francs broke over 10 points to around 2.39 cents, and Belgian francs slipped back six points to 2.42½ cents. Italian lire were slightly firmer around 3.22 cents.

Put Safety in Your Safe Deposit Box

FILLING a safe deposit box with unsound, promotional stocks is a good deal like taking out fire insurance on a last year's straw hat.

Safe deposit vaults are built to protect things which are worth protecting. They are made strong to prevent burglars from stealing things which would do the burglar some good, if he possessed them. They are made fire-proof to prevent things from being burned up which are worth more in their original state than they would be as a pile of ashes.

The contents of your safe deposit box will deserve protection if they consist of good Municipal, Public Utility and Industrial bonds. Our booklet, "The Ideal Investment," describes one good type of safe deposit box securities. We'll be pleased to send you a copy on request for T-86.

ELECTRIFICATION OF FARM PASSES TALKING STAGE

BY HARPER LEECH.

The literature on rural electrification is so voluminous, the amount of experimental work is so great that one is apt to get the idea that the great movement is in the talking and experimental stage exclusively. Such is not the fact. Men are trying out new plans and speculating about how to accomplish the great task of linking the basic industry into a common power web with the others, but farms are being electrified at the same time.

It is very possible that a great part of the job will have been done long before there has been evolved any settled general policy. Such is the trick of history. It may be found that as the way to "resume" was "to resume," so the way to electrify rurality is to go and do it.

One of the most interesting farm electrification movements is that being carried out by the Milwaukee Power company and its associated corporations.

Stimulated by no political considerations such as have been potent in Ontario, aided by no such cheap water power as is conferred upon the Pacific coast companies, with their high heads of water almost naturally impounded, the Wisconsin outfit, with its dynamic Scotch engineer, have been going right ahead. This year they have put about 100 farms per month on a power basis. This work has been achieved on sound economic lines. The company will gain, so will the farmers. The bargain is one of mutuality—the company meets the customer far more than half way, but the customer will develop a line of very desirable business.

There are about 21,000 farms in the area which can be served by these companies. At last reports 3,185 were taking electric service. Eighty-five miles of new rural transmission lines have been installed this year, on which many hundreds of new customers are expected to be signed up.

A column of this sort is no place for a technical analysis of a power rate card, but in a general way the rate system used by the Milwaukee group is based upon the recognition that a farm is both a home and a factory and the rate system must take account of that by recognizing the principles of rates for domestic use and rates for commercial power.

The financing of the transmission lines is predicated upon the principle that the consumer will pay nothing for installing transmission if his use of current for three years makes the gross revenue approximately equal to the cost of installation.

After the use of a minimum amount of current, the rural consumer gets a very low rate, comparable to that of an industrial consumer. Because the extension of service to the rural consumer will tend to improve the load factor the company extends financial assistance in the form of deferred payment arrangements to the customer, which enable him to do his wiring and to install apparatus which will consume current.

The customer, of course, pays for the use of the money, but while he is paying that his use of electricity usually so improves his return from farming that the thing takes care of itself handsomely. In other words, the electric industry, like so many others, is finding that the financing of consumption on sound lines is really another way of financing additional production.

The Misty Pathway

By FLORENCE RIDDELL

SYNOPSIS.

Richenda Peterson, a London office girl, wins five thousand pounds in a newspaper contest. Her friends are as excited over her good fortune as she is. She tells them about seeing the face of a man in her dreams night after night.

The first installment of this exciting story was published Sunday. Start to read it today.

INSTALLMENT V.

THE DREAM FACE.

"But mind, I said the right man."

"I don't believe you'll recognize him if you do meet him," grumbled Jean mournfully. "You'll be looking for a some one who doesn't exist—that man you have nightmares about. You're hopelessly impractical, Richenda. Preserve me from these people with black eyes and Spanish great-grandmothers!"

"Now don't drag her ancestors into her escapades. Let them R. I. P., for pity's sake," implored Kathleen.

"It's true enough, though," answered Jean. "Wild blood will out."

"Well," laughed Kathie, "at any rate, Dick, it's about time you made up your mind to which quarter of the globe those adventurous feet of yours are first to be directed."

"O, dear," sighed Richenda, puffing a little blue cloud of cigaret smoke from between troubled lips, "it's frightfully difficult! I never guessed money could bring such problems in its train."

"I?" said Kathleen, "I would go to New York. I'd see the skyscrapers and Fifth avenue, and the freak dinners and——"

"I?" said Jean, "I would go to Nice. It's moderately respectable, and you'd get the palms you're howling about there."

"Perhaps South Africa,"—Kathleen again—"they say that Durban is another Brighton. There is surf-bathing, too, and——"

"Where are those guide books?" Richenda broke in; then, a little later. "O, why do the guide books never tell one the things one wants to know? Who cares for the chief imports of South Australia?"

She cast a cloud of fluttering pamphlets from her knees in disgust. "D'you know, girls, I've a good mind to do the pin business again—Ena, deena, dinah, doh, catch a. . . . It stood by me last time. Why shouldn't it stand by me again?"

She jumped laughing to her feet, danced over to her work basket, which lay on a nearby table, half covered by an evening newspaper that Kathleen had brought in on her way home from business.

Suddenly Richenda's pink cheeks whitened, a little startled look came into her wide, dark eyes, a little gasp of fear came through her parted lips.

"Girls," she said slowly, a note of strange amazement in her voice, "girls, it's he—the—the—man who comes in my dreams. Jean—Kathie—what does it mean? O, look!"

They fell upon her, tore the paper from her shaking fingers, voices raised in questioning exclamation.

Richenda couldn't speak now. She was trembling violently, white to the lips. She could only point weakly at the pictured face which gazed out from the printed page.

A lean, hatchet face it was, clean shaven, with finely cut features, a wide, firm mouth above a thin jaw line, a pair of keen, humorous eyes, looking out from under heavy brows. A strange, unusual face, that few could pass by with a cursory glance. A strong face—indomitable will showed in every line of it. A whimsical sadness lurked in the compelling eyes. Good intellect spoke from the broad, high brow. Courage showed in the chin. Not a handsome face, but one which by its fascinating force could make those who saw it look—and look again.

And so Jean and Kathleen looked again.

"I'll rest content and let Fate lead me where she will!"

"What do you mean, Richenda?" they demanded.

Richenda was more composed now, her breath came a shade more quietly.

"That is the face which comes in my dreams," she said. "Now you know why I couldn't marry John Charteris."

"It is incredible," cried Jean, "impossible! You've never seen the man! Dick, you are mad—dreaming!"

"No," said Richenda, a rather wonderful soft light shining in her eyes, "I'm awake—now."

Kathleen was reading the typescript aloud, punctuating her words with staccato shrieks of excitement.

"O—o!" she cried, "he's Brett Fairways, the famous explorer! I've read about him before. He did that wonderful Central Australian journey—you know—they got captured by the Aborigines and nearly eaten alive. Look," she pointed a pink nail at the heading above the photograph: "Brett Fairways Starts for Africa Today."

Jean chimed in. "A six months' tour in East Africa. The famous explorer goes on holiday. O, Richenda, how perfectly wonderful!"

"Are you sure—quite sure—it's the same man?" persisted Kathleen.

"Quite sure." Richenda's tone was steady now. "I know that face too well to make any mistake."

Kathleen's eyes glowed fire. "Dickie, do you think he is the right man?" she breathed.

"That's just what I've got to go and find out," answered Miss Peterson calmly.

"O, Dickie! You'd never . . . You surely don't mean to go to——"

"I shan't need that pin, girls," she said then. "The question has answered itself. I'm—going—to——"

She paused suddenly. A united yell broke from the other two pairs of lips.

"O, Dick, go on . . . go on . . . you're going to——"

"To East Africa," ended Richenda.

The silence of utter amazement closed upon her words. Then:

"O Dick, you can't do a dreadful thing like that!" Even Kathleen was scandalized.

"It's tantamount to chasing a man round the world," put in Jean. "Suppose he ever found out!"

Richenda knitted her black brows fiercely. "I shall not chase him," she told them. "You simply don't understand! Girls, girls, can't you see? It's like so many points won in a game of chance. First his face comes in my dreams, and then, on the heels of that, all this money showers down upon me, spelling adventure, escape. But escape—where? I cannot even say! Then the newspaper falls right under my hand. His face again—Africa! What unanswered question is it hurling across to me? I cannot tell. But, Kathie, Jean, it's something—something meant for me alone. Chance knocks at the door of every one's life at least once. Should one turn a deaf ear to its calling? Should I go off at a tangent to some opposite side of the world just from a sense of mid-Victorian convention?

"I won't do it!" She clenched her brown hand fiercely. "I'll go the way that these strange happenings direct. I'll see what is at the end of them. . . . Girls, there's more in heaven and earth than our tiny comprehensions can ever realize! I may never even see Brett Fairways, but yet I know that in some strange manner he is going to influence my life. I'll make my way into that sphere of influence. That's all I'll do. I'll go to Africa—East Africa—and I know as well as I've ever known anything that the minute I set foot there Fate will take the shaping of my life into her own hands. I'll rest content to let her lead me where she will!"

"Union Castle Line—Tilbury to South Africa—East Coast Route—Kenya Colony—Port Mombasa—Fares . . . " Kathleen was ruffling the leaves of a yellow guide book.

New Life Put Into Old Tunes of "Traviata"

Lucrezia Bori Supplies Most of Magic.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

They nearly accomplished the impossible at Ravinia last night. They put on "Traviata" and tried to get some new life into its old frame. Part of the time they came close to succeeding.

Whenever Lucrezia Bori appears in an opera you are reasonably sure of seeing a good show. The part of Violetta in this opera gave her a little more to do than most because it is harder to make a good show out of it, but she proceeded to do it. Not that she went crosswise of any traditions except the tradition of putting several dozen high notes in the last scene of the first act, a place where she substituted some lower ones.

But she costumed the part to make it indicate the character. The bravura splashes of red in her first act gown were a brilliant cadenza. Then she acted it like a human being and not like a prima donna. Finally she gave it a touch of the vital Bori individuality that appears in all her rôles.

The younger Germont, her associate of song and story in the opera, was Mario Chamlee, and a first rate Germont he was. He has the suave, richly toned voice that is called for by the music and the mannered air of youth and dignity that is called for by the plot. It was a good performance throughout—good on its own behalf and because it played up with supple contrast to Miss Bori's Violetta.

The elder Germont was Mario Basiola, also generously endowed with plenty of fine voice and with the chance, beloved of all baritones, to put his heels together and indulge in lyric reminiscence of the old home down in Provenza.

BEG YOUR PARDON!

THE TRIBUNE on Monday morning printed a Washington dispatch telling how speeches not delivered in congress are printed in the Congressional Record. Congressman Henry R. Rathbone was mentioned. Mr. Rathbone writes to THE TRIBUNE to say that the only speech he printed in the Record after the close of the session was the same as that he delivered on the floor of the house earlier.

New Sector of Wacker Drive to Be Opened

Wells-Dearborn Stretch Is Nearly Completed.

Pleasure cars will be rolling over three more blocks of Wacker drive, the section between Wells and Dearborn streets, within two weeks, T. A. Evans, engineer of design for the board of local improvements, announced yesterday.

Work on the project is nearly two weeks ahead of schedule, Mr. Evans said, and if the present rate of progress is maintained the entire drive will be finished late in October. The formal opening probably will take place some time in November.

"Our plan is to throw open the sections of the drive as fast as they are finished," said Mr. Evans. "We are letting the detail work go for the present. These finishing touches can be put on afterward."

The first layers of asphalt paving are now being poured on the upper level of the Wells-Dearborn strip. Coincident with its completion, set for Aug. 1, the Clark and Dearborn street approaches and the Clark street bridge will be opened for vehicular traffic. The La Salle street approach will be opened later.

The last part of the drive to be finished will be the three-block segment from Dearborn street to Wabash avenue, the sections from Michigan to Wabash avenue and Market to Wells street being now in use. Traffic will be closed over the State street bridge Aug. 11 and a temporary trestle built for street car tracks.

Although a great deal of excavating must be done at this point, Mr. Evans is hoping that the cassions may be sunk rapidly. Difficulties in this work caused long delays near LaSalle street where some of the shafts had to be sunk more than 100 feet to reach a solid base.

An inspection of the lower level of the drive was made yesterday by engineers representing W. H. Mulvihill, state superintendent of waterways, to gather data on its barge terminal facilities which had been cited by Mayor Dever in reply to Mr. Mulvihill's objection that the river straightening project failed to provide docking space Hugh Young and E. J. Noonan, city engineers, accompanied the state inspectors.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send name and address with your question to "The Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question Mrs. Anna Foss, 1317 Elmdale avenue, was awarded $5.

The Question.

Do you like to see one-piece bathing suits on either men or women?

Where Asked.

Oak street beach.

The Answers.

Miss Irene Frick, 708 East 90th place, real estate—For a beach parade, an attractive two-piece suit. For the stage—women only—a one-piece suit. But for actual swimming, where you are entitled to be free to act and be as little impeded by garments as possible, the one-piece suit is the ideal.

James Paglino, 4154 Melrose street, salesman—My opinion is that a one-piece suit is not the one for a public beach. At these places a little modesty is more attractive than mere physical display. With the attractive two-piece suits that are to be had today there is no need for the questionable attraction of a one-piece suit.

Miss Doris Peterson, 1441 Mayfield avenue, high school student—No, absolutely. A one-piece suit looks indecent at the beach. They are all right in a Mack Sennet comedy or in a bathing beauty contest, and they are all right in a tank, but for a public beach they should wear something that is something.

W. E. McCarthy, 3 West Ohio street, director of Oak street beach—The only suitable place for a one-piece suit is at a tank. For promiscuous bathing a one-piece suit is, to the observing public, objectionable, even obnoxious. At the Oak street beach the one-piece suit is absolutely taboo.

Miss Mabel Jacobsen, 1320 Kedzie avenue, stenographer—No. I don't like them. I think they are immodest. I don't like them on show girls, either. I think a two-piece suit is ever so much nicer. Flo Ziegfeld and others may not agree with me, but that's my opinion and it's yours for the good it may do.

Visiting Day at Algonquin to Draw Friends Out Today

For the information of motorists who have requested that the route to Camp Algonquin be reprinted, and particularly for those who wish to visit the camp tomorrow, one of the regular visiting days, the instructions are repeated today.

Motorists from the north side should take Diversey parkway to Milwaukee avenue, following that to the Higgins road, and take route 22 through Dundee to the town of Algonquin. From the south and west sides of Chicago take Lake street to Elgin, then follow route 22 to the town of Algonquin.

From the north shore suburbs, the visitors should go to Dundee, then to the Northwest highway to Cary, Ill. The camp lies two and one-half miles beyond Cary and one and one-half miles from the town of Algonquin.

Monday and Friday are the regular visiting days. Between 1:30 and 3:30 in the afternoon is the rest hour and visitors are requested to time their inspection of camp so that they will either finish their trip before 1:30 or arrive after 3:30, when all the campers go for their daily splash in the river.

Paris Irked by American Talk of 'Real Money'

And Two-Price System Angers Tourists.

[Copyright: 1926: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, July 28.—President Coolidge's advice to traveling Americans to try to accommodate themselves to the habits and customs of the countries they are visiting was prominently displayed by the French press today, generally without comment. The advice is appreciated by all sensible Frenchmen and sensible Americans. Frenchmen who aren't sensible say the fact the President issued such advice shows American tourists are to blame for the friction. Americans who are not sensible say—if President Coolidge had ever been over here he would know the fault lay on French shoulders.

It is certainly true the average American tourist abroad considers everything done wrong which is not done the American way. The Frenchman, on the other side, is prone to consider his own ways better than American ways and there lies a wide field for differences.

A delegation of Americans called on Ambassador Herrick the other day, asking him to protest officially against the closing of shops between noon and 2 o'clock because it interfered with their shopping.

Speaking of shops, it is the general impression of the tourist arriving for the first time that the French have two prices, one for foreigners and the other for Frenchmen and a common remark heard in Paris shops these days is "I want the price for Frenchmen, not for Americans."

French business men swear they haven't one price for Americans and another for Frenchmen. But it is not so simple as that. French shops often have two prices. One is called the prix fort, which is the marked price and the other is known as the prix, which is the price for which the article may be had after bargaining. Now, when the shopkeeper says this system exists for Frenchmen as well as for foreigners he is telling the truth, but he forgets the French know about it and know how to get the bargain price, whereas the American does not know the system and generally doesn't get the lower price. Whoever is at fault it is this system which leads to numberless recriminations.

There is one habit of the American travelers to which the French especially object woefully with a spread of expression "How much is that in real money?" One can hear this question a dozen times a day in Paris, which means it is asked thousands of times. There is little doubt that tourists often pay higher prices than natives. There is also no doubt that it is done in other countries than France.

For the last several days there has been no notable incident of ill temper and it may be that all surplus steam has been let off. Perhaps it depends on what the exchange does.

George Inness, Noted Painter, Author, Dies

Cragsmoor, N. Y., July 28.—George Inness, the painter, occasional author and lecturer, died last midnight at his summer home, Chetalah, here.

He was internationally known, although his paintings hardly obtained the celebrity that attached to those of his father.

The cause of Mr. Inness' death was acute indigestion. He had arrived here only recently from his winter home at Harbor Springs, Fla.

Mr. Inness signed his paintings "Inness Jr."

His best known canvas, an allegorical painting, entitled, "The Only Hope," precipitated a controversial discussion of religion at a meeting of the chamber of commerce of the state of New York on May 7, 1925.

Funeral services will be held at Cragsmoor Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock and interment will be at Montclair, N. J., on Saturday.

He leaves a widow, Mrs. Julia Goodrich Smith Inness; two daughters, Mrs. Juliet Cox of Grass Valley, Cal., and Mrs. Elizabeth Greenlee of New York, and a sister, Mrs. Jonathan Scott Hartley of New York.

George Inness Jr. was born at Paris, France, on Jan. 5, 1854. He was a pupil of his father in Rome, Italy, from 1870 to 1874 and then for a year in Paris in 1875. He married Julia Goodrich Rosewell-Smith.

Chiffon Stockings Necessitate the Slim, Smooth Leg

by Antoinette Donnelly

If you wear sheer chiffon hosiery—and where's the old fashioned femme who'd be caught wearing anything else these days—you want to be sure that your legs are rid of hair. You can't hide this growth if the stockings are filmy. And it is awfully unattractive when no attempt is made to remove it. It spoils the look of the stocking, too.

If you are an observant bus or street car traveler you can't well escape a view of silk clad ankles complacently extended with an unattractive hirsute display showing through the filmy texture.

It is just as important to remove this hair from the legs as from under the arms. Evening gowns and bathing suits have made the clean underarm practically universal.

While peroxide and ammonia make an excellent bleach for superfluous hair, if it grows luxuriantly on the limbs it is better to remove it entirely. As you know, there is but one way of removing superfluous hair permanently—by electrolysis. But since it is a rather expensive operation the leg need not be submitted to it. A good depilatory will serve, or the use of a safety razor. There will be no permanency about either of these treatments, but you will not require more than a treatment once in two weeks, and in spite of all the talk about this form of removing hairs being productive of longer and coarser hairs there is really little danger. The hairs, if permitted, will grow back to their original length and abundance, but there is no appreciable difference in the quantity and texture.

It is just one of those items of her toilette that a particular woman attends to with regularity.

And speaking of legs and casings—why do women who shouldn't fall for the lure of the nude shades with a strong cast of pink in them? This color accentuates the thickness of the calf, even more than does a white stocking. Naturally you don't want to wear dark hosiery in a season in which you'd be conspicuous so stockinged, but there are sand tones and colors with a bit of gray in them that are ever so much kinder to the plump extremities.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

W. H. E.: SKIN GRAFTING IS necessary to remove deep tattoo marks. This kind of work is done by skin specialists. There is a great deal of difference in the skill of operators, so be sure to go to a reputable man.

A. C. M.: THE DARK RINGS UNder your eyes call for medical attention unless they are the result of loss of sleep or anxiety of some kind. Flabby lids are due to a lack of physical tone and to overcome them you must tone up the system generally.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Drying of Plums.

When our grandmothers, the thrifty and capable ones, wished to give a party they had rare things of their own conserving to grace it, and make it "different." To have something "different" is the fond wish of many women today who, if they wish hard enough, go to it and make something.

In that delightful old Downing book mentioned here once a year or oftener, and which some of my readers have sought for their own, more than 350 varieties of plums are listed and described. Introducing them is this:

"The plums are gathered when just ripe enough to fall from the trees on their being slightly shaken. They are then laid separately on frames or sieves made of wicker work or laths, and exposed for several days to the sun till they become as soft as ripe medlars. When this is the case they are put into a spent oven, shut quite close, and left there for twenty-four hours; they are then taken out and the oven being slightly reheated, they are put in again when it is rather warmer than it was before. The next day they are again taken out, and turned by slightly shaking the sieves. The oven is heated again, and they are put in a third time, when the oven is one-fourth degree hotter than it was the second time. After remaining twenty-four hours they are taken out and left to get quite cold. They are then rounded, an operation which is performed by turning the stone in the plum without breaking the skin, and pressing the two ends together between the thumb and finger. They are then put upon sieves, which are placed in an oven, from which the bread has just been drawn. The door of the oven is closed and the crevices around it are stopped with clay or dry grass. An hour afterward the plums are taken out and the oven is again shut with a cup of water in it for about two hours. When the water is so warm as just to be able to bear the finger in it, the prunes are again placed in the oven and left there for twenty-four hours, when the operation is finished."

THE TRIBUNE COOK BOOK, by Jane Eddington, with menus for thirty meals and with chapters making a brief guide to correct eating, is on sale for 10 cents by mail or at the Public Service Office, 11 South Dearborn street.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Boys Want a Bike.

"I wonder if any one has an old bicycle no longer wanted. I have two orphan boys living with me on the farm and they'd like to have one, but I can't afford to buy it for them.

"MRS. K. F."

If you've outgrown your bike why not give it to these orphan boys? The pleasure they'd derive from it would be no small matter and then, too, it would be a means of transportation in the country.

Swimming Suits Offered.

"I have quite a large box of men's, women's, and children's bathing suits to give. Most of them are in pretty good condition and you might be able to make use of them. L. W."

Here's your opportunity to join the crowds at the bathing beaches these warm days. Let me know your size and perhaps there will be a suit to fit you.

Asks for Lawn Mower.

"We need a lawn mower, but cannot afford to buy one. Perhaps some one has an old one he doesn't need any more. My neighbors' gardens look so neat and I feel ashamed of mine.

"MRS. H."

Have you the lawn mower which will keep our correspondent's garden neat and trim?

Anxious for the Melon.

This incident occurred on a Sunday night when we had for company Mr. and Mrs. A. W. My folks did not like these people, nor did I. Out in the kitchen a big watermelon stood on the table. We were supposed to cut it before they came, but they called too soon, and then I didn't want to cut it.

When they were ready to leave mother escorted them to the hallway and stood there talking awhile.

I thought they had gone when I stood up and said to my sisters and brothers, who were sitting with me, "Well, at last we are rid of them. Now we can cut the melon."

Imagine my embarrassment when I found they were still standing there talking, but after they heard me they departed. B. B.

Uncomfortable.

My brother and I were working downtown at different offices for the summer months. One day, not having anything to do, I decided to send him a letter. I sat down and began writing one, the contents of which were exceptionally funny and silly. I signed my name on the bottom and addressed it to the firm my brother was working for.

Of course, when they received it, not knowing who it was intended for, they sent it back to my firm. The president of our firm, on receiving it, opened and read the contents, and seeing my name signed on the bottom promptly returned it to me, telling me not to send such a silly letter to any firm, as I had done, unless I wished to be discharged. Imagine my embarrassment on receiving it. G. C.

Never a Marcel Wave

By Edna Wallace Hopper

My hair is ever curly, with never a Marcel wave. And it always has a glow. The reason lies in a hairdress made exclusively for me. It was perfected for me by great experts when I had my long hair bobbed. Now all toilet counters supply it under the name Edna Wallace Hopper's Wave and Sheen. The price is 75c.

I cannot conceive of a girl or woman going without it when she knows. No one who sees my hair will do so. Nothing else I have ever found makes hair so lustrous, so wavy, so fluffy, so abundant. My guarantee is enclosed with every bottle, so it costs you nothing if it doesn't please. Go try it at my expense.—Adv.

Bobby Jones Inspires Youthful Amateurs to Seek Golf Honors

BY NANCY R——.

The ineffable Bobby Jones has set a style in amateur golfing that the ambitious youth of the country is doing its best to follow. For so many years the golfing pros here and in other places ran away with the laurels that our amateurs let their attentions become divided among tennis, riding, yachting, motorcycling, and other outdoor diversions, but now at smart clubs around Chicago you'll find the names of various boys who are setting out to conquer the golf world.

At Onwentsia such enterprising juniors as Ralph Poole [who is as proficient at golf as he is at sticking on his motorcycle], Radcliffe Kirk, young Bob Carter, E. C. Bell Jr., E. J. Warner Jr., C. F. Childs Jr., Will Hasler, William McCormick Blair Jr., and Edward Bennett the younger [he is just starting at this intriguing occupation] are frequently to be found involved in the intricacies of lowering their records for eighteen holes.

Otho Sprague, who is thirteen, and the son of A. A. Sprague, is said to be about the best of the youthful shooters at Shoreacres—according to the wise ones, he has his eye on a certain silver cup when he's old enough to try for it. Jimmy Viles, young Gustavus Swift and the Paul Gardners' son, Paul Jr., also play up at Shoreacres when wind and weather permit.

Saturday evening seems to be the choice time of the week, out Lake Forest way, for dinner time entertaining. Two large parties are already on the books for that night this week, one at which Mr. and Mrs. Clive Runnells will be hosts, and the other to be given by the Mason Phelps.

"Kitchen Culture" Is Urged for Men to Aid Wives' Career

AMSTERDAM, July 28.—(AP)—Kitchen duty for husbands is under discussion at the convention here of the International Federation of University Women.

The man who helps his wife with the dishes and the need by American men for "kitchen culture," are among the subjects on which Mrs. Lillian M. Gilbreth of Montclair, N. J., will speak. She is the mother of eleven children and at the same time is president of a corporation of industrial engineers. Her opinions are taking the breath away from many of the European delegates who do not expect domesticity among their menfolk.

Mrs. Gilbreth's address will be on the problem of reconciling marriage and a profession. She feels that until husbands are able and willing to give a hand in the kitchen and nursery as skillfully as their American wives are able to participate today in business, a fifty-fifty combination of home and career is impossible for women.

The younger generation of American college men is recognizing this fact, Mrs. Gilbreth says and is taking steps to offset the difficulty. Many male students at Pennsylvania State college, Cornell and Purdue are studying cookery, with the idea of making themselves as versatile as the university wives they expect to acquire, according to Mrs. Gilbreth.

Milwaukee Men Here to Study Chicago Traffic

A delegation of city traffic officials from Milwaukee spent yesterday in Chicago, viewing the way this city handles her traffic problems. Capt. Patrick E. Hogan of the traffic division of the police department escorted them about the loop.

The group inspected the stop light system, took note of the mounted patrol and had luncheon at the Congress hotel, where several speakers explained the problem as Chicago meets it in detail and answered all questions the visitors asked.

The group was headed by B. L. Corbett, Milwaukee's safety commissioner, and included R. H. Pinkly, Howard F. Dilgner, J. F. Bolzer, and Capt. Albert J. Murray.

Opera House in Wood at Ravinia Is Setting of Sally's Party Today

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Are you all ready, Ravinia winners, to set forth for our party this afternoon? You should have your invitations by now, so you'll know about the meeting—and there's nothing left but to be at the appointed place on time.

We'll enjoy the ride in our special cars, given by Mr. Britton I. Budd of the North Shore line. Then to see the pageant of Chicago's history and the visit to Ravinia itself promises a glorious afternoon.

This is an important day, too, for the boys who want to see the White Sox play the Yankees next Monday, because I'm picking the winners this morning. You'll see the names in next Sunday's paper, and the day after we'll see the game.

Meantime, here are some of the good letters I've received:

"Dear Sally: Whizz! And the crowd yells with glee, for Babe Ruth has just missed the first ball pitched. Whizz! The Babe has missed another; quite a surprize. Then, crack! A groan from the fans and out sails the ball for the left field fence. A silence, then all of a sudden joyful shrieking from the fans, for Bib Falk has retired the Yanks with a spectacular catch which cheated Babe Ruth out of a home run. Such thrilling, breath holding plays as these do I expect to see, Sally, if this little letted to you win. W. L."

"Dear Miss Brown: Bases full; team at bat is two runs behind; batter hits the ball far out in center field; outfielder comes rushing in at full speed, slips, but catches ball near ground, thus preventing a possible rally. This is one of the trills fans may expect to see when the Yankees and White Sox play. Then Babe Ruth, the 'Sultan of Swat,' may hit a home run, or sensational plays may feature the fielding on both sides. There is plenty of action when these two teams meet and sometimes the rooting is deafening. The Yankees have such a good team that it is a real treat to watch them play. And the Yanks know that the White Sox can give them some real opposition. E. H."

"Dear Sally: A baseball game! Who would not like to see our national game played by two of the best teams in the major leagues. The roaring crowds, the pleasure of seeing Babe Ruth with the league leading Yankees and our own White Sox, who will make a fierce struggle to take a fall out of the Yankees. I am sure that any one who is your guest will have a wonderful time and I sincerely hope that I will be one of the lucky ones. S. P."

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

They Love to Argue.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am 17 and go with a fellow two years my senior. He tells me he loves me, but every time we go out we have little arguments and sometimes don't talk for hours. He says I am mean and then when it's time to go home somehow we make up. It really hurts me when I quarrel, and I cry. Please tell me how to overcome this. DOLLY."

If you'd only eliminate the arguments you'd save your tears and many unpleasant hours, Dolly. Settle your differences amicably. You'll get more pleasure out of your friendship if you do.

Pretty Much of a Cad.

"Dear Miss Blake: I was going out with a young man for two years whom I loved dearly. He has just told me he is in love with another girl but still loves me and does not want to give me up until he is sure of himself. I gave him up. Was I right in doing so? Should I have waited? My mother said I was right.

"HEARTBROKEN RENE."

He wants to play safe, regardless of what happens to you, dear. Rather presumptuous, don't you think? Were you to wait the chances are you'd be left in the lurch.

Striped Ensemble—By Corinne Lowe

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—Sentenced to so many stripes! So we have been by all the higher courts of fashion and still we come back for more of this kind of treatment.

Today we find the sentence imposed upon the sweater of a wool jersey ensemble. The jersey is white and upon it appear stripes of pencil blue with a sawtooth design of black. That accompanying cape with its military collar shows two front stripes of the same color. The leather belt is also of pencil blue.

That sweaterlike jumper of wool jersey with its V-neck and its narrow leather belt, which has so long constituted a pretender to the sweater throne, is still retained both here and abroad. Originally it was designed by Patou, who originated the type of stripes designated here. That is to say, they graduate from a narrow width at the top to a deep band at the hem.

Some of this season's sweaters are sleeveless, but by far the majority endorse the long sleeve. One of the latest fancies from overseas is a sweater of the brilliant crimson so esteemed in all provinces of summer dress and this is set off most properly by a white flannel skirt.

National Guard Off to Camp Grant Tomorrow

All Chicago units of the 33d division and attached troops, Illinois National Guard, will entrain tomorrow night for Camp Grant, Rockford, Ill., over the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad, division headquarters announced yesterday.

Maj. Gen. Milton J. Foreman, division commander, already has established his headquarters at the camp with his staff. The training period will last two weeks. The response of business men having guardsmen in their employ to a request that the men be allowed the time off for the encampment as well as for their vacation, indicates that most of the division's members will be present for roll call Saturday morning.

As I walked past Peggy Ann's yard yesterday, a blazing hot day, I saw her playing in the pool, barefooted, and arrayed in abbreviated blue coveralls.

"Well, honey, you look nice and cool!" I remarked.

"Yep," returned Peggy, sweetly, "I's just dot on my ol' toveralls, an' there's jus' me under 'em!" E. C. B.

Love Story of Hiawatha to Be Enacted by Indians

The Fox River valley will resound to the beat of the tom-tom the evenings of Aug. 2 to 8, when the love story of Hiawatha will be produced at Good Templars' park in Geneva.

Chief Pushtatuoque, a direct descendant of Chief Blackhawk, and a group of 74 Indians from the Sac and Fox tribes, Tama, Ia., will engage in a presentation of those scenes which are familiarly known as the "high spots" of Hiawatha's life. Chief Floyd Keahna, formerly star football player of Haskell university, will play the rôle of Hiawatha.

Today's Girl

MISS ANNE WHARTON

"Soot and grime in 'the biggest city' makes it hard for girls of today to have dewily fresh, immaculate complexions," says chic Miss Anne Wharton, 93 Morningside Drive, New York City. "I couldn't do it at all without the rich, creamy lather of Black and White Skin Soap, as necessary in my young life as food and clothes! I use it for beauty-giving facials, and for my bath, too, because it cleanses and softens my skin luxuriously, and keeps it from feeling dry and drawn, or looking harsh and rough."

Black and White Soap, almost lotion-like in its action, helps the skin retain the natural oils which nourish the pores and glands. You can get the convenient 25c cakes from dealers everywhere who are selling and recommending the Black and White Beauty Creations.

If your dealer doesn't have Black and White Beauty Creations you want, send his name to Plough, Memphis, Tenn., and you will receive free a copy of the Birthday and Dream Book, containing many interesting facts on beauty, dreams and fortune telling.

Gypsy King's Son and Bride with a Retinue of 40 in Cupid Court

While most of the county building remains dark and deserted during the summer vacation of the courts, throngs continue to crowd the marriage license bureau.

Colorful visitors yesterday were two score gypsies, who came to celebrate the marriage of Stanley Bimbo, son of Tino Bimbo, 1411 South Halsted street, called the king of the local gypsy tribe, to Amy John, 22 years old. The ceremony confirmed a gypsy wedding of three years ago when the two were married according to gypsy law by the head of the tribe. Young Bimbo paid his bride's father $2,600 as part of the ceremony.

Thomas Smith, 26 years old, 3224 South Union avenue, kept a long line of applicants amused while he sought vainly in his pockets for the necessary three dollars for a license after he had filled out an application to marry Miss Marie Sopko, 19 years old, 1328 East 53rd street. He had no money and his fiancée had but 13 cents so they left, promising to come back today.

WHY PAY RENT?

of reasonably priced beautiful co-operative apartment homes we have developed a building of four and five rooms, such as you would expect to find only along the Lake Shore-dr. at $5,000 to $6,000 more than our prices.

There are four and five rooms having large canvassed living rooms and big paneled dining rooms with Spanish bracket lights. One and two bedrooms, bright kitchens with built-in cupboards, large Universal gas ranges, and genuine porcelain enameled refrigerators.

A glistening white tile bathroom with showers, pedestal lavatory, built-in bathtubs. Excellent closet space; also cedar lined chest closets and other ultra-modern features.

The construction throughout the building, the halls, lobbies, etc., is the very best. Storage space and modern laundry facilities in the basement. The very latest Kewanee heating plant.

Can you imagine all this, in the best section of beautiful Rogers Park, two blocks from the lake, with cash payments as low as $1,000 and monthly assessments as low as $47.50?

We have representatives there all day to answer your questions, but they will not urge you to buy. The apartments are at 1522-28 Fargo-av., one block from the Jarvis-av. L station and the Sheridan-rd. busses.

We sell to discriminating people only and invite your thorough investigation.
